COMMONS CHEER PREMIER'S REPORT OF SAN REMO WORK

Lloyd George Says "Treason" at Home Failed to Wreck Allied Comradeship.

LONDON, April 29.—The British Prime Minister made a statement regarding the San Remo conference in the House of Commons this afternoon. Mr. Lloyd George has had many more difficult tasks to handle than today's; for, despite the criticisms of certain press opponents, British public opinion was already convinced that on the essential points of his policy the Premier had the full backing of expert officials of the Foreign Office. In fact, if a name had to be attached to the British policy during the past diplomatic controversy between France and England, that policy should be described as Curzon's rather than Lloyd George's.

The objections raised to isolated action by France on the Ruhr question originated not from 10 Downing Street, where the Prime Minister has his headquarters, but from the Foreign Office across the way, of which Lord Curzon is the head.

Mr. Lloyd George disclaimed no responsibility, and had no reason to do so since the House was convinced in advance that the right policy had been followed. He was in exuberant spirits and ready for a fight if anybody had wanted one; but the disdainful way in which he brushed aside some interruptions during his speech testified to his conviction that there was no need to exert himself. He spoke for less than an hour. He began amid applause and finished amid cheers from practically every part of the House.

Text of Premier's Speech.

Following is the full text of the Premier's speech:

"Mr. Speaker: On the motion for adjournment I thought the House would like to have some idea of the views of the British declaration on the more important topics discussed at San Remo. The conference was, I think, one of the most remarkable held since the armistice in many respects.

"Before the conference there had been some misunderstandings, serious enough in themselves, but made grave by deliberate fomentation on the part of very reckless persons (cries of 'Hear! hear!') I but I am very glad to be able to say that the sky is once more clear. As far as I can see, everybody is satisfied with what happened at San Remo, and everybody is convinced that he did it. All I can say is that the principals there were filled with gladness at the results of the conference. What happened is really what happened there.

"The reason why everbody seemed so satisfied was not because there was any haggling in the decisions arrived at, but because misunderstandings were removed, suspicions dispelled—and there were misunderstandings and suspicions, and I think it is all the better that we should speak quite frankly about them, because frank discussion is the best way to dispel them.

"I am going to say one or two words about the apparent disagreement between the Allies in reference to the Ruhr incident, because it is essential that I should lead up to the decisions that were taken. The Ruhr incident arose not out of any question with regard to the enforcement of the treaty, in reference to reparation, disarmament or any of those great conditions upon which we must insist. It was purely a question of a disturbance which had arisen in a part of Germany—a very grave disturbance which menaced the peace of that country, and not merely that, but threatened the peace of Europe as well.

"The Ruhr Valley, a great industrial district, had been seized by Red troops. A commune was established there, and if it had been successfully established there it might have spread not merely over all Germany, but also over other parts of Europe.

Differences Over Ruhr Rebellion.

"The whole dispute which arose was in reference to this question—who should put it down? The French were of the opinion that it ought to have been suppressed by allied troops. All the other allies were of the opinion that it ought to be left to the Germans themselves to restore order in their own country."

"Lieut. Commander Kenworthy—" Prussians!"

"Colonel Wedgwood—" Junkers!"

"Mr. Lloyd George—" They want us to recognize an undemocratic Government in Russia, and they won't recognize a democratic one in Germany. At any rate, we were dealing with the existing Government in Germany; that was the whole question. It arose in France in 1871, when the Commune seized Paris and some other towns. It was then suggested by the Germans that they should suppress the Commune; but Thiers, the

CHICAGO, April 29. — Shipyard workers of the Northwest who got $24 a day during the war prefer to loaf rather than work now for $10 a day. This is one of the reasons for a pine lumber famine that is imminent in the opinion of J. H. Carlyle, Everett, Wash., who owns several thousand acres of pine tracts in the Northwest.

"We are facing a shortage of pine lumber because of three facts," he said. "The principal supply of the South is exhausted, much of the Northern wood has been destroyed by fire and the New England States are running short."

LONDON BREAKS UP AMERICAN PLAY

Actress's Plucky Speech Puts Off Row for One Act—Manager Then Drops Curtain.

LONDON, April 29.—A scene which filled the minds of playgoers who were present with distress happened at the Garrick Theatre tonight, when on account of what were described by the gallerytes themselves as an organized opposition, the curtain was run down soon after the beginning of the second act of the first performance in London of Hartley Manners's play, "One Night in Rome," in which Laurette Taylor played the chief part.

There was assembled in the theatre one of the most distinguished first-night audiences of the year, with the American Ambassador and Mrs. Davis in a box draped with the Stars and Stripes.

From the very first it was obvious that something was wrong. The scene of the clairvoyant's studio was set with a comparatively low ceiling, and there were shouts from some gallerytes that they couldn't see, and afterward there was intermittent "buying" of the play, but it appeared good humored, and ceased for the time being when Laurette Taylor appeared and gave a fine performance.

Miss Taylor's reception was entirely cordial, so much so that at the end of the first act she came before the curtain and made a speech, in the course of which she explained that the ceiling was so low because the scenery had been built in America, "where we are accustomed to do things on a small scale."

This aroused much laughter, and all seemed well. The real outbreak began with the second act, while the actor, Barry Baxter, was playing the fiddle as Cupid. This was received with violent abuse. There were roars and jeers from the gallery, and candles and pence were thrown on the stage.

At this, Miss Taylor came on the stage and addressed the gallerytes, saying that those who could not see would have orchestra stalls for another night. She then showed signs of breaking down, and was joined by Charles B. Cochran, her "presenter."

Standing arm in arm with Miss Taylor, he declared he was not going to have her insulted, and would ring the curtain down and give a real first night on another evening.

This announcement was greeted with a general hubbub of conflicting voices. One was heard to say:

"Go back where you came from."

Another shouted, "We can see all right—It is organized opposition."

"This is not like England," commented Miss Taylor amid loud and sympathetic cheers and cries of "Keep on with the play."

Cochran, however, ordered that the curtain be rung down, and the orchestra played "God Save the King." For a long while no one seemed inclined to leave the theatre and the audience remained in eager discussion. One opinion expressed was that the opposition was due to Miss Taylor having left London during the air raids, with the result that an obviously unfair impression got about. As a matter of fact, the utmost sympathy was expressed on all hands with Miss Taylor herself over the lamentable affair.

The truth seemed later to be that the demonstration was anti-Cochran and not against Laurette Taylor particularly or American plays or American performers generally. Within the past few weeks three American actresses, Peggy O'Neil, Edith May and Mary Nash, have scored triumphs on the London stage in American plays, and critics and public alike have given them unstinted praise. Their success led to a discussion as to the comparative merits of English and American actresses.

Cochran wrote a letter to one London paper, in the course of which he said:

"The British theatre is a hotbed of snobbery. Our leading actors and actresses think more of a nod from a Duchess or a tea party with Lady X. than of proficiency in their art. It is 'bad form' to be emotional upon the British stage. There is more prudery in West End theatres than in a young ladies' boarding school in Eastbourne."

He went on to say that in one of his productions the leading lady, an English actress, had to play a scene in which a young man's passion overcame him. The actress refused to allow the young man to play the scene as Cochran and the author wished, giving as her reason

DECIDE FOR SALES AND TOBACCO TAXES TO FINANCE BONUS

PARTY CAUCUS COMES TODAY

BONUS ATTACKED IN SENATE

Thomas Assails Congress and the People for Indifference to Federal Finances.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The taxation features of the bonus bill were agreed upon today by a majority of the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, and the bill was ordered printed for presentation at the Republican caucus of the House tomorrow night. Opposition to the taxation plans has not lessened. Two members of the committee, Representatives Frear of Wisconsin and Young of South Dakota, declined to participate in the final sessions and joined the insurgent Republicans, leaving the Republicans with only a majority of one in the committee if the balking members vote with the Democrats.

Thirty Republicans met today and decided to oppose the sales tax and fight against a suspension of the rules when the Bonus bill appears in the House Monday. Representative Royal S. Johnson of North Dakota, who is leading the insurgent movement, announced today that fifty Republicans had signed a protest against the sales tax and predicted that seventy-five would join with the Democrats and force a retroactive war profits tax into the bill to replace the sales tax. While the opposition is still aggressive, Republican House leaders say they believe that it will disappear after the caucus tomorrow night.

Republican House leaders say they will not support a retroactive war profits tax and assert that if the insurgents, in combination with Democrats, should so amend the bill the Senate will not agree to it, with the result that there will be no bonus legislation. They have informed the insurgent Republicans that their position is tantamount to opposition to bonus legislation.

The taxes would be effective Jan. 1, 1921 and run for two years. The first payment of the cash bonuses would be made on April 1, 1921.

The chief taxes under the bill would be raised by a tax of 1 per cent. on final retail sales and a tax of one-half of 1 per cent on real estate transfers. After a prolonged discussion today the majority decided to make this retail tax on sales include the sale of meals by hotels and restaurants. It is estimated that the tax on final retail sales proper would yield $400,000,000 annually, and that on real estate transfers $100,000,000.

Tax Will Be Paid Monthly.

These taxes would be paid monthly by the merchant, but all those doing business of less than $1,000 a month would be exempted. The exemption originally proposed was $2,500 a year, but it was decided later to increase it to $12,000 a year.

Fully $100,000,000 a year is expected to be raised by a tax of one-fifth of 1 per cent. on stock exchange transfers and transfers of grain exchanges.

A decided increase in the income surtaxes was decided upon after the committee had rejected a proposition to increase the normal tax. There will be an increase of 1 per cent. on the surtaxes between $5,000 and $10,000; 2 per cent. from $10,000 to $25,000, and 3 per cent. over $25,000, if the committee plan is adopted. These increases are estimated to yield $131,000,000 annually.

Smokers and users of tobacco would be compelled to bear the heaviest tax, as the bill proposes to increase the present tax on tobacco on the average of 33 per cent. The tax on certain kinds of cigarettes will be increased 66 per cent. These additional taxes on tobacco would yield $51,000,000 a year.

It is estimated that these five forms of taxation will yield $782,000,000 yearly, or $1,564,000,000 in two years. It is believed that about 3,750,000 ex-service men would be eligible to the different forms of bonuses.

Thomas Renews Attack in Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 29 (Associated Press).—Renewing his attack on soldier bonus proposals in the Senate today, Senator Thomas, Democrat, of Colorado, arraigned Congress and the American public alike for what he termed their indifference to the condition of Government finances.

"A deficit of growing size faces the Government at the end of this fiscal year," he said, "but the spirit of indifference to Federal finances continues to control the Senate. Absenteeism synchronizes with the appearance of appropriation bills. A quorum of Senators can only be kept here by constant quorum calls.

"Last week the Fuller Pension bill increasing the payments to civil war veterans and their dependents by $65,000,000—a measure many of us think unjustifiable—went through with twelve Senators voting upon it. Two deficiency appropriation bills have been passed, two more are preparing, and when the polls close next November the signal

PARIS, April 29.—The Chamber of Deputies today passed a bill prohibiting the export of works of art which the State considers form a part of the national artistic patrimony.

An export duty was placed on other ancient objects of art of 50 per cent. ad valorem, plus 50 centimes per 1,000 francs for objects valued up to 100,000 francs and of 100 per cent. for those valued over 100,000 francs.

MERCHANTS HOOT WOLL, LABOR CHIEF

NAMES OF REDS HISSED

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, April 29.—Having discussed virtually all of the elements entering into increased production during the previous three days, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States brought labor's part into its discussions today in the closing session of its annual meeting. About 2,000 delegates listened to Matthew J. Woll, Vice President of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Woll spoke for two hours and entered on the third hour, still going strong, with a sharp attack on Governor Henry I. Allen of Kansas, who established the Industrial Court out there, and who was waiting to make a speech himself. The Vice President of the A. F. of L. had won frequent applause up to that point, but when he brought in the names of Trotzky, Lenin and Eugene V. Debs, hisses came from all parts of the big auditorium. Then followed a rising cry of "time," and "sit down" and Mr. Woll, finding he could scarcely make himself heard, sat down with an apology for taking up so much time.

Governor Allen replied briefly to Woll's attack. He said a "radical labor leader in Kansas" had been collecting dues paid into a regular union organization and using them to promote what Governor Allen called communism. He said he had accepted the challenge from Samuel Gompers to debate the Industrial Court in New York on May 23, and proceeded to vigorously defend the institution as helpful in solving a great problem.

Woll, speaking of the industrial conference called by President Wilson, said:

"All the rights that labor had been accorded during the war were immediately and absolutely denied. We were told 'You have a right to organize, but we shall not agree with you that you have the right of representation outside of the shop.' The very men who claim for themselves the right of representation in industry denied the wage earners their right to determine what form of representation they should have."

He spoke at great length upon the increased cost of living which labor had to bear, citing statistics from the Department of Labor, and declared that strikes were only the last resort in efforts to obtain wages commensurate with living expenses. He said the Kansas Industrial Court made slaves of the workers and set "up an industrial despotism."

John W. O'Leary, of the Chicago Trust Company, spoke next, rapping laborers "who permit their demands to be voiced by men who labor not," and then Gov. Allen was introduced. He received a great reception.

Jose H. Defress, of Chicago, tonight was elected President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to succeed Homer L. Ferguson of Newport News, Va., who retired after a one-year term.

The following Board of Directors was elected:

PRESIDENT ENJOYS LONGEST MOTOR RIDE

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—President Wilson this afternoon took the longest automobile ride he has had since he first left the White House following his recent illness.

Accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and several members of the Bolling family, the President motored from Washington through the Counties of Prince George and Charles into Southern Maryland, going as far as the town of La Plata, following generally the route that J. Wilkes Booth took on his ride out of Washington in April, 1865.

The President today sat in the front seat of the big White House motor car, next to the chauffeur, instead of riding in the rear seat with Mrs. Wilson. The weather was clear and balmy and the afternoon an ideal one for an outing.

The President was out motoring through Rock Creek Park yesterday—the first time in ten days—and out again today. It is the first time since he began to recover from his illness that he had gone automobiling two days in succession.

The President's physician, Dr. Grayson, did not accompany the party today as has been his custom.

WOOD JERSEY VOTE RECOUNT DEMANDED BY JOHNSON MEN

CHARGES ARE RIDICULED

CLOSE RESULTS CONTESTED

McSween Says "Politicians and Residents" Report Californian Was "Counted Out."

Although returns from all but four of the elections districts in New Jersey showed yesterday that Major General Leonard Wood had carried the Presidential preference primaries in that State on Tuesday by more than a thousand votes, managers of Senator Hiram W. Johnson's campaign announced that they would immediately demand a recount of the votes cast in several counties not only where the result was close but also where General Wood let his opponent by substantial margins. The vote for delegates-at-large and district delegates as well as the preferential vote will be remounted if the demands of the Johnson managers are upheld by the courts.

Angus McSween, Eastern campaign manager for Senator Johnson, was authority for the statement that reports from many "politicians and residents" of New Jersey showed that Johnson had been "counted out" in certain districts. Camden, Union, Essex, Morris and Gloucester are the counties complained of. Harry Kalisch, former City Attorney of Newark, will be in charge of the recount proceedings for the Johnson men and will have associated with him Frank P. Pfaff of Elizabeth and Ralph J. M. Bullows of New York.

The Wood managers, both in New York and New Jersey, do not take the threat seriously. They said they had nothing to fear from a recount as the vote was conducted fairly for both candidates and that Senator Johnson was merely raising the cry of fraud for the effect it might have in his favor in other States.

Latest Tabulation of Vote.

With but four districts missing at 12 o'clock this morning the tabulation of Tuesday's vote gave General Wood a lead of 1,220. The vote was: Wood, 52,597; Johnson, 51,377.

In announcing that recount proceedings would be begun, probably today, Manager McSween, at his headquarters in the Pennsylvania Hotel, said:

"We are demanding a recount in certain districts of New Jersey because we are convinced that Senator Johnson carried the State and that the majority against him was due to manipulation of the ballots in some of the election districts.

"Johnson had virtually no organization in New Jersey and no means of watching the count. In several of the counties, notably in Camden, Gloucester, Cape May, Morris and some other counties, the election machinery was entirely in the control of the State organization, which was running the Wood campaign. This organization had been at work for months, whereas active work in behalf of Senator Johnson's candidacy was confined to the last three weeks before the election. The Wood organization had used tremendous sums of money, of which they made no accounting because in each county the expenditures were made by so-called 'Wood Clubs' or 'Wood Leagues,' which, it seems, under the law of New Jersey, are not required to make any statement of their expenditures.

"The brief campaign for Senator Johnson was made openly by a Johnson committee and an accounting of its expenditures was filed with the Secretary of State. This difference in the methods pursued by the advocates of the two candidates was a difference which prevailed throughout the whole campaign. It was, we believe, especially marked in the voting. The figures have shown that in districts in which the election machinery was not under the control of the State organization Senator Johnson received substantial majorities. The Wood votes were cast chiefly in counties and districts where we had been warned that the count would be against us, no matter how the ballots were cast.

"In some of these districts, especially districts in Camden and in some of the South Jersey counties, it is notorious that majorities result from the operations of the election boards rather than from the expression of public will as shown by the ballots themselves. We believe a recount in these districts will disclose that Senator Johnson was counted out, and that he is entitled to the preferential majority of the State of New Jersey. Proceedings to obtain an investigation of the suspicious returns will be started immediately."

Jersey Managers Co-operate.

Manager McSween is having the co-operation of the Johnson managers in New Jersey, Allen Trimble, head of the Johnson forces there, declared.

"Reports we have received from five or six counties convince me that there were gross irregularities in counting the vote between Johnson and Wood after the polls closed Tuesday night. These reports came from reliable sources. The Wood people spent considerable sums of money in this State during the campaign, and no statement has been filed as yet with the Secretary of State.

"The Essex County Republican Committee paid every one of its workers

Say Instigators of Plot Work With Foreign Reds; Tons of Inflammatory Documents Seized Here

WASHINGTON, April 29 (Associated Press).—The Department of Justice has information, according to Attorney General Palmer, that the instigators of the proposed May Day demonstration here have been working "in direct connection and unison" with the leaders of disturbances set for Europe.

All of the propaganda advocating May Day disturbances referred to "inhuman treatment" of the Soviet Government of Russia by the United States and the allied powers, Mr. Palmer continued. In foreign sections of industrial centres appeals for "peace with Russia" had been employed as the main method in stirring up dissatisfaction with this Government, Mr. Palmer said.

Strikes and disorders, he added, simply were meant to emphasize to American officials the threats of radicals that relations must be resumed with Russia.

Tons of inflammatory literature have been circulated in the last month by express and freight and secretly distributed by local leaders, according to information obtained by Department of Justice agents. The Communist Labor group also has sent numerous "personal emissaries" into cities where the field was deemed ripe, Mr. Palmer reported. These men have been under constant surveillance by Federal agents, and it was through their activities that the Government was first able to establish definitely the aims of the group for May Day disturbances. Men and women have been used, particularly in the textile manufacturing districts.

In these areas, reports showed, radical leaders were appealing to the workers to strike in behalf of Soviet Russia and as a protest against the high cost of living. Assistant Attorney General Garvan said that in most cases the strength gained by the advocates of "direct action" among the textile workers was due to claims that such a strike would aid in forcing down living costs.

Some of the literature showed that many radical leaders felt that raids conducted against the Communist and Communist Labor elements last Winter had "broken our foundation." The agitators, however, continued to spread reports among the workers that the arrest of many of their number was a certain proof of the American Government's hatred "for the proletariat."

MEN ON DEATH LIST WARNED

GENERAL STRIKE PROPOSED

PART OF WORLDWIDE PLAN

Communists, Communist Laborites and I. W. W. Said by Attorney General to be in Plot.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Many Federal and State officials and other prominent figures in national life have been marked by the Reds for assassination on May Day, according to information gathered by Department of Justice agents, Attorney General Palmer announced this afternoon.

The assassination plot, said the Attorney General, was a part of a general radical demonstration set for May 1.

"A warning has been issued by the department to all those whose names are included in the list of marked men, and the department has taken steps to furnish protection," said Mr. Palmer. "I am hopeful that these measures will be effective."

The Attorney General would not reveal the list of those marked for assassination. He stated, however, that the department had been conferring with the officials of different States to devise adequate safeguards for the men and property threatened.

Members of the Communist Party, the Communist Labor Party and the I. W. W. are said to be planning a May Day uprising in their efforts to force recognition of the Russian Soviet by this Government and the establishment of friendly relations with Lenin and Trotzky. Russian and German agents are alleged to be encouraging the Reds and doing their best to foment trouble among American workingmen.

Plot Nation-Wide.

"The information that comes to us concerning the proposed assassinations is reported from a considerable portion of the country, indicating that the plot is nation-wide," said the Attorney General. "Both as to this and to the proposed general strike, we rely in great measure on wide publicity to frustrate the plans of the plotters, just as such publicity blocked the plans for the general strike called by the agitators for July 4, 1919.

"Red agents were obviously trying to organize the workers in the United States as closely as they appeared to have done in France for the May Day strike," the Attorney General said.

"I feel, however," said he, "that our action in arresting their leaders and deporting numbers of the alien agitators has upset their program to a great extent."

There was no evidence that leaders of the "outlaw" railroad strike were connected with the May Day plot, Mr. Palmer said. He would not say what industries might be affected by the plotters, but said all those on the radical list were basic.

Department of Justice agents have been placed throughout the country at vital points and, it is said, their attention is concentrated especially on radical centres in New York, Philadelphia, New Orleans and Chicago. Plague spots such as certain parts of Washington State, where I. W. W. outrages have occurred, have been honeycombed with detectives.

Radical literature of all kinds coming into the possession of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation predicts the general May Day strike. In various publications the instructions are given to make the strike "worldwide," and not to let the United States "fall behind" the "comrades" in Great Britain, Ireland, France and Denmark. Great bundles of propaganda are being sent by express to industrial centres for distribution.

European Appeal for Aid.

Copies of The Voice of Labor, dated April 20, 1920, contain an appeal from the Amsterdam Bureau of the Communist Internationale for a worldwide May Day agitation and strike in behalf of Soviet Russia. "All labor unions, all extra union mass organizations, all groups and parties" are urged to unite. Part of this appeal reads:

"The Amsterdam Bureau of the Communist Internationale considers it its main task to further international unity not only of thought but of action as well. It therefore submits for consideration to all Communist groups and revolutionary organizations, workers' committees, &c., the possibility of a demonstrative strike in favor of peace with Soviet Russia on an international scale.

"The first of May was always intended to be a day of general strike the world over, but until now it never succeeded in realizing the general revolutionary character that its promoters wanted it to bear.

"The Third Internationale has to perform 'her historical task which the LONDON, April 29.—Exciting scenes occurred outside Wormwood Scrubbs Prison tonight and mounted police were compelled to clear a way through one of the biggest demonstrations London has ever witnessed.

Men and women were injured in the process and first aid had to be given to many persons as they lay stretched out on the ground.

For a time the appearance was that of a mimic battlefield, and stones, sticks and bits of concrete were hurled about, while fists were freely used.

The trouble was the outcome of another Sinn Fein demonstration in sympathy with the hunger-striking prisoners. A huge hostile crowd had gathered, and when the procession of pro-Irish demonstrators arrived on the scene a series of scrimmages began with much throwing of missiles, the Sinn Feiners retaliating with sticks.

DUBLIN, April 29.—The Rush police barracks, ten miles from Dublin, was attacked by an armed band this morning. This is the first incident of the kind so near the capital.

The attack was prepared in the usual way by felling trees to block the roads and disabling telegraphic communication. Even the junction of the telegraph system of the Great Northern Railway was cut.

Available information shows that the Sergeant in charge of the barracks received fatal injuries and other policemen were wounded, while the roof of the barracks was blown off.

CORK, April 29.—A large party of armed masked men held up the mail train from Cork for Bantry this morning at Kinsale Junction. Two mail bags were taken.

This is the third time the train has been robbed of mail matter at the same spot.

LIVERPOOL, April 29.—An attempt by the Irish section of the dock workers to carry out their threat to hold up traffic if the hunger-striking prisoners were not released from the Wormwood Scrubbs Prison has failed.

More than 50 per cent. of the men returned to work this afternoon, and there were plenty of substitutes for the Irishmen who did cease work.

The only development of any consequence today was that the Irish boats were held up temporarily.

The Lord Mayor of Liverpool, Burton W. Ellis, today communicated to a deputation from the Irish Self-Determination League a telegram he received yesterday from Edward Shortt, Secretary for Home Affairs, with regard to the treatment of Irish prisoners in the Wormwood Scrubbs Jail.

"The deputation was received yesterday," the telegram says, "is misin-

ALL WORKERS QUIT IN FRANCE MAY DAY

SOME RESUME AFTER A DAY

But Railwaymen Will Continue Strike and May Halt the Nation's Traffic.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

PARIS, April 29.—In the name of labor no work is to be done in France on May Day. The whole country is likely to be tied up by a railroad strike. In Paris no tramways, omnibuses, underground railroads or cabs will run. No cafés, restaurants, stores or theatres will be open. The postal and telegraph services will be almost entirely suspended. Banks and offices will close for the day, as the means of transport will be paralyzed, and even the street vendors have declared their intention to stop business for the day.

The strike, it is stated, will be to be even a larger scale than last year, when, after a morning of comparative stillness and idleness, collisions between the strikers and the police occurred all over the city, and one man was shot and many persons were more or less severely injured. The summons for the one-day general strike, except for the railroads, has the backing of the General Labor Federation, and in a manifesto which has been issued it proclaims its aims to be:

Demands for Federation.

"By the total stoppage of the economic life of the country to manifest the will of the workers to have their immediate claims granted. First, full and entire amnesty for the comrades incriminated in the recent strikes. Second, the extension of syndical rights to to all functionaries. Third, peace with the Russian Soviets. Fourth, general disarmament."

The federation demands also the nationalization of all the means of production and distribution as a matter of course, and with special relation to the present economic situation. The main body of organized workers throughout the country will respond to this appeal through a sense of ordinary loyalty to their organization and will as certainly return to work the next morning. If there is any disturbance in Paris it is almost certain to be isolated.

Last year the Clemenceau Government took elaborate precautions, bringing troops into the city and preventing crowds of demonstrators from assembling, but it is not expected that these tactics, which somewhat incensed public opinion, will be renewed. The Government is at the same time taking full precautions to prevent the rowdier and more extreme sections of the crowd from provoking riots.

Railroad Strike to Continue.

In many ways the most serious development of the situation has been the decision of the Railroadmens' Federation, by a very small majority, to begin a strike on May Day which is to be continued in a new effort to force the Government to nationalization. The General Labor Federation has opposed

Second Internationals only planned, must realize the vision which its predecessor only talked about. It is bound to realize the international internal and external unity of the world-proletariat, its unity of doctrine, of organisation and of tactics. It must teach the workers to form a world front against the world front that imperialism is already developing, despite its internal deviations and dissensions.

"In suggesting that in 1920 the 1st of May be used for an international strike demonstration in favor of Soviet Russia, no matter whether at that time the imperialists talk peace and plan war, we want to avail ourselves of the traditions of working-class solidarity and action in favor of peace already attached to the May Day and to use those traditions as a means of bringing on new and vigorous effort in the direction of international unity of action. We think the times are ripe for an effort of this kind."

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 29.—Federal and State officials were today searching the mining communities of this section for persons who, for the last several nights, have plastered the dead walls of Marion County with radical literature issued by what purported to be the "American Anarchist Federated Commune Soviets" and entitled "The Anarchist Soviet Bulletin."

The handbills called upon workers to rise and seize all factories and food supplies.

Strike Urged in Spokane.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 29.—Stickers, posters and circulars printed in red ink and purporting to be signed by the Communist Labor Party and urging an "international labor day" strike on May 1, have been freely distributed in Spokane, according to police reports.

LAST YEAR'S BOMB PLOT.

Attempts to Kill Officials in Seven Cities Were Made.

Just before midnight on June 2 of last year, bombs were set off in seven large cities in the East, wrecking the homes of a number of Federal and State officials and Judges who had been active in the suppression of radicals urging violent overthrow of the Government. The simultaneous explosions and the presence of anarchistic literature in the neighborhood pointed to a nation-wide bomb plot.

In New York a bomb destroyed the home of Judge Charles Cooper Knott Jr., at 151 East Sixty-first Street, killing a watchman employed by a private detective agency. Judge Knott was away from the city at the time, and the police believed he had been confused with Federal Judge John C. Knox, who had handled several cases against the Reds. A number of handbills were found in the street after the explosion, printed on a peculiar pink paper bearing the heading "Plain Words" and signed "The Anarchist Fighters."

By far the most sensational explosion was the attempt to blow up the Washington residence of A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney General of the United States. Mr. Palmer and his family, while resting, escaped injury on the upper floors of the house, but the lower front was blown in, and the homes of other well known people, among them Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Franklin D. Roosevelt, were damaged by the explosion. Two men who were believed to have set off the bomb were blown to bits. Pink leaflets similar to those in front of Judge Knott's house littered the streets.

Two bomb outrages were perpetrated the same night in West Philadelphia, one apparently with intent to destroy the Catholic Church of Our Lady of Victory Parish. In Pittsburgh bombs were exploded near the homes of Federal Judge W. H. S. Thompson and W. W. Sibray, Chief Inspector of the Bureau of Immigration. Similar explosions occurred in Patterson and Cleveland, where the home of Mayor Harry A. Davis was demolished. Two bombs were set off in Boston, one at the suburban home of State Representative Samuel W. Powers, active in anti-anarchy legislation, and the other damaging the home of Judge Albert F. Hayden, who only a few days before had sentenced William James Sidis and eleven other Bolshevist sympathizers.

William J. Flynn, former Chief of the Secret Service, and then head of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, had a free hand in attempts to run down perpetrators of the bomb outrages. Several arrests were made, and clues were followed to a number of large Eastern cities, but there were few tangible results.

One of the most immediate results, however, was Chief Flynn's preparation for raids on radical headquarters throughout the country, which culminated last December in the deportations on the "Soviet Ark."

JOHN T. M'GRAW DIES SUDDENLY ON A TRAIN

Heart Disease Ends Life of Democratic Committeeman from West Virginia.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—John T. McGraw, Democratic National Committeeman from West Virginia, died suddenly tonight on a train near Baltimore while en route from New York to his home in Grafton, W. Va.

Death was due to heart disease.

John Thomas McGraw was prominently identified with not only the political movement of West Virginia, but also its financial and industrial development since he had large coal, timber and railroad interests there. He was born at Grafton, W. Va., in 1856, the son of Thomas and Mary B. McGraw. After completing his studies at St. Vincent's College, he was graduated from Yale in 1876. He was prosecuting attorney of Taylor County from 1881 to 1885, and Collector of Internal Revenue of the District of West Virginia from 1885 to 1889.

He was for twelve years a member of the Democratic State Executive Committee and was delegate at large to the National Convention in 1896, and delegate in 1908 and 1912. He was a candidate for the Senate in 1899, and after Nathan B. Scott was declared elected by one vote, unsuccessfully contested the seat.

MANY WOMEN DELEGATES.

Western States have set the standard in selecting women delegates to the Republican National Convention, according to a statement made yesterday by Miss Mary Garrett May, Chairman of the Women's Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee. Miss May, who was mentioned as a possible selection for New York's Republican "Big Four," will go to Chicago to attend the meeting of the Republican National Committee at Chicago on May 3 to make final arrangements for the convention.

OHIO LEAD OF 307 FOR WOOD DELEGATE

HARDING PLURALITY 16,303

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 29.—Harry M. Daugherty, Manager of Senator Warren G. Harding's campaign for President, is defeated for delegate at large from Ohio on the unofficial returns by a plurality of 307 votes in favor of William H. Boyd, a Wood candidate.

Harding's plurality is 16,303 over Wood. The vote from all the State complete but not official is: Harding, 125,561; Wood, 109,258.

The vote for delegates at large is: Myron T. Herrick, 132,366 (Harding); Frank B. Willis, 123,126 (Harding); John Galvin, 120,106 (Harding); William H. Boyd, 107,682 (Wood); Harry M. Daugherty, 107,375 (Harding), and Edward C. Turner, 106,124 (Wood).

Senator Harding has thirty-nine of the forty-eight State delegates.

The feeling of the supporters of General Wood, Senator Hiram Johnson and Herbert Hoover was expressed today that no matter how many obstacles were placed against Senator Harding's fight, the result virtually relieves him from the class of serious contenders.

The counterassertion of Senator Harding's followers is that no matter what vote General Wood scored on the popular ballot he would have done better to stay out of Ohio. They argue that unless he could have carried a majority of the district and "Big Four" delegates, he is the loser, in that his campaign turned against him the entire Harding organization.

Joseph C. Green of Cincinnati, Hoover State Manager, said today that the Hoover campaign was purely on sentiment, the district managers having been instructed to enroll as many Hoover followers as possible before June 8 with the intention of making a showing of the popular sentiment in Ohio for Hoover.

Fear Loss of State Influence.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 29.—The reaction of Ohio Republicans from the grueling primary campaign has been far from pleasant. They think that the primary has lessened the chances of the State being won for the nominee and decreased its influence in the National Convention. There is nothing but bitterness as the result of the contest, with the great majority of Ohio editors believing firmly that the primary aided Major Gen. Wood but little and hurt Senator Warren G. Harding tremendously.

The Senator's own newspaper, the Marion Starr, hails the result as "highly gratifying," a comment that has been missing from the other newspapers of the State, including those which supported him with considerable vigor.

Harding managers asserted today that they have been besieged with messages of congratulation from all parts of the country, including many from uninstructed eastern delegates to the Chicago convention. The Harding review of the situation says that the "entire country recognized the force of the onslaught to discredit Senator Harding in his own State" and that despite this effort the Senator "elected an almost solid delegation." His prospects were described as "never more promising."

This has not changed the view held in many quarters that Senator Harding will be held in the race by his eastern associates to keep his delegates together. This is the view taken by the Toledo Blade, which says that the Ohio delegation will go to Chicago open to conviction and that the nominee will be chosen after the convention assembles. It comments:

"The perfunctory character of Ohio's support of the favorite son campaign of Senator Harding was emphasized by the ridiculously small vote throughout the State, the narrow margin by which he gained the preference and the loss of several delegates."

Wants "Johnson Problem" Met.

The Cincinnati Enquirer suggests to the Republicans that they are drifting toward a "party crisis" and asks all, including Major Gen. Wood, to deal with the "Johnson problem," saying:

"Senator Hiram W. Johnson's lately energized sweep, which took its astounding rise in Detroit, has thrust itself over the Allegheny Mountains and now surges in the conservative East. His candidacy no longer is a mere personal quest for the Presidential honor. It has become a party problem and urgently invites the co-operation of even General Wood with all shades of Republican counsel to the end that it may be solved successfully. If this is not well done, then chaos may come at Chicago."

Its conclusion on the result is that Ohio voters preferred to put their power into the hands of Harding rather than Wood's managers.

On the other hand, The Cleveland News, which supported Wood, interprets the result as a protest against party bosses and a rejection of boss rule. It says:

"It was a good day for Ohioians, sick of boss rule in either party and eager for restoration of the sort of square dealing, efficient, unafraid, do-something Americanism represented in the candidacy of Leonard Wood."

The Cincinnati Times-Star, owned by former President Taft's brother, finds nothing to encourage the Harding sentiment, although it supported the Senator vigorously in the primaries. It says:

"If Wood had done poorly on Tuesday, his chance for nomination at Chicago would have been at an end. But Wood appears to have done fairly well. He ran close to Harding in Ohio and seems to have carried New Jersey. The result in the latter State is particularly important, for there the issue was between Wood and Johnson."

The Ohio State Journal, which supported Harding originally, says that "the victory in Ohio is a severe reverse for Senator Harding, perhaps not a complete rout." The plurality is described as "pitifully small." The State Journal thinks Harding eliminated and the "Old Guard" likely to turn to Governor Lowden if it is not considered advisable to name Wood. It adds that the venture of Harding into national aspirations "may eliminate him from public life altogether." There is rejoicing over the apparent defeat of Daugherty, The State Journal says, as a mark of progress, and even if he gets through it will be as a "discredited politician."

As to the Democratic side, it is held that Ohio can be added to Missouri as an Administration State. The Democratic delegation may not be willing to stand for the Peace Treaty and League of Nations without any reservations, but it is scarcely likely that any considerable number of delegates will favor crippling reservations.

There are several stanch friends of Irish freedom on the delegation and they are expected to demand a plank in the national platform declaring sympathy with the cause of Ireland. The Ohio leaders generally are supposed to be friendly to this proposal. Governor James M. Cox has frequently said that under the League of Nations the Irish cause may have a hearing, and this has been interpreted, without objection by him, as conveying the idea of a sympathetic hearing.

The delegation may also be said to be liberal on the liquor question, but until recently the general sentiment prevailing in Ohio, even with the strong liberals, was that there should be no mention of the prohibition issue in the platform. There has been a growth lately in the cities of a demand for a positive declaration along the lines of the statement of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, but stronly opposed to the open saloon. Democrats say that they would get tens of thousands of normally Republican votes on this program.

The sentiment doubtless has grown since P. A. Baker, head of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, made an attack on Governor Cox. In the primaries, however, one extreme "wet" and two extreme "drys" were badly beaten, and one strong follower of W. J. Bryan, William T. Sawyer, former Mayor of Akron, who declared he was for Governor Cox, was not preferred over a man to whom the Bryan name did not cling.

Senator Johnson's votes in all of the larger centers and in the rural precincts came largely from places in which the German vote is strong. In the Democratic primary his name was written on the ballot a considerable number of times in communities in which the Germans are numerous. There was also considerable Johnson sentiment in quarters outside of the German communities and voters.

Expect Harding to Continue Fight.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 29.—That Senator Harding would certainly remain in the race for the Presidential nomination after his showing at the polls on Tuesday, in the face of the opposition which he had to overcome, was asserted by Harding leaders here today. According to former Judge Otto Pfleger, manager of the Harding Campaign Committee of Hamilton County, the Senator has not the slightest idea of giving up the fight. "So far as I know he is thoroughly satisfied with the outcome of Tuesday's election," Mr. Pfleger said. "The last time he was here he expressed the hope that Ohio would stand by him solidly and did not anticipate any break. He felt that if his plurality was as plainly indicated as he believed it would be it would probably result in his nomination."

Mr. Pfleger expressed the opinion that Harding would go to the Chicago convention with more apparent backing than would be shown by pledged State delegations. He counted on the delegations from New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, from which delegates would be sent uninstructed, for support. Mr. Pfleger said he believed that none of the candidates whose names would be presented at the Chicago convention would be nominated on the first ballot and that Senator Harding would be the logical choice of the convention later.

Former Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who was in Cincinnati today, said that he thought Senator Harding had an excellent chance. "His campaign has been managed in such a manner as not to offend the others, and Ohio is a pivotal State," he said.

Senator Harding will continue his campaign in Indiana, whose primary elections will be held next Tuesday. Today he attended a conference with his managers and party leaders in Louisville, Ky.

BRYAN SAYS PRIMARIES GIVE TREATY WARNING

Urges Senate Democrats to Vote Quickly for Acceptance of Reservations.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 29.—William J. Bryan, in a statement issued here tonight, declared that the recent primaries were a warning that Democratic Senators should lose no time in voting for the ratification of the Peace Treaty.

"Delay in ratification may deluge the world in blood and flood our own country with woe," said Mr. Bryan. "The recent primaries should be a warning. In Georgia less than one-third of the Democrats stood for the treaty without reservations. Two-thirds were divided about equally between ratification with reservations and total rejection of the treaty.

"In Nebraska, Senator Hitchcock's vote would not have been worth counting had he been compelled to rely on those who indorsed his attitude on the treaty.

"My fight was made on a platform declaring for ratification with reservations already agreed upon by a large majority of the Senate. Senator Johnson's vote is largely a protest against the treaty and against the blundering of the Senators who talk for the treaty but quarrel over reservations.

"A campaign in favor of ratification without reservation would result in overwhelming defeat, but what is infinitely worse, it would prevent the consideration of pressing domestic problems and leave the whole world to chaos. Our counsel and advice today may contribute more to world peace than an army of a million men would a year from now.

"If our party refuses to aid ratification now it must share, even if it does not fully assume, responsibility for what follows."

CORNELL POLL FOR HOOVER.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 29.—Herbert Hoover is the overwhelming choice of the members of the Cornell Faculty for the next President of the United States.

In a poll, the results of which were announced today, Hoover received 114 votes out of a total of 163.

Other results were: Lowden 5, Johnson 5, Hughes 3, Coolidge 1, Cox 1, Taft 1 and "The Socialists" 1.

Ballots were sent out by the Cornell Hoover Club to 250 members of the Faculty. The names of four candidates, Hoover, Wood, Johnson and Lowden appeared on them, and there was a blank space for names to be written in.

WOOD FORCES ENTER PENNSYLVANIA FIGHT

Working with Governor Sproul, They Seek Second-Choice Recognition.

HITCHCOCK TAKES HAND

He Makes Addresses in Fourteen Districts in Western Part of State.

A determined effort to line up Pennsylvania's seventy-six delegates for Major General Leonard Wood at the Republican National Convention on the second ballot is being made by the Eastern managers of General Wood's campaign. No effort will be made to get the delegates for Wood on the first ballot, his managers believing that the best results can be obtained by working in harmony with Governor Sproul and the Republican organization. A tacit arrangement has been reached by which General Wood and Governor Sproul will help each other.

The Pennsylvania delegates will be elected at a primary on May 18. No Presidential candidate has filed petitions entering the primaries and the candidates for delegates may promise to support the popular choice as indicated on the ballots, if they wish to go to the National Convention pledged, or they may go unpledged by indorsing the words "Does not promise to support popular choice." It is expected that the entire delegation will vote for Governor Sproul on the first ballot and that the Governor himself will release them to vote for General Wood on the second ballot.

See Sproul as "Dark Horse."

Friends of the Governor believe that he will have a chance as a "dark horse" candidate if a deadlock makes it clear that the present leading candidates will have no chance of getting the nomination. If General Wood should be eliminated as a candidate it is believed that he would throw his entire strength to Governor Sproul.

Colonel Thomas W. Miller, one of General Wood's Eastern managers, and Frank H. Hitchcock, Wood's general campaign manager, have been doing quiet but effective work in the State for several weeks, working with the Pennsylvania managers to have General Wood made second choice with the delegates. Colonel Miller was in Philadelphia yesterday, and when he returned he declared the situation in the State was eminently satisfactory. He said the reports received from the Pittsburgh managers showed that the Wood forces there were making an energetic canvass and that he was being strongly supported, especially in labor circles.

Hitchcock Busy in Districts.

Mr. Hitchcock addressed meetings of Wood organizers in fourteen Western Pennsylvania Congressional districts on Tuesday, and received reports indicating that General Wood could count on substantial support there. The Pittsburgh headquarters are in charge of Eric Fisher Wood and he has the assistance of Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart and others, while the Philadelphia headquarters are in charge of Major R. R. Hogan.

Although no Presidential candidates have entered the Pennsylvania field in a fight for delegates, it became known that Senator Johnson had started propaganda to have voters write his name on the ballots as their first choice. He hopes to duplicate in that State what he accomplished in Illinois, when some 50,000 voters wrote his name on the ballot in the primaries there.

Word was received from Maryland by the Wood local managers that everything was going well for their candidate in that State. One report read: "We believe we are safe in saying that Wood will get the entire Maryland delegation of sixteen in the primary to be held next Monday."

An analysis of the votes cast in popular preference primaries in nine States shows that General Wood, according to his managers, leads all other candidates by a substantial margin. The States are Minnesota, South Dakota, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio and Nebraska. In these States General Wood had a total of 511,874 votes, with Senator Johnson second with 359,756. Governor Lowden received 316,416, Senator Harding 125,003, Herbert Hoover 60,099, General Pershing 17,590, Senator La Follette 7,369 and Senator Poindexter 3,652.

Returning from a trip as far west as Wisconsin, during which he made many speeches, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, said that the people generally are interested in policies of constructiveness and sound financial management. He said primaries were not taken seriously in the West.

JOHNSON DENOUNCED AS TOO RADICAL

Young Republican Club Speaker Charges He Appeals to Class Prejudice.

Attacks upon Senator Hiram W. Johnson for his alleged alliance with William R. Hurst and his appeal to class prejudice were made last evening at a meeting of the Young Republican Club at the Hotel Pennsylvania, at which the claims of five candidates for the Republican nomination for President were presented by their representatives. Irwin Kurtz, speaking for Governor Frank O. Lowden, said he could support almost any other candidate who might be nominated, but would have difficulty as a Republican in voting for Senator Johnson.

James L. Wilhoit had previously defended Senator Johnson from the charge of radicalism, challenged any one to define radical as used in the charges against Senator Johnson.

"I will define what is meant by radicalism from the point of view of those supporting General Wood," said Professor Robert M. McElroy of Princeton, the Wood speaker. "It is radicalism to take the money of Hearst, to unite with Thompson, of Chicago, and to play to the 'Reds.'"

Mr. Wilhoit declared that Senator Johnson had never done any of these, and said he would support General Wood if Professor McElroy could prove that he had.

Julius H. Barnes, who said the work of Herbert Hoover as Food Administrator and head of the Commission for Relief in Belgium was evidence of his fitness, deprecated criticism of other candidates. "It is the poorest kind of politics," he said, "to see our candidates seeking to destroy each other and furnishing ammunition to be used against us later."

Martin C. Ansorge, who spoke for Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, contrasted the latter and President Wilson as two types of college Presidents. Wilson is of the schoolmaster type, he said, and Butler the executive head of a great educational and financial institution. He characterized Dr. Butler as a man of vision and President Wilson as a visionary.

Benjamin M. Day, President of the club, presided. About one hundred were present.

LABOR PARTY PLANS NATIONAL CONVENTION

5,000 Farm and Labor Delegates Expected at Chicago in July to Name Ticket.

CHICAGO, April 29.—The National Labor Party Convention will be held in Chicago July 11, 12 and 13 to nominate candidates for President and Vice President and draft a platform, it was announced today by Frank J. Esper, National Secretary.

Every labor and farm organization in the country will be invited to send one delegate for each 500 members. Esper predicted that 5,000 delegates would attend.

The Illinois State Convention will be held early in June at Springfield and a full ticket nominated, he said, adding that the party expects to elect six Congressmen outside of Cook County.

The National Labor Party was formed here Nov. 26 last by 1,200 representatives of farm and labor organizations. Max S. Hayes of Cleveland is National Chairman.

The declaration of principles adopted at the November convention announced that "the Labor Party was organized to assemble into a new majority the men and women who work but who have been scattered as helpless minorities in the old parties under the leadership of the 'confidence men' of big business."

The declaration included thirty-two planks, a majority of which, according to Esper, will be repeated in the political platform to be adopted here next July. Among the planks are:

Nationalization of all essential industries.

Nationalisation of unused lands.

A league of workers to "destroy autocracy, militarism and economic imperialism and bring about worldwide disarmament."

Repeal of the espionage law.

Equal suffrage and equal pay for men and women in industry.

Abolition of the injunction power of Judges in labor disputes.

Indorsement of the Plumb plan for tripartite railroad control.

Steeply graduated income and inheritance taxes.

A national budget system.

Abolition of the United States Senate.

CLAIMS 56 DELEGATES GAINED FOR GEN. WOOD

Senator Moses Says That He Has Shown That No Combination Can Beat Him at Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, general manager in Washington of the campaign of Major Gen. Leonard Wood for the Republican Presidential nomination, today issued a statement in which he asserted that General Wood had demonstrated in the primary campaigns just held in Ohio, Massachusetts and New Jersey that his popular strength was so deep-seated that it could not be shaken by any combinations that might be made in an effort to defeat him in the Chicago convention.

Senator Moses declared that General Wood had demonstrated his strength in the campaign in the face of efforts made to head off his candidacy and that when the convention meets next June General Wood will have at least twice as many delegates as any other man openly behind his candidacy. On the first ballot, Senator Moses said, General Wood would have far more votes than any other candidate and "when the States where is second choice begin to throw their strength to him on the second ballot no one will be able to stop him, and he will go over with a noise that will startle the whole country.

"Despite all the efforts that have been made to head him off," said Senator Moses, "General Wood has again demonstrated in New Jersey, Ohio and Massachusetts that his strength with the people is universal and so deep-seated that his hold upon them cannot be shaken by any combinations they make to try to defeat him. General Wood has gained at least fifty-six delegates in these three States and Idaho, and at the proper time he will have far more than this number from those States to add to his growing list of delegates."

GARY EX-STRIKERS GREET WOOD TOUR

General Finds Some of His Strongest Supporters Where He Ruled During Trouble.

OHIO VOTE ECHO IN INDIANA

Billy Sunday, Original Wood Man, There, Introduces Him for a Speech at Warsaw.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Major Gen. Leonard Wood campaigned today in the Gary and Indiana Harbor sections of Indiana, this being the territory in which he exercised authority during the recent steel strike. After he had spoken in Indiana Harbor and East Chicago he talked to a crowd that packed the largest hall in the steel city of Gary.

Mayor Hodges of Gary, who is the Chairman of the Wood Committee in the steel district, presided at the meeting, and he informed General Wood that Gary is going to give him a surprisingly large vote next Tuesday, and this despite the fact that Senator Johnson is conceded to have great strength in that part of the State.

Among General Wood's strongest supporters in the Gary district are some of the former strike leaders. One of them said this afternoon that he was for General Wood because he "played fair" at Gary during the strike.

General Wood is greatly pleased with the result of the primary elections in New Jersey and Ohio. The Wood managers in Indiana assert that the General's fine showing in New Jersey and Ohio is already being reflected in Indiana. They do not expect General Wood to get a majority on Tuesday, but they do say that he will receive a substantial plurality. All four of the leading Republican candidates are entered in the Indiana race.

Wood Running Strong, Says Burnquist.

Governor John A. Burnquist of Minnesota, who has been campaigning for General Wood in Indiana, returned to Chicago this afternoon. Governor Burnquist spoke in Indianapolis and other cities and said that everywhere he found General Wood maintaining his strength. The race, he added, is between Johnson and Wood.

General Wood made twenty-five speeches yesterday, and was making his twentieth today at Gary. He is scheduled to make seventeen tomorrow, and will end his campaign on Monday with fourteen more in the northwestern part of the State. His principal speeches today were made in Columbia City, Winona Lake, Valparaiso, Laporte, Indiana Harbor, Gary and Hammond.

Tomorrow he speaks, among other places, at Bloomington, Lafayette, Crawfordsville, Greencastle and Terre Haute. Despite his hard schedule, General Wood does not appear at all fatigued, and, while he admits that he is "a little bit tired," he says he could continue the pace for another week or ten days if that were necessary.

Introduced by "Billy" Sunday.

At Warsaw today General Wood was introduced to the crowd of more than 2,000 persons by Billy Sunday, the evangelist. Sunday is one of the original Wood men in Indiana, and is one of General Wood's strongest supporters in the State.

A man in the audience at Warsaw asked General Wood to say "who kept a lot of folks," including the General, out of the war.

"I am not so much interested in who kept us out of war as I am who is keeping us out of bacon and sugar," replied General Wood.

In all of his speeches today General Wood explained his position on universal military training, urged a firm foreign policy, a square deal for capital and labor, reduction of Government expenditures to the lowest possible figures, laws that will keep the alien anarchist and agitator out of America, the spreading over a greater period of years of the war tax burden and, finally, drastic measures to curb the high cost of living problem.

First Woman on Yale Faculty.

CLEVELAND, April 29.—Catherine T. Bryce, Assistant Superintendent of Cleveland schools, has been appointed assistant professor of elementary education at Yale University, it was announced here today. She is the first woman to join the Yale Faculty.

WOOD JERSEY VOTE RECOUNT DEMANDED

$10 to man the polls for Wood in that county on primary day. As there are three hundred and forty-six election districts this expenditure represented $3,460. Money was paid to workers in every county of the State. A conservative estimate of the money spent by the Wood managers to man the polls in New Jersey would represent a sum in excess of $25,000. This sum does not include the amount spent for the circulation of literature, organization of clubs, the expenses of which it is not necessary to file with the Secretary of State, maintaining a lucrative headquarters in the city of Newark, and salaries paid to professional political promoters. This is a direct violation of the Corrupt Practices Act, and we now call upon the Wood Committee to make public their contributions and expenditures.

Mr. Kalisch said it had not been decided whether the recount would cover the entire State or will be limited to certain counties.

The Wood managers in New Jersey said that the whole proceedings was started by William P. Verdon, Republican leader in Hudson County, who wanted to give Senator Johnson some publicity.

"The charges are absolutely false so far as I am concerned," said City Clerk William J. Egan of Newark. "The city, town and village clerks have nothing whatever to do with the returns that have been so far compiled. Each election board, after counting the vote, fills in a police slip, which is taken by him with the election boxes to the City Hall. These figures are all unofficial and are gathered for the press."

Calls Charges "Ridiculous."

Frank E. Davenport, Chairman of the Essex County Republican Committee branded the Verdon charges as "Absolutely ridiculous" and without the slightest foundation.

"Why doesn't Verdon be specific and tell of what he is talking about?" asked Mr. Davenport. "Here in Essex County I haven't heard a single rumor of fraud. The Johnson men are just as surprised at the Verdon charge as anyone else."

It was pointed out last night that it was highly improbable that Chief Justice Gummere, in the absence of any official returns or tabulation of figures, would allow a recount at this time, and it also was believed that a partial recount of any district would not be permitted.

The latest returns indicate that General Wood will have nineteen of the State's twenty-eight delegates, including the four delegates at large. Wood elected eleven district delegates, three other district delegates who made the same pledge as Senators Edge and Frelinghuysen, that they would support the candidate having the popular vote, and one other delegate running unpledged, who is counted for Wood. These, with the four delegates at large, are all counted for Wood, leaving nine delegates for Johnson.

Stokes Expresses Satisfaction.

Edward C. Stokes, Republican State Chairman, who was elected one of the "Big Four," declared that General Wood's victory, however small the margin, was most gratifying.

"The result in the State," said Mr. Stokes, "was the verdict of an extremely light vote with a number of cross-currents and possible combinations. The close margin shows an almost equally divided opinion, but General Wood's victory, however small, is to me most gratifying.

"I made no fight against any one nor did I make any fight for myself, either by way of expenditure or by combination with others. The fact that I secured a place on the delegation in spite of the big Johnson vote, on which I had no claim, is to me most satisfactory."

The vote for the Republican "Big Four," with seventeen districts missing, is as follows:

Frelinghuysen, 61,473; Edge 60,126 (both pledged to the choice of voters as expressed at the primary); Stokes (Wood), 53,577; Runyon (Wood), 46,630; Ballard (Johnson), 43,319; Layden (Johnson), 42,887; Raymond (Wood), 43,852½ Griggs (Wood), 42,531; Nutter (unpledged), 9,235; Corrothers (unpledged), 7,873.

JOHNSON IS RETICENT.

Leaving Jersey Situation to Managers, He Says in Indiana.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 29.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson spoke here tonight on the League of Nations and national issues. In discussing the charges that the Johnson forces were "robbed of" three counties in New Jersey, he declared he knew nothing of the situation except what had been wired him and that he was not sufficiently in touch with it to make a statement.

Mr. Johnson declared he was leaving the matter entirely in the hands of his managers who were on the ground and know just what steps to take under the conditions.

FRENCH STILL FIGHT LUMP INDEMNITY

FAVOR SLIDING SCALE PLAN

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 29.—The British and French Governments, with the collaboration of the Belgian Government, will begin next week to work out their plans for the Spa conference with the German Chancellor and other members of the Berlin Government, which will open May 25. The work will be done in London for the most part.

Italy and Japan, having only a secondary interest in the enforcement of the Treaty of Versailles, will probably agree to any scheme approved by the other three allies.

Despite the San Remo agreement as to the principle of enforcing the treaty, there remains an important divergence of views. It is Lloyd George's contention that the total sum due from Germany should be fixed once and for all. This is the idea advanced by the American financial experts when the treaty was in the making, on the ground that Germany would not be in a position to get credits until foreign bankers and Governments knew what she owed the Allies and could base their calculations as to Germany's borrowing capacity on that knowledge. But in the framing of the treaty Clemenceau's determination that a way should be left open to force Germany to pay what she could prevailed.

At San Remo Lloyd George promised to put into the allied declaration a statement that Germany's debt to the Allies would be fixed at a lump sum. He prepared a draft of the declaration embodying that. Millerand's draft provided for a lump sum as a minimum, but reserved to the Reparation Commission power to increase the payments if it became evident that Germany was able to pay more. Millerand suggested as a minimum thirty annual payments of 3,000,000,000 marks gold. In view of these divergences the point was avoided in the declaration and left to later adjustment.

However, the declaration did state, in criticising Germany for not having made a statement as to what total amount she was ready to pay, that a settlement of this kind was urgent in the interests of all concerned.

Under the treaty the Reparation Commission must name the total sum by next April. It is clear, then, that the adoption of the Millerand sliding scale arrangement would give the Reparation Commission a longer hold on German finances than the treaty provides. On the other hand, the adoption of Lloyd George's plan would enable Germany to know by the last week in May where she stood. It is understood that Belgium believes the English plan wiser than the French.

From conversations with the three Premiers at San Remo I believe I can state that the British will not consent to the adoption of Millerand's sliding scale plan on the ground that it would be directly against the establishment of the much-desired economic stability of Europe. To give the Reparation Commission power to revise ten years from now the amount due from Germany would be, in Lloyd George's opinion, the height of unwisdom. It seems altogether likely at this time that a definite lump sum will be named at Spa. This sum will probably be larger than the British have suggested—80,000,000,000 marks. It may reach 90,000,000,000 marks in thirty annual payments, with interest charges on all deferred payments.

Tardieu Against Fixing Lump Sum.

In L'Illustration on Saturday André Tardieu will Publish a long argument against fixing the lump sum at Spa, on the ground that it would be a violation of the Treaty. He reviews the reasons for which the French delegation last year refused to accept a lump sum arrangement and says that the reasons which France adjudged insufficient then are the same now advanced for fixing a definite amount. M. Tardieu argues that a lump sum should not be named because the amount of the French war damages has not been fixed; but it is notorious that France has made very little progress in almost a year in fixing that sum.

M. Tardieu also argues that by signing the treaty Germany recognized her obligation to pay as much as possible of the cost of the war, and he asserts that none of the sums mentioned at San Remo come anywhere near being large enough.

He also says that on May 1, 1919, President Wilson consented to withdraw the proposals of the American financial experts and to accept Clemenceau's plan.

As for the suggestion that Germany pay 100,000,000,000 marks in thirty years without interest, M. Tardieu points out that, with interest calculated at 5 per cent., that would represent only 45,000,000,000, of which France would get 25,000,000,000. He says this is not enough, in view of the fact that the French claims for damages and pensions amount to 150,000,000,000 marks. In conclusion, M. Tardieu says: "The Treaty of Versailles, especially in its financial provisions, is not perfect. But the principles which it sets forth are the best of those which were offered to us to choose. These principles affirm the right of France to be paid. To consent now to forfeit the sum would be equivalent to France agreeing not to be paid. It will hurt us morally without helping us materially. That is why we must stick to the treaty and execute it. Unless we do that France will lose."

COMMONS CHEER PREMIER'S REPORT

French statesman, was of the opinion it would help make the Commune popular if the Germans suppressed it, and therefore he rejected the offer made by the Germans and insisted upon French troops restoring order in their own country.

"The Allies were of opinion that the same course ought to be pursued in this case, but we proposed that there should be guarantees that the liberty given to the Germans to occupy the Ruhr for the purpose of suppressing the rising should not be abused; that there should be a definite limit of time, and if that limit was exceeded we would have agreed to the occupation of German towns as a guarantee. We also proposed that there should be liaison officers representing the Allies who would accompany the troops in order to see that they would not exceed the numbers necessary, and also in order to see that their methods were not too stern and vindictive.

"However, I am only explaining the differences that arose. I am very glad to be able to say that it has all been cleared up. The Germans have been informed that the moment the number of troops in the Ruhr Valley was reduced to the proporcions laid down by the Allies in the letter of Aug. 7—in the treaty they are not permitted to send any troops at all into that area, but there was a special exception given in a letter of Aug. 8 for a period of time after the expiration, and on April 2 a further extension was given—and if they keep their troops down to these numbers the French troops will withdraw from Frankfort and Darmstadt.

"The statement which appeared in some newspapers that the French were not to withdraw until after German disarmament and until certain clauses of the treaty were enforced is not in the least accurate.

"I now come to the misunderstandings which have been removed with the result of placing the alliance on a firmer basis than it has ever been. The first misunderstanding was in France as to British views. The French were undoubtedly under the impression that Britain did not mean to enforce the treaty, more especially concerning disarmament, reparation and the insults to the allied troops of the Army of Occupation. In a discussion in this house about a month ago I made it perfectly clear that the British Government were not only not in favor of a revision of the treaty, but thought the conditions of the treaty perfectly fair, that they had allowed for every contingency, and that, so far as we were concerned, we would certainly enforce them.

"In the dispatches of the British Government on the Ruhr district we made it perfectly clear that the difference of opinion between the French and British Governments was purely a question of police and the restoration of order, and that when it came to the question of disarmament and reparation we would certainly take any action which would be agreed upon between the Allies. The conference at San Remo dispelled all suspicions. It was perfectly clear to their mind, as to ours, that the Treaty of Versailles is the basis upon which European policy must march in reference to Germany, and that we propose to act with them and the other Allies in the enforcement of the treaty.

Suspicion of Imperialistic Aims.

"The second misunderstanding arose out of the undoubted suspicion which had been created by the utterances of very powerful personages in France and the writings of very powerful journalists which indicated that in their minds there was the intention to use the delay in the execution of the treaty for ulterior motives. The annexation of the Rhineland and of the coal districts has been openly advocated. We had to make it absolutely clear that under no conditions would Great Britain assent to any policy of that kind. The lesson of 1870-1871 has sunk deep into the minds of millions in Europe. Bismarck's mistake, or, rather, the mistake of his Generals, produced one of the greatest catastrophes in the history of the world. We are determined not to repeat that by incorporating in the territories even of friendly powers millions of people of totally different race. We cannot bequeath to our children another Alsace-Lorraine; if we did that, they would curse our memory.

"It was, therefore, essential, in view of the declarations which had been made by persons of great consequence in France—persons who recently had shown that they had great power in France—that we should make it clear that Britain would have no hand or part in any policy of annexation in Europe.

"I need hardly assure the House that the French Minister readily and sincerely gave assurances that the vast majority of the people of France were just as much opposed to any policy of that kind as the people of Great Britain. That declaration is embodied in the minutes of the conference. I attach enormous importance to it.

The Invitation to the Germans.

"Then we come to another part of our policy. We decided for the first time to invite German Ministers to meet the Allies in open conference to discuss questions which have arisen out of the execution of the treaty. At the present moment these discussions are conducted by note and by a great number of commissions and Commissioners. Like the virgins in the parable, some are wise and some are foolish. Before we entered the conference it was essential that he should know the points to be discussed. With regard to disarmament, we all agree that those formidable weapons which had become such a menace not only to the peace but to the liberty of the world should be destroyed. Upon that there is no difference of opinion among the Allies.

"I believe that the chief charge of the collection and destroying of these weapons rests with the British General in co-operation with the French General. The first thing to do is to allocate these guns and then destroy them. I saw General Bingham, who came from Berlin, as I was very anxious to know the exact situation. He said the Germans had acted faithfully in giving up arms, but with regard to rifles he had experienced very great difficulty. The men had not given them up and of course that was the danger, not only to the peace of Europe, but to the internal peace of Germany, and a very serious one.

"The real difficulty is that the German Government has no authority in its own land. I do not want to say anything harsh, but it does not command that authority which enables it to make its decrees respected. The soldiers defy the State, and that it the greatest difficulty of all. We are dealing with a broken-backed creature which has not command of its limbs or its muscles. Its actions are convulsive. It has the command of speech and that is all.

Reports Famine in Germany.

"I have information from British officers that there is famine in the land; that in some districts people are not getting more than between one-third and one-half of the food that enables life to be maintained. They are living not only upon vegetables, but sloshy vegetables. That is the trouble in Germany; it is suffering from a kind of shell-shock under which it has not recovered the use of its muscles and limbs—a half paralyzed creature.

"When you come to the order for disarmament you may have a perfectly willing Government, who are issuing decrees and hoping they will be obeyed, but there is no one in the country at this moment who has the power to enforce decrees, and that is one of the greatest struggles we are confronted with. There is no possible harm in exactly stating what the position is. If the German Government says: 'We issue orders, but cannot get any one to obey them,' we shall know what to do. You may take action against a Government—that would be one kind of action—but you may take another kind of action against a Government which you know is perfectly helpless. The action you take depends upon the diagnosis of the facts of the situation, and, therefore, it is vital that we should know. That is one of the advantages of meeting the people who are nominally in authority in Berlin.

"In regard to the recent march of troops into Berlin, there were only 3,000 or 4,000 of them. They expected to be hailed as deliverers, but the population were simply stunned and stupefied, not knowing what it meant. So far from being friendly, the population was hostile, and the troops did not realise until they reached Berlin that Germany was not merely sick and tired of militarism, but would have nothing whatever to do with it. I am stating now what was sent to me by British officers who were in Berlin at the time. In a very short time the wretched creatures who thought they were going to carry out a great military coup d'état found that no one wanted them.

The Question of Disarmament.

"This is the position with regard to disarmament: Guns we will get; airplanes we will get. We cannot allow these terrific weapons of war to be left lying about in Germany, with nobody in authority to see to them. It is too dangerous; you never can tell what may happen. Therefore, they have got to be cleared up. Rifles have been infinitely difficult to get, but rifles without big guns and machine guns are not very formidable, although they are dangerous as weapons of disorder, and we shall do our best to secure them.

"Now come to reparation. It is no use pointing to the present condition of Germany and saying: How can she pay reparation when she is starving? But Germany is not always going to be starving. She has a population of sixty or seventy million, a very intelligent, highly skilled population, possessed of all the arts of wealth production, and she will recover. What we want to know is what steps Germany is taking to assess her liabilities, and what proposals she is going to make to liquidate them. We know well that in her present condition she cannot pay—she cannot maintain life decently; but we want to see that Germany really acknowledges her liability and is thinking about the best method of liquidating it.

Demand for Definite German Proposal.

"We must ask Germany to make some proposal to pay. I have been on various sides in regard to this indemnity, but, as a matter of fact, I have proposed nothing new with regard to it. Our complaint is that Germany has taken no steps; our complaint is that she is not taking steps as if she really meant to pay, and she must not do it [cheers]. I want to make it particularly clear before May 25, when we meet at Spa, that we are not going there to discuss abstract questions. Germany must come there with something definite, some proposal with regard to the sum she can pay and with regard to the method by which she proposes to pay, or any other suggestion which she can make for the liquidation of their liabilities. They will be guaranteed very fair, impartial and just consideration. They must come there as a people who mean business on the basis of the acceptance of the treaty.

"They must show that they are grappling with the problem. That is all we ask at the present moment. Upon all these German questions that have arisen out of the German treaty I am glad to be able to tell the House that we have established most complete accord amongst the Allies. The strain had disappeared, and there was the same old gladness of comradeship that carried us through the trials of the great war.

Calls Home Critics Traitors.

"We were doing it under difficulties. There were attempts to promote discord amongst us. While the European Ministers were picking their way through the dense, tangled jungle we were deafened by simian clatter and some of us overpowered with missiles hurled at our poor heads. Personal malignity has surely a wide enough field in the sphere of domestic politics. Here it does not matter. The by-elections show everybody is beginning to understand it is simply the writhings of a disappointed ambition. But when it begins to get into the foreign sphere there is mischief.

"They do not comprehend it yet. They will gradually, but they do not follow our politics with the same intensity and concentration as we do ourselves. Gradually they are beginning to discover it there, but until they do it will promote mischief and difficulty. It is criminal; it was real treason to the alliance to try to create bad blood between peoples who had shed blood for the common cause and suffered. God knows, enough for their victory. It is no use making appeals. All you can do is to call attention to it in order not merely to deprecate it, but to make it more and more innocuous.

"When we were down there we only had one common feeling—that wherever there were these differences between us in future the best plan was to met immediately. The moment we came together we found there was nothing in it. There were misunderstandings—the sort of thing that happens among the best friends—but when they come face to face men of good will and good purpose generally come to a good agreement, and I hope also a good end.

"There is no doubt that the San Remo conference was a triumph of good-will, and every one went away happier than we have ever been after any conference, and we shall be coming together now side by side with great unity of purpose, which I think will achieve a great deal for the peace of Europe, even in meeting with the Germans. It will promote peace and good understanding.

Turkish Treaty Details Withheld.

"With regard to Turkey I cannot say very much. M. Millerand in his speech yesterday stated he did not think it was desirable to give details of our proposals until we had submitted them to the Porte. That was the policy we pursued with regard to Germany, and I think the French Prime Minister is right there. We have not yet submitted these proposals to the Turks, and I think it right we should do so before they are made the subject of discussion in the various Parliaments of the Allies.

"There is really nothing to reveal on the subject. The general principles have been discussed repeatedly in this House, and there has been no departure from the principles laid down in those various debates, whether it is about Constantinople, Thrace, Armenia, Mesopotamia, Palestine or Cilicia, or the protection of minorities. In the questions the treaty will embody the general principles laid down so frequently in the discussions of this House.

"I will only just say one word about the mandates. The mandate for Syria has been accorded to France. Mandates for Mesopotamia, including Mosul and Palestine, have been given to Great Britain [cries of "Hear! Hear!"] with full recognition of the famous Balfour declaration in respect to the Jews. There has been an agreement arrived at with the French with respect to oil distribution in Mosul.

"As to Armenia, this presented a problem of overwhelming difficulty. This difficulty arises from the fact that there is no Armenian population in vast areas we would have liked to have allocated to Armenia, and which there are historical grounds for allocating to Armenia.

Decision Against Greater Armenia.

"If you give them to Armenia, who is to enforce our decrees? Neither France, Britain nor Italy could undertake it. Our responsibilities are too overwhelming. We consulted our military advisers, and they made it quite clear that it would involve a very strong, well-equipped military force. It was not merely the expense; it was the finding of troops. We have the Straits to guard, and Palestine and Mesopotamia. In Syria the French have got to protect Cilicia. The Italians have undertaken to protect the district of Adana. We have got great responsibilities in Europe, and no state, with the best will in the world, could possibly pledge its honor to undertake the conquest of these territories in order to hand them over to the Armenians. The Armenian delegates gave us a very sanguine estimate of what their own forces would muster and what they could accomplish. We had to subject that naturally to expert examination, and, although I have no doubt at all that the Armenians can defend their own republic, it is idle to expect that an undisciplined force with no military traditions should be able to capture strong fortresses in a mountainous country, sparsely populated, from a foe who has military traditions.

"That was our difficulty. The course we adopted was to appeal to the United States, which has not accepted any responsibility [cheers]—any share of responsibility in the civilizing of these vast areas, of protecting of these poor Christian populations, up to the present, but which has a deep well of sympathy for them, a sympathy which I believe is sincere and capable of making great sacrifices. We have made an appeal on behalf of the Supreme Council of the Allies to the United States to undertake a mandate for Armenia. If they do not, we ask that President Wilson should arbitrate as to the boundaries of Armenia.

"We could not have carried it any further than that. American representatives were present at the conference, but they had no authority to take any part, and therefore we are not in a position to state what the views of America may or may not be upon that subject.

"With regard to Russia, we practically reaffirmed the decision we arrived at to open up trade relations with Russia, and to give every facility for the purpose of opening up those relations with a view to sending any peaceable material to Russia and obtaining the surplus of Russian foodstuffs and raw material for the rest of the world.

"We also made it clear with regard to the delegation which is at Copenhagen that the whole of the Allies stand together in the determination that they cannot accept in that delegation the presence of M. Litvinoff, for the simple reason that he had abused his privileges when here before, and, may I say, that if the Ambassador or Minister of any foreign country had been guilty of conduct similar to that which he was found responsible for her, in taking part in active political propaganda for subverting the institutions of the country, not merely would he have been expelled if it had been a friendly power, but that friendly power would never, I am certain, have dreamed of asking that he should be received again.

Council's Rebuke to Soviet Proposal.

"It is customary when sending any emissary to a country to know whether he is acceptable, and when a country says he is not acceptable no one dreams of challenging the action of that country. They must conform with civilized usages before we can do any business. I know it is a serious matter to delay the obtaining of whatever raw material there may be in Russia, but it is better that we should have a clear understanding before we proceed to business. We can only do business on the basis on which civilised countries do business with each other everywhere; and, therefore, we ventured to invite the Supreme Council to support us in the action we had taken in stating that if the delegation came we should be very glad to receive them for the purpose of transacting business, but that we could not receive M. Litvinoff in this country, nor would we meet him in any other country.

"That, I think, represents substantially the task which we had to undertake there."

At this point T. P. O'Connor asked:

"What about the Chaldeans?"

Mr. Lloyd George answered:

"We have taken special measures for their protection, exactly as we have done with other Christian communities. They have been more under our protection, probably, than under the protection of any other power, and I think they are fairly satisfied with the steps taken.

"The San Remo conference undoubtedly will always be a remarkably conspicuous landmark. When you were there, and when you met delegates from every land, you realized more and more how much Europe stands in need of peace. You had troubles and rumors of troubles from every quarter. You felt thankful to feel that Great Britain was surmounting the difficulties that had arisen out of the war, perhaps better than any other land, but you felt there was a great task in front of Europe.

"Here the British sovereign, which fetched its twenty-five francs, now fetches sixty-four in Italy, where it used to fetch twenty-six lire, it now fetches eighty-six to eighty-nine; in Germany, where it used to fetch twenty marks, it now fetches 218; in Poland the British sovereign fetches 735 marks."

"They are still fighting," observed Lieutenant Commander Kenworthy.

"And if you go to Russia," the Premier went on, "the land of the honorable member's Paradise, where there is peace and good will and brotherhood, you get for the British sovereign probably a ton of money. That is the condition of Europe. Prices are high here; they are higher everywhere else. Poor Europe is struggling on to get over the troubles of the war, to clear the débris of war, and occasionally getting impatient and threatening to fling the spade on the rubbish heap.

"All the same I thought things were improving. You felt it in the air that peace was coming. There was more confidence. There was less apprehension. The gaping wounds of Europe are gradually healing. The San Remo conference marks a distinct stage in its convalescence."

Ex-Premier Asquith and several other speakers followed the Prime Minister, but there was no serious criticism of his statement.

REJECTS GERMAN PLAN TO REDUCE RUHR ARMY

France Insists That Military Units, Not Mere Numerical Strength, Be the Test.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 29.—The French Government refuses to order the evacuation of Frankfort and Darmstadt until the German forces in the Ruhr have been reduced not only in total numbers, but in units, to the maximum set in the August protocol.

The German Government notified Premier Millerand yesterday that the forces in the Ruhr had been reduced to 17,500 men—twenty-six battalions, twelve squadrons and two batteries. Mr. Millerand answered that the protocol provided for twenty battalions, ten squadrons and two batteries, and that the Germans would have to meet these requirements before he would order the evacuation of the main cities. That is to say, the Germans must not only withdraw their troops until they reach the total of 17,500 permitted by the protocol, but must group those men in six fewer battalions and two fewer squadrons than they now have.

The French position is founded upon the theory than in the whole disarmament of Germany she must not be allowed to group the total of men allowed in more units than are permitted by the treaty, for the reason that these extra units can be filled up and add to the German military strength at short notice.

PARIS, April 29 (Associated Press).—Premier Millerand made a declaration to the Senate today with regard to the results of the San Remo sesions of the Supreme Council of the Allies. It was identical with the one he made in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday.

The Premier added, however, that a new point had arisen today, when the German Government, through its representative here, proposed to the French Government a meeting of experts of Germany and France, for the purpose of exchanging views, in order to clear up all questions at issue concerning transactions between the two countries. M. Millerand said he had accepted the proposal, and the French representatives would be chosen in the near future. He expressed the wish that the conference would quickly have fruitful results.

Amid great applause, Léon Bourgeois, President of the Senate, thanked the Premier, in the name of that body, for his firm, loyal declarations.

BERLIN, April 29.—With reference to the declaration by France that the occupation of Frankfort by French troops would be maintained until the German forces in the Ruhr region were reduced to the number of units originally permitted, Herr Gessler, Minister of Defense, explained to the Vossische Zeitung that, owing to casualties and resignations, there was a grave disproportion between the units in numerical strength, and that a reduction in the units would bring the German forces to 12,000 instead of 17,000, as allowed under the treaty.

Moreover, the Minister added, two batteries of artillery were entirely insufficient. Eleven batteries were absolutely needed, and the maintenance of only two would spell disaster.

In the course of the general debate following his statement, Mr. Lloyd George maintained that any attempt to ordain a great Armenian Kingdom extending from the Mediterranean Sea to the Black Sea would only provoke further disaster. Such a plan could be executed only by the might of a great power like the United States. The Premier said he was confident that President Wilson would arbitrate the boundaries with great fairness and judgment.

Says Council Can't Dissolve Yet.

LONDON, April 29.—In the course of his House of Commons speech today on the results of the San Remo conference, replying to Lord Robert Cecil's contention that the League of Nations should speedily supercede the Supreme Council, Premier Lloyd George argued that the League had not materialized sufficiently, and for the present the whole fabric of Europe rested upon the three great and solid powers in the West. To transfer the responsibility now to any body lacking the necessary force or organization would be disastrous for the peace of Europe, he said. He spoke as a friend of and a believer in the League when he said the time was not ripe to disperse the Supreme Council. Looking at all the explosive materal in the world, he could see no hope except in a federation of nations.

Incidentally, the Premier announced that the Supreme Council's reply to the League of Nations on the question of Armenia included its reply to President Wilson and could be published only with the President's consent.

WARSAW, April 28 (Associated Press).—General Pilsudski, as Commander in Chief, is leading the Polish army in its drive toward the Dnieper River, which began on last Monday. By the capture of Owrucz, Jitomir and other railroad centres the Poles now control the two main lines leading to Kiev.

Jitomir was taken after a brief but fierce fight. The Poles announce that the Bolshevist 58th Infantry and 17th Cavalry Divisions were destroyed in the combats in this region.

The Bolsheviki then began a general retreat, offering resistance at only a few scattered points. Many prisoners and much material were taken, the material including sixteen locomotives and 2,000 railway cars.

The Kosciusko Squadron, composed of American aviators, is taking part in the advance into the Ukraine, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather.

Along the 300-kilometre front (187 miles) the advance is continuing. The Poles have been held up at a few points by the resistance of small forces of the Bolsheviki having machine guns. The Reds have adopted the machine gun method of the Germans for their rearguard actions in order to permit withdrawals without endangering larger forces. The Poles are using armored trains and armored motor cars, which are particularly effective against the machine gunners, many of whom have been captured or killed.

A War Office communication issued today says the Bolsheviki began concentrating six weeks ago for a drive in the south, and that the Reds evidently were determined to attain a dicisive military victory.

"In view of this fact," says the communication, "the Poles planned a counteraction under Pilsudski's leadership. The first day they reached Owrucz, Kremmo and Godnow. Then, taking advantage of the confused Bolshevist retreat, they proceeded further in the direction of their objectives. By the general advance the Poles now virtually control all the railroads extending southward from Mozir to the region of Winnica."

In connection with the drive to free the Ukraine of the Reds and Poland's recognition of Ukrainia's independence, as announced in General Pilsudski's proclamation, General Petlura, the Ukrainian leader, has issued a declaration of the independence of the Ukrainians.

The declaration gives assurance of the gratefulness of the loyal Ukrainians for Poland's assistance in the campaign against the "Red Imperialists," and appeals to the people to give the troops every consideration.

The declaration says that for three years the Ukrainians endeavored to gain their independence, fighting alone and forgotten by the world's nations. By hard fighting against the invaders, it adds, the Ukraine is prepared to prove to the world that the Ukrainians are ready for independence and prepared to direct State affairs. It also announces that a call for a National Assembly will be issued shortly.

Big Steel, Coal and Shipping Organizations Call Meetings to Consider Proposition.

MONTREAL, April 29.—Directors of the Canada Steamship Lines Ltd., the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company and Dominion Steel Corporation today received and considered the proposals made by the interests behind the $500,000,000 steel, coal and shipping organization, to be known as the British Empire Steel Corporation. Formal consent was given to the transfer of securities involved, subject to the approval of the shareholders of the three enterprises which are to form the Canadian nucleus of the big consolidation.

According to a statement issued tonight by Colonel W. Grant Morden, the terms will be ready for publication in a day or two, and special general meetings of the companies involved will be called in the near future.

Colonel Morden stated that the initial share capital issue of the new corporation will be $205,000,000, but declined to state into what amounts first, second and third, preferred and common stocks would be divided. Official announcement of these details would be given in the near future, he said.

In addition to the three companies mentioned, the consolidation will embrace the Halifax Shipyards Company, the Davie Shipbuilding Company of Levis, the Port Arthur Shipbuilding Company, the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company, together with the latter's Kingston subsidiary, the Maritime Nail Company of St. John, N. B., and possibly several other allied industries.

Confirmation that the Canada Foundries and Forgings Company was to enter the merger was not forthcoming tonight, but negotiations to this end are in progress and developmens are expected either tomorrow or Saturday.

CULINARY ORCHESTRATION

The secret of the excellence of French cookery lies in the lavish use of vegetables.

Where the average American uses one kind, French cooks use twenty.

The CHILDS restaurants follow the French custom—they serve a pleasing variety of fresh green vegetables.

Their vegetable dinners are culinary orchestrations—each vegetable retains its individual flavor, yet all blend harmoniously.

At CHILDS, too, you may be a composer, and blend the vegetables to suit his taste.

NASSAU VETERANS VOTE AGAINST BONUS

Referendum of 2,500 Men Shows Disapproval of American Legion Proposal.

PLEAD FOR THE DISABLED

Declare Nation's First Debt Is to Them—Demand Reorganization of Compensation Bureaus.

A referendum taken by the Nassau County Executive Committee of the American Legion indicated that opinion of the 2,500 members was opposed to a flat cash bonus to all ex-service men, irrespective of individual needs. The result was announced yesterday.

Wounded and disabled should be taken care of first, the veterans asserted, and all Government agencies for the relief of service men should be consolidated under one head after the departments had been reorganized. This accomplished, the Nassau posts believe, Congress owes an obligation to all those who suffered loss by service in the armed forces during the war. The announcement reads:

"Immediate effective action is demanded of Congress to remedy the lamentable delay, hardship, suffering and loss to which disabled ex-service men and women have been subjected to by reason of the complete breakdown of the administration of the Federal Board for Vocational Training and other agencies created to render aid to the disabled.

"A thorough reorganization of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance is demanded of Congress. Another demand is the establishment of one supreme authority to direct all work of rehabilitation, such authority to have jurisdiction over the activities of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Federal Board Vocational Training and the United States Public Health Service, in so far as they relate to returned ex-service men and women.

"This rehabilitation authority should establish local offices or committees, these offices to act with power, subject to suitable regulation, in the individual cases; the record of the disposition of cases to be forwarded to Washington for review and statistical purposes.

"While it is the opinion of the posts of Nassau County that the nation, through Congress, owes an obligation to those ex-servce men and women who suffered loss by virtue of service in the army, navy and Marine Corps, which obligation should be builfilled, if, in the opinion of Congress, such action would be compatible with the best interests of the country and provided complete, final and generous action in favor of the disabled had been accomplished, nevertheless, the posts of Nassau County believe that it would not be consistent with its best interest if the American Legion, as an organization, should go on record as demanding of Congress adjusted compensation for able-bodied ex-service men and women."

Thieves "Thank" Lynn Merchant.

LYNN, Mass., April 29.—The silk shop of Schmidt Brothers was robbed of nearly all its stock last night. Thieves entered by a skylight and tore off iron bars to obtain an exit on the street floor. The proprietors of the shop, who estmated their loss at $10,000, found a note this morning left by the thieves which read: "Thank you for the silk. Boston Boys."

FAVOR SALES TAX TO FINANCE BONUS

will be given for another series of them to emerge.

"But these dwindle into insignificance compared with the bonus proposals. The last scheme now resolved upon will cost the American people $6,000,000,000. An organization and clamorous demand dooms to disaster those who challenge its justice. It sets a new precedent for the transfer of money from the pockets of one set of people to the pockets of another. The crushing burden can and will go only one place—on the already bent back of the American consumer."

"It is another demonstration of the ability of an organized group to get its will politically. They are all down here—the Koreans, the Chinese, the Irish, the Plumb planners, the legislative committees of a myriad other things—and in the last analysis the one thing they want is public money. You, the American public, they recognize only as a source of supply, over whose spoils they busily ravage.

"But now the imposition threatened has grown so great that you must unite or perish. The representatives fighting your battles you leave without support, for an individual word or an individual letter can do little. Even yet, with a little assistance, they might hold the outposts that would save your cause in the present emergency, if you will unite and fight."

"Doesn't the Senator know that there isn't a chance for that?" asked Senator Myers, Democrat, Montana. "Americans in general will go right ahead, one block voting Democratic and another voting Republican, while the group which knows what it wants throws the balance."

"You can't be more pessimistic than I," Senator Thomas replied. "My hopes are down to zero. It does give me pleasure, however, to be in receipt of numerous letters from ex-service men, and even from several organizations of ex-service men, declaring their desire to save the American people from this imposition in spite of the position of the American Legion as a whole."

Yes — we all hear a great deal about "Acid-Mouth" nowadays, because it is believed to be the chief cause of tooth decay.

Harmful acids are not so apparent in a mouth where the saliva functions normally. The composition of saliva is such that it seems to neutralize any undue acidity and to keep the teeth and oral cavity thoroughly cleansed.

I DON'T want any man in this town to buy a pair of Emerson Shoes unless he is convinced that he is getting more for his money in service, style and quality in an Emerson Shoe than he can get in any other make of shoes.

I invite comparisons. I have visited many stores and made a close study of shoe values.

When I say that Emerson values this season are the best on the market I know whereof I speak.

At present prices it will pay you too, to look around and compare values.

Consider our showing of over 100 different models.

Consider our reputation for fine shoe making that has been established over 40 years.

Consider our policy of stamping the retail price based on actual factory cost on the sole of every shoe in our store and the protection that gives you against unfair or inflated prices.

Consider all these important facts and then visit our store and prove to your own satisfaction that Emerson Shoes are the best purchase in this city today.

AN ABLE SALES EXECUTIVE WANTED

A CLIENT of ours has an opening in its organization for a man of merchandising experience which, in our opinion, is unusual.

This Company manufactures a calculating machine, under patent owned by the United States Government. The Company is young, its officers men of unquestioned integrity and capability, its product has back of it 15 years of successful use in every country in the world, and its merchandising program for subsequent sales in this country is being very critically planned.

The President of this Company wants a man to work actively with him in the growth of this business. First, this man must be a mature salesman, and if he is he will know the relationship of advertising—of the active cooperation of a company's branch offices—and of predetermined plans and objectives of this Company's program of sale. Actual experience in the adding or calculating machine field would best equip this man for our work.

The plan is to make the right man an officer, and later give him a stock interest. The salary to start will be generous.

An appointment can be made for an interview by telephoning Murray Hill 3847 (this is the office of our client), or by letter to F. N. Crowther, Room 1119, 25 W. 43rd St., New York City.

FLEET MESSAGE DUE TOMORROW

Times Wireless Will Carry Secretary Daniels's Voice to City.

RADIO DETAILS ARE READY

Daily Concert of Marine Band of Flagship to be Conveyed.

The first announcement of the arrival of the Atlantic Fleet off Quarantine tomorrow morning will be made by Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, speaking from the flagship Pennsylvania by wireless telephone to people in Times Square through THE NEW YORK TIMES radio receiving station on the roof of the Times Building. Amplifying devices will make his voice heard above traffic noises for almost a block, navy wireless experts predict.

A similar experiment was conducted by the navy successfully on the Pacific Coast a few months ago, and Saturday's demonstration of the radio phone is said to be the first attempted on the Atlantic coast from the deck of a battleship to city crowds.

Some local interference may be encountered through the activities of wireless plants on ships off the coast, but the Brooklyn Navy Yard radio plant intends sending out a request for a few moments' silence just before Secretary Daniels begins his speech on the deck of Admiral Wilson's flagship. Otherwise Mr. Daniels's words would be mingled with a jumble of dots and dashes and other wireless telephone conversations caught by THE TIMES receiving station.

Announcement of the time of Mr. Daniels's wireless telephone speech will be made in tomorrow's TIMES, although it is believed he will conduct the experiment in the neighborhood of 10 A. M.

During the two weeks the Atlantic Fleet is anchored in the North River the daily concerts by the Marine Band on board the Pennsylvania will be reproduced in Times Square through the navy "magnavox" attached to THE TIMES radio receiving station. Two concerts generally are held on shipboard, one just before noon mess and the other just before sunset and the salute to the colors.

Numbering with smaller craft more than fifty vessels, the Atlantic Fleet, returning from winter manoeuvres in the Caribbean, is due to arrive off Riverside Drive shortly before noon tomorrow. Daily shore leave will be given to about one-half of the fleet's personnel at a time. The complement of the fleet consists of 700 officers, including four rear admirals and 30,000 enlisted men, including sailors and marines. The fleet will anchor in the North River, extending in line from abreast of Fifty-ninth Street to Yonkers.

BROOKLYN LINES DENY $3,000,000 STOCK SALE

Testimony of City Accounts Official Attacked by Vice President Porter.

H. Hobart Porter, Vice President and General Manager of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, last night denied statements before the Board of Estimate on Wednesday by Wood D. Loudoun, Deputy Commissioner of Accounts, that the company had increased its capital from $9,000,000 to $12,000,000 and sold the $3,000,000. He also said that partly-paid-for stock had earned dividends at par.

A statement by Mr. Porter said, in part:

"The books of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company show that the company is capitalized for $18,000,000, divided into $6,000,000 bonds and $12,000,000 of stock. The books show further that all of this, except a stock dividend of $750,000 in 1865, was paid for by the bondholders and shareholders, dollar for dollar, at par. Six million dollars was paid in cash in 1894.

"Mr. Loudoun testified that the Brooklyn City Railroad Company has accumulated something over $300,000 for the purpose of paying a dividend for the first quarter of 1920. No dividend was paid for the quarter ending October 15, 1919, and no dividend has been paid since, and no dividend will be paid during 1920, or for years to come, unless the company is relieved from its present situation

"The company is not paying interest on it full bonded debt of $6,000,000. A little less than $2,000,000 of its first mortgage bonds are in a guaranty fund claimed by the Brooklyn City Company and on these bonds it is not paying interest. It will pay interest on a little over $4,000,000 bonded debt, say $200,000 a year."

MID-VICTORIAN DEFIES STORE GIRLS' STRIKE

"Old John" Lewis Wins Point in Public Opinion on Wages of His London Employes.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 29.—John Lewis, the 84-year-old dry goods merchant of Oxford Street, whose employees are out on strike, broke silence yesterday to the extent of publishing a statement showing that teh Industrial Arbitration Board recently gave a decision upholding his position in regard to wages. Lewis asserts on that the "score" made by the strikers went beyond the standard rates in other establishments.

"Old John," as his employees call him, scored a strong point in public opinion, but the strikers and some newspapers which are championing them are seeking to confuse the issues by describing Lewis as a mid-Victorian who refuses to recognise that "the world do move."

The Evening News, for instance, says, "Lewis is an anachronism as the head of a big business today, and ignores the advances made in the status and conditions of labor in recent years. He still lives in the fifties and is superbly defiant of modern labor movements."

The same paper admits that "despite his 84 years, 'Old John,' is vigorous both mentally and physically, and there is something to admire in his valiant stand against attempted inroads on his autocracy."

The leader of the girl strikers is Hilda Canham, who is described as "a grey-eyed, soft voiced little girl, possessing any amount of grit."

Financing of Bonus Program by Retroactive Taxes Condemned as Unsound.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 29.—Delay in concluding a treaty of peace, for either individual or political reasons, was characterized as "a crime against civilization," in resolutions adopted today by the Executive Council, American Bankers' Association.

The bankers declared that the future well-being of the United States, as well as the welfare of the world, depended on the resumption, with all possible speed, of peace-time conditions, which could not be accomplished until terms of the treaty had been agreed upon.

The association's attitude toward labor was described as being "a fair return for services rendered," but it was asserted that through present tactics "labor, in effect, is striking at itself and not at capital."

Legislation was urged that would prevent a well-organized minority from interfering with the rights of the majority, profiteering being denounced as "an expression of a selfish minority that must be sternly checked."

The financing of the soldier relief program by retroactive taxes was declared unsound, in the opinion of the council, which recommend that payments to veterans should be spread over a period of two to ten years.

Substitution of a specially devised sales tax to take the place of the present excess profits tax and early appointment of new members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, so that railroad relief might be quickly provided under the Esch bill, were among other resolutions adopted.

In an address during the day, Francis H. Sisson of New York asserted that "America must not be prevented from taking her rightful position as a world nation by little Americans, narrow-visioned men or peanut politicians."

Mr. Sisson asserted that, despite popular demand for a national merchant marine, it was impossible of creation under the present Seaman's act. Enlarged foreign trade, he said, also was impossible without greater governmental encouragement in the way of trade information and adequate protection of American money invested abroad.

America's industrial life, he told the bankers, cannot reach its full development without a more public spirited labor.

this strike and it was informed of the decision to strike only two days after it was made. Today the situation is being discussed and in view of the fact that the General Federation and the main body of the workers are against such a strike it is almost certain that it will not be of a general nature.

The extremists who have for the moment captured the leadership of the Railroad Workers' Union have the support of actually less than a third of the workers and their action in declaring a strike without consulting the General Federation, which includes the dockers, miners and transport workers, has antagonized the latter. M. Le Troequer, Minister of Public Works, has meanwhile issued this appeal to the railroad men:

"The life of the country must not be suspended. Railroad workers, whose devotion and patriotism have been so well manifested in even graver circumstances, have too great a consciousness of their duty not to remain at their posts without faltering on May Day, as on other days. They know that it is not a professional question which is at issue, and they will not listen to the disorder mongers who wish to trouble by civil discord the peace of victory. I count on you, workers, and you can count on the public powers that the liberty of labor will be assured."

The main divergence between the railroad men's leaders and the other May Day strikes is that the former are seeking a political end, while the main body wishes only a manifestation of syndicalist solidarity. One of the humors of the stuation is the number of opposing posters which have appeared in the streets, urging workers to strike and not to strike. While so different in their object, they are nearly all alike in their violence of language. One issued by the Christian Confederation of Workers has a kind of despairing note:

"Nationalization realized, what will happen?" it asks. "The State, the master of everything, will replace the masters. The citizens, master of nothing, will replace the slaves. That is all."

Another poster, of an opposite point of view, says:

"Don't go to work on May Day. Who doesn't produce ought not to eat."

The one really certain thing about what will happen is that most good Parisians will spend most of the day at home.

Rail Strike Continues.

PARIS, April 29 (Associated Press)—A general strike of French labor was called today, to take effect at midnight, May 1. The call was decided on by the General Federation of Labor of France when it found its hand had been forced by the action of the Railway Federation in calling a general railway strike for May Day. Thus, against what is declared to be the will and the judgment of the important labor leaders, a decisive contest between organized labor and the Government seems about to be fought out.

The railway men's action was the prevailing argument in the two days' acrimonious discussion which preceded the general strike decision and the example finally won over the moderates, whose inclination had been to postpone the "revolutionary" struggle.

An official statement issued by the Labor Federation this evening says:

"The railroad men engaged in the battle with the purpose of gaining for the people possession of the railroads in order to ensure their exploitation in the interest of all, to remedy the present disorganization, decrease the cost of living and avoid the famine that menaces the country."

The Railroad Men's Federation declares it has been forced to enter into the fight by the failure of the authorities to respect the agreement entered into on March 1 with the Federation at the time the last railroad strike was settled, and by the failure of the Government and railroad companies to bring into the transportation systems indispensable transformations necessitated by the general public interests.

The General Federation asks the Government to face the responsibility for a situation which it declares the workmen's organization did not create. Under the circumstances, the statement adds, the Federation demands of its adherents absolute obedience to discipline and also demands solidarity.

BRITISH RAIL CLERKS MAY STRIKE MONDAY

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 29.—Trouble is again threatened on the British railways. Owing to a delay in the payment of arrears instructions have been issued by the Railway Clerks' Association to all branches and members to stand ready for a strike on Monday failing a satisfactory reply from the companies on Saturday.

Following the example of "vigilance committees" at Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow and Carlisle, the London Council of the National Union of Railwaymen have announced that from next Saturday all railwaymen in the London area shall strictly observe and carry out the rules and regulations of the railway companies until such time as their demand for an advance of £ per week has been conceded in full.

This action, which will inevitably result in confusion and delay, is in direct defiance of the Executive Committee of the London Council, which represents 50,000 men, and the effect of a rigid "working to rule" can be imagined from the fact that the railway men's book of rules runs to nearly 300 pages. If carried out literally the result would be chaos. The opportunities for delay would be unending and no timetable could be worked successfully.

ITALIANS WILL STOP WORK.

Government Will Be Forced to Run Indispensable Trains.

ROME, April 29.—According to reports from all the provinces May Day will be celebrated by a complete cessation of work, including the employes on transport lines.

The Italian railways have decided to have an entire holiday, which will compel the Government to take extraordinary measures to carry on a limited, indispensable service. No serious trouble is expected.

FRENCH FIND POTASH TO PAY WAR DEBTS

Hope to Sell Vast Deposits in Morocco to American Interests.

GOVERNMENT TAKES THEM

Engineer Estimates Their Value at Thousand Billion Francs at Present Prices.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 29.—The French Government may offer to sell America phosphates which have been discovered in great quantity in Morocco to the end of reducing the French debt to the United States and at the same time better French exchange. The French hope, if the phosphate mines fulfill their promise, to replace South America to a large extent as the source of supply for the United States.

The announcement of the discovery of vast potash deposits in the French protectorate has aroused great interest. In an article which the Matin will publish tomorrow Victor Cambon, the engineer who explored the deposits for the French Government, estimates their value at one thousand billion francs, or twenty times what Germany is expect to pay France in war indemnity.

"To call these deposits formidable is not excessive," says M. Cambon. "The first discoveries were made in 1914 at several points in the region of El Borouda. In 1918 a survey showed that there was one single deposit 70 kilometres in length and from 5 to 36 kilometres wide. There is in all without doubt several dozen billions of tons of phosphates which at the present price, 80 to 100 francs a ton, represents a fortune of more than a thousand billion francs, that is, a greater value than all the coal of the Ruhr basin.

"Purely of mineral, if absolute, its strength in lime phosphate is the highest in the world—75 to 80 per cent. There is great facility of exploitation. There will be built a railroad 150 kilometers long, which can be constructed without great difficulty. The only important task is the creation of a port which can take care of 5,000,000 tons yearly.

"France possesses in Morocco the greatest riches of the old continent. If she knows how to develop these deposits she is assured of controlling the industry in Europe, other deposits upon the Continent being insignificant. Importation from America will cease and our exchange will turn about."

Chicago Haircuts Now Cost 75 Cents

CHICAGO, April 29.—Haircuts in at least eleven Chicago barber shops will cost 75 cents after Monday as a part of a new scale for journeymen barbers, it was announced today. Some master barbers said "a higher price would mean fewer haircuts," and were undecided whether to post an increased charge.

JOURNAL GOES TO 3 CENTS.

Says Paper Cost Forced Increase or Reduction in Quality.

The New York Evening Journal advanced its price from 2 cents to 3 on Wednesday.

The increase is explained in an announcement in The Journal as follows:

"A few months ago print paper was selling for 2½ cents a pound. Today it is selling as high as 12½ cents a pound. With the great increase in cost of materials and machinery, with the increased pay for labor and the increased profits for dealers—which increase these valuable elements of the community not only demand but deserve—a publication is confronted with the necessity of either raising its rates or reducing its quality."

The Journal is the first afternoon newspaper in New York to sell for more than 2 cents since The Evening Post reduced its price from 3 cents to 2 some time ago.

St. Louis Newspaper Raises Price.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, April 29.—The St. Louis Globe-Democrat will announce tomorrow an increase in the price of its paper to 10 cents on Sunday and 3 cents on week days, effective Saturday. The increased cost of materials and advance in wages are given as the cause for the increase.

Paris Paper Up to 15 Centimes.

PARIS, April 29.—Newspaper proprietors of this city have decided unanimously to advance the price of dailies from 10 to 15 centimes, beginning May 1.

$282,500,000 TO GO FOR SOLDIERS' AID

Two-thirds of Sundry Civil Appropriations Is for Rehabilitation and Death Benefits.

BILL TOTALS $428,000,000

$1,528,994,402 Cut Made by House Committee from Department Estimates.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The last of the thirteen annual appropriation bills—the sundry civil measure carrying approximately a half billion dollars—was reported to the House today by the Appropriations Committee. With its passage next week, after action on the soldier relief legislation, the House will be in a position to begin three-day recesses on May 15, as originally planned by the leaders.

Representative Mondell, the Republican leader, in a statement today said that the total savings under final estimates on all appropriation bills amounted to $1,390,065,112, while the total cut from the original and supplemental estimates was $1,528,994,402.

The total amount carried by the sundry civil bill is $428,216,945, or $608,269,186 less than the original estimates. The committee thus cut more from the original estimates than it authorized.

The principal reduction resulted from elimination of $446,270,652 asked by the Shipping Board. The committee recommended that payments during 1921 for the completion of ships, payment of claims, for administrative purposes and maintenance and operation of vessels be limited to $15,000,000.

Approximately two-thirds of the total appropriations are for the treatment or rehabilitation of former service men. A total of $282,500,000 is appropriated, including $125,000,000 for payment of compensation for death or disability, $46,000,000 for medical and hospital treatment and $90,000,000 for vocatoinal rehabilitation of soldiers, sailors and marines. For the transportation or segregation of the bodies of American dead now overseas $21,500,000 is provided.

WIFE ASKS FOR COMMITTEE.

Would Take Control of $1,000,000 Estate from Dr. A. K. Hills.

Dr. Alfred Kimball Hills of 190 Riverside Drive, publisher of The Medical Times until he retired several years ago, was declared in the Supreme Court yesterday by alienists to be incompetent to manage his estate of nearly $1,000,000 because of complications after a stroke of apoplexy. His wife, Mrs. Jessie Norwell Hills, applied for a commission to determine his mental condition. He is 79 years old.

Dr. Hills has real estate worth more than $360,000, including a house at 129 West Eighty-first Street; valuable holdings in Pennsylvania and New Hampshire, and personal property worth $538,880. His income last year was $45,005. Justice Lydon appointed a committee to hear testimony.

California Farms to Ex-Service Men.

BERKELEY, Cal., April 29.—What was said by its originators to be the first land settlement in the United States actually to be turned over to former service men, was parceled out by the State Land Settlement Board yesterday, when thirty-seven received titles to farms in the Delhi land project in Mercede County. Three farms were disposed of to civilian applicants.

MOVE TO DISBAR MARGOLIS.

Court Overrules His Demurrer and Orders Trial to Proceed.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Judge John D. Schaefer overruled today the demurrer filed by counsel for Jacob Margolis to the charges of the Allegheny County Bar Association that Margolis is an anarchist and unfit to practice at the bar, and ordered the disbarment proceedings to go on.

"This entire proceeding is based on mob action," counsel for Margolis told the court. "This is the vilest proceeding ever brought into this court. They are seeking to strip him of his office; they are seeking to prevent him from earning his livelihood. This petition does not charge any crime known to the law, and he has not violated any law against public or private morals. If your Honor had been at the meeting of the Bar Association you would have observed that it was a proceeding based on mob action."

Margolis was attorney for the committee to organize steel and iron workers, and his testimony before the Senate committee which investigated the strike is the basis of the movement to have him disbarred.

LIMIT SURETY BONDS TO $100,000 THEFTS

Two Companies to Write Revised Policy Despite Injury of $12,000,000 Losses.

EXCLUDE ACCOUNT JUGGLING

Assume No Liability if Employes Defraud Brokers by Dealing Under Fictitious Names.

While the Association of Stock Exchange Firms was carrying forward its organization of a surety company of its own, the two largest fidelity insurance companies in the city yesterday announced that, though they would continue to insure brokerage concerns despite recent losses of Liberty bonds and other securities estimated as high as $12,000,000, they would give protection against thefts under a policy radically different from the old. Under the new plan the limit of protection will be $100,000.

The National Surety Company and the American Surety Company are working out a new form of basic brokers' policy. To this blanket policy will be attached riders granting wider coverage for those who desire it, each rider carrying with it an extra premium. It is expected the new system will go into effect about May 15.

Clerks Barred from Dealing.

The introduction of the new policy will be marked by a withdrawal of the insurance companies from the writing of protection against some forms of dishonesty from which brokers have suffered, particularly the carrying of unauthorized speculative accounts by their own employes under fictitious names.

Speaking of assertions that large losses by theft were due to carelessness of brokers or to police laxity, Joel Rathbone of the National Surety Company said:

"In brokers' offices, as it is in other offices at present, there is an unusual turnover in clerks. New clerks are not so experienced or skilled as old clerks, and that leads to carelessness in office management, which in turn is a temptation to dishonesty.

"More than 45 per cent. of the losses have been what we call 'losses of securities in transit'—these defections by messengers and others have been the largest single item of loss. Another important element has been unauthorized trading in fictitious accounts by employes in their own offices. That probably is a hazard that is going to be scrutinized very carefully by surety companies in the future. I know of one case of a clerk in a broker's office who induced his brother-in-law to open what was a legitimate account. The margin clerk did not report losses in the account to the supervising partner, and by the time the auditor got there there was a loss of $100,000.

Brokers Must Watch Accounts.

"Surety companies are beginning to think that losses of that sort do not constitute an insurable hazard, that they are rather a question of office management, bookkeeping, auditing and the like, which ought to be controlled by the office system. Losses of that sort grow so rapidly, particularly in a falling market, that we feel it devolves upon the offices themselves to prevent them."

The American Surety Company issued this statement yesterday:

"The American Surety Company has not discontinued the issuance of brokers' bonds. It has, however, decided to restrict its liability under such bonds to losses of tangible property resulting from larceny, embezzlement, theft, burglary, holdup or other criminal act while the property is on the premises of the broker, or in transit within twenty miles of his office, or on deposit anywhere in the United States for conversion.

"This company will not continue to assume liability for losses due to mysterious, unexplained disappearance, of securities, nor for trading losses, by which is meant, losses occasioned by employes who use the office machinery of their employers to conduct speculative accounts for themselves, usually in fictitious names.

"It is our belief that trading losses of this character and losses due to mysterious disappearance are uninsurable hazards at any obtainable premium and that brokers can only safeguard themselves against such losses by vigilance and the adoption of sound office methods. Our new bond will afford brokers abundant protection against losses by theft of every kind."

The surety company which is being formed by the association of Stock Exchange firms will be incorporated in a few days. Stock Exchange houses will have the right to subscribe, and the largest allotment is $25,000. The present capital and surplus of $600,000 will permit writing of only a $60,000 bond, but other surety companies will co-operate to make the protection $100,000.

ADOPTS 3 FRENCH ORPHANS.

National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild Takes Action.

At the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild at the home of Mrs. James Roosevelt, 47 East Sixty-fifth Street, yesterday afternoon, three little war orphans were adopted by as many branches of the guild, the Pleasantville, Forest Hills and the New York City. These are children of St. Quentin, which has been adopted as a whole by the National Guild which gives aid along its special lines.

"France does not want charity," said Mrs. John Wood Stewart, the founder and President of the guild, who presided. "She only wants to be helped to help herself and you could not pauperize any one by giving them plants, flowers and fruit."

Mrs. Katharine Paul, Executive Secretary, recently returned from France in her report told of the cultivation of plots of land outside the city and the use of seeds sent by the guild, the yards of the houses of St. Quentin being so filled with debris from the destroyed buildings it is impossible to use them. A letter from the Mayor of St. Quentin was read, thanking the guild and telling of the great need of help as many refugees, most of them women and old people, are returning.

TELLS OF GIRL'S DEATH.

Miss Kaplan Says Miss Goldstein Was Pushed in Front of Train.

Miss Mildred Kaplan of Coney Island appeared before Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner, in his investigation yesterday of the death of Miss Jessie Goldstein of 2,834 West Thirtieth Street, Coney Island, and corroborated the story Miss Goldstein was said to have told members of her family and a policeman to the effect that she was pushed in front of a subway train in the Canal Street station of the Broadway subway a week ago today. Women in the crowd around her cried, "She was pushed," said Miss Kaplan. Two other witnesses, who gave their names to the conductor, have not appeared. One subpoena, issued for William Fitzgibbons of 2,410 Palmetto Street, Brooklyn, was returned, the address being incorrect. Henry Weiss of 219 South First Street, Brooklyn, also failed to appear.

Dr. Horst H. Leeds of St. Vincent's Hospital, who responded to the ambulance call, told Dr. Norris he had asked Miss Goldstein if she had attempted suicide, and she assured him she had not.

Rubenstein Club to Breakfast.

The Thirty-third annual White Breakfast of the Rubinstein Club will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria tomorrow. Mrs. William Chapman, President of the club, has the affair in charge.

Sturtevant
PUTS AIR TO WORK

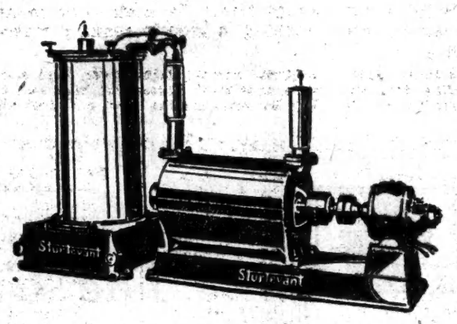
Model No. 5
Portable Vacuum Cleaner



Horizontal Stationary Vacuum Cleaner

Common sense says that a tack-hammer shouldn't be used to pull nails or spikes. It isn't built to do it, that's all. No more can you expect the vacuum cleaner used in private homes, clubs, schools, and churches to do the cleaning work in mills and factories. In other words, every job calls for vacuum-cleaning equipment designed and built for the work it must do.

Sturtevant builds vacuum cleaners for every building—for private residences, for clubs, and public buildings. Sturtevant puts vacuum cleaning on the engineering basis of work to be done. If it's a factory or mill, with its heavy dust, lint and litter, Sturtevant builds a type and size to handle the work. Each installation is an individual engineering problem, and is treated as such.

Remember, the B. F. Sturtevant Company's vacuum cleaner department consists of engineers, specialists in this particular line. At their command are three generations of engineering and manufacturing experience in building, applying, and installing apparatus that puts air to work.

To find out more about Sturtevant Vacuum Cleaners for mills, factories, dwellings, and public buildings, telephone or write to the district office listed below. A Sturtevant representative, an engineer versed in vacuum-cleaning problems, will call. He will explain the importance of securing the type and size of vacuum cleaner necessary for your work.

When You Business Men asked—

JUST twenty years ago a group of business men came to New York University and asked that a school be provided to prepare men for the profession of accountancy. The University responded. Thus in 1900 was born the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance.

Almost immediately after its opening came demands for training in other business fields—management, transportation, advertising, journalism—and to each of these demands the University responded. Today its list of courses is an index of the commercial and financial activities of New York. And today that School has an enrollment of 5751 students in its 335 classes.

In all this, New York University has merely repeated her own history. From the very beginning in 1831 she has blazed trails—not at random, but wherever the needs of New York directed. The Law School in 1835, the Medical College in 1841, the School of Engineering in 1855—all these carried out the plan of the founders for a University that should provide education "in abundant variety."

The Veterinary College in 1857 was the first of its kind in America and is still protecting the food supply of New York. The School of Pedagogy, established in 1890, was likewise the first University School for training teachers.

In all this pioneering work there has been one guiding principle:

New York's need—New York University's response.

And now New York University has a need. Her progress is checked by lack of funds. With her small endowment she cannot continue the work she has been doing. So she asks the help of New York business men.

New York University needs $6,450,000. Will New York respond?

FORESEE QUICK END OF MAY RENT REVOLT

Police in Bronx Are Ready to Quell Any Disturbances There Tomorrow.

CAMP MERRITT FOR EVICTED

Committee Seeks Cantonment for New Jersey's Homeless—Salvation Army May Provide Tents Here.

Reports reaching the office of Arthur J. W. Hilly, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering, indicated yesterday that the proposed rent strike of tenants in East New York and the Bronx, planned for tomorrow, May 1, would not even get a good start. Department of Justice agents are closely watching persons suspected of urging tenants to refuse to pay their rent.

Leo K. Mayer, counsel to the committee, said that tenants were still being enrolled in a rent strike organization, and that about $20,000 had been collected. Mr. Hilly said he was prepared to go before the Bronx County Grand Jury today and give them all the information in his possession. Assistant District Attorney C. R. McLaughlin said the police in the Bronx would be ready to cope with any disturbances tomorrow, but that he did not believe there would be any trouble.

Charles Morris, President of the Van Owners' Association, said the demands of the employes for an increase of $5 a week will be considered at a meeting of the association, to be held tonight at 67 West 125th Street.

Expect 25,000 Evictions.

City marshals estimate that from 25,000 to 30,000 eviction proceedings will be inaugurated in the next few days. It was reported that the "schleppers," employed by the marshals to remove furniture of evicted families, demand $5 a room instead of $15 an apartment.

Colonel W. A. McIntyre of the Salvation Army telegraphed yesterday to Senator J. W. Wadsworth urging favorable action on the measure which would authorize municipalities to obtain tentage from military authorities to provide shelter in emergency. Colonel McIntyre said the Salvation Army was prepared to give evicted families shelter on its own grounds if tents could be obtained.

It was announced yesterday that plans were under way to take over the military buildings at Camp Merritt, near Tenafly, N. J., for families made homeless in New Jersey cities. John F. Gregory of the West New York Committee on Rent Profiteering said that efforts were being made to induce the Sage Foundation to assist by an appropriation of $1,500,000.

Would Renew Lease.

The buildings have been sold to a wrecking company and the Government's lease expires on June 1. Unless the lease is renewed the wrecking company will begin removing the buildings on June 1. The Government is being urged to renew the lease.

Isaac Katz of 783 Broadway, owner of an apartment house at 937 St. Nicholas Avenue, was summoned before Magistrate Marsh in Washington Heights Court yesterday after tenants had accused him of failing to provide adequate hot water and telephone service. Twenty-one tenants of 36 East 118th Street complained yesterday to Magistrate Corrigan in Harlem Court that Mrs. Helen Fuld, the owner of 28 East 128th Street, had kept no janitor in the house, and that the building was in an unsanitary condition. A tenement house inspector said the complaints were justified.

A landlord who questioned the right of tenants to meet in the Newark City Hall because "taxpayers" built the structure was handled roughly yesterday by the tenants before he was rescued by the police.

Declaimers Win Columbia Medals.

The annual contest for the Curtis medals given for excellence in declamation at Columbia University was held last night. The first prize was awarded to Archie O. Dawson, the second prize to Julius Sherwin. The judges were Professor Samuel M. Lindsay, Professor Henry S. Munro, and George McAneny.

Plan Benefit for Foreign Born.

Arrangements for a theatrical entertainment at the Selwyn Theatre for the benefit of the League of Foreign Born Citizens were discussed at a meeting at Mrs. Vincent Astor's residence last evening. The performance, at which many prominent theatrical and vaudeville stars will appear, will be held at the Selwyn Theatre, Sunday, Oct. 10.

HOPE TO END PIER STRIKE.

Committee Begins Conference with Both Sides in Controversy.

The committee suggested by Assistant Attorney General C. B. Ames as a final effort to end the strike of the International Longshoremen's Association was appointed yesterday. The members are Alfred E. Marling, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the State; William Fellowes Morgan, President of the Merchants' Association; J. Sherlock Davis, President of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce; Lee Kohns, President of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation; H. Pushae Williams, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens, and James Brackenridge, President of the Bronx Board of Trade.

The committee met at the Merchants' Association yesterday to confer with T. V. O'Connor, President of the International Longshoremen's Union, and other union officials. Members said that the conferences created hope that the strike would be ended soon.

Boys' Week

"Come to Our Parade"

TO-MORROW, Saturday, we, the Boys of New York, are going to have a great big parade down Fifth Avenue all to ourselves. It's the first gun fired for Boys' Week, May 1st-8th, an event which the Rotary Club of New York, co-operating with all other organizations interested in boys, has been working for for months.

It's going to be a wonderful parade. Fifty brass bands, all boys. Thousands and thousands of marchers, all boys. Boys of every nationality and every color, rigged out in regalia with floats and everything.

It's being given in the hope of making us better sons, better husbands and better citizens of the United States when we grow up.

So if you love boys—and if you love your country, show it by coming to our parade at 2 P. M. Saturday, any place on Fifth Avenue between 59th Street and Washington Square. My 75,000 pals and I want to make it a ringer, and we need you to shout. Won't you come, please?

WANTS PRINCIPAL OUT ON KISSING TALE

Father of Brooklyn Girl Demands His Resignation, Dr. Mordorf Admits.

STIRRING INTERVIEW TOLD

Mother Alludes to "Sound Thrashing," but Teacher Refers to His Counsel.

Dr. Oliver C. Mordorf, principal of Public School 139, Cortelyou Road and East Thirteenth Street, Brooklyn, admitted yesterday receiving a letter from Robert Gray, a lawyer, of 49 Cedar Street, Manhattan, demanding that he tender his resignation to the Board of Education by May 5. The letter was sent following a scene in the principal's office in which he was accused of kissing and hugging Mary Elizabeth Woolsey, 13 years old, of 280 East Sixteenth Street, Flatbush, daughter of Stephen Woolsey, a butter and egg merchant at 28 Washington Market. Gray is counsel for Woolsey.

Jesse Woolsey, the girl's uncle, who was in Dr. Mordorf's office during the interview, said the principal had admitted kissing the little girl. In the office at the time, he said, were Mr. and Mrs. Woolsey, four teachers and a policeman.

"At first Dr. Mordorf said he would resign," declared the uncle. "If he does not resign my brother will take legal action against him." He denied that his brother thrashed the principal until he begged for mercy. In the version of the interview given by the girl's mother she said her husband "thrashed Dr. Mordorf soundly."

Dr. Mordorf declined to make any statement further than to admit receiving the demand for his resignation from Stephen Woolsey's lawyer. He referred inquiries to his attorney, Denis R. O'Brien, 165 Broadway. Later, at Dr. Mordorf's home, 56 Rugby Road, it was said that Mr. O'Brien was expected for a conference and that if there was any statement to be given out it would be made today.

Both O'Brien and Gray declined to discuss the case. O'Brien said that Dr. Mordorf had not resigned, that "he was at school today, will be there tomorrow and Monday and for a long time after that." The girl's father could not be seen. Jesse Woolsey, who is associated in business with his brother, said there was no desire to make trouble for the principal and that the family "resented the notoriety attending the case. His brother, he said, had another daughter attending the same school, and desired nothing more than to have the principal resign quietly.

Dr. Mordorf entered the school system in September, 1901. He is married and has a married daughter. If he remains in the school service four months longer he will be eligible to retire on a pension. He and his family have been active in the work of St. Mark's M. E. Church in Flatbush. His annual salary is $3,500.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE FREED.

Samuel Cohen Exonerated on Charge of Perjury in Divorce Suit.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 28.—Samuel Cohen, a private detective of Manhattan, who was indicted by the Westchester County Grand Jury on charges of perjury in connection with the testimony in the divorce action of Mrs. Florence Cummings against her husband, Michael Cummings of Humboldt Street, Brooklyn, was exonerated today by County Judge Young when he dismissed the charge against Cohen after some testimony had been taken.

Cummings admitted certain acts which developed in his wife's divorce suit, and said he had committed perjury because he did not think they would "get the goods on him." The divorce action was discontinued.

that she knew so many persons in society who would not like to see her in a compromising position on the stage.

This letter brought indignant protests from English and American theatrical people. Miss Gertrude Elliot described it as an illogical outburst. David Belasco said that he had never seen snobbery on the stage. Mrs. Patrick Campbell's comment was: "What twaddle!"

Gilbert Miller held that there were as many successful English actresses in America as successful American actresses in England. In none of the opinions expressed was anything said decrying the talent of the American actresses appearing in London.

Tonight's scene, therefore, it is thought, the galleryites' method of showing disapproval of Cochran's views on English actresses. The actress who was not emotional enough for Cochran was Madge Titheradge.

One paper remarks that two of Cochran's recent revue productions in which a foreign actress played a leading part were modified on the censor's representations because of the suggestiveness of some portions.

LONDON, Friday, April 30 (by Associated Press.)—The morning newspapers indignantly denounce as a disgraceful and amazing affair the disturbance at the Garrick Theatre, which they describe at great length.

They declare that the scene was unprecedented since the notorious riots in Covent Garden Theater in 1809 in connection with the prices charged for seats.

In a joint letter to The Times, Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, Cyril Maude, Gerald Du Maurier, and other noted theatrical men, assure Miss Taylor that "the esteem and affection of the London public toward her are equal to the feeling held for her in the United States."

Manager Cochrane says he will offer a reward of £500 for the discovery of the organizer of the disturbance.

As proof that the demonstration was an organized one, the newspapers say a number of packages of ill-smelling compounds were thrown toward the stage. Most of these, however, fell in the audience.

WOMEN LOSE WEIGHT FAST.

Average Reduction of 3.9 Pounds in Chicago Class in a Week.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Dr. John Dill Robertson's class for fat women lost an average of 3.9 pounds in the first week of their sixty-day experiment in reducing.

The average weight of the class of 24 had dropped from 201.66 to 197.76 when Health Commissioner Robertson weighed them today. Mrs. Nellie Leonard, who last week tipped the scales at 323 pounds, led all the rest with a loss of an even eight pounds in seven days. One lost six and one half pounds, one six pounds and the losses of the others ranged down to a single pound.

Inspired by the success of the first class, a second group of sixteen ranging in weight from 240½ down to 146 entered the contest this morning.

Nearly 200 Chicago fat people are now entered in reducing contests, three newspapers having started classes in competition with those conducted by the Health Commissioner.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Elsie Ferguson will close her engagement in "Sacred and Profane Love," at the Morosco, at the end of next week. Miss Ferguson will go to Japan for the Summer.

Donald Brian will withdraw from the cast of "Buddies," at the Selwyn, tomorrow night, and will return to the company in August in Chicago. In the interim his role will be played by Charles King.

Billy B. Van and James J. Corbett will make their first appearance tonight in "What's in a Name?" at the Lyric.

"Scrambled Wives," by Martha M. Stanley and Adelaide Matthews, authors of "Nightie Night," will be produced in Atlantic City by Adolph Klauber late next month. Jane Grey will have one of the leading roles.

Evelyn Nesbit, in a revue, will head the bill at the Palace next week.

Shep Camp has been engaged for the Shuberts' new musical production, "Page Mr. Cupid."

Lionel Barrymore's engagement at the Elliott in "The Letter of the Law" will close at the end of next week.

THE ILLUSORY PRIMARY.

In 1916, when, in a number of States the Presidential primary was little more than a joke or a fraud, there was a great deal of talk about reforming it in preparation for 1920. Nothing was done. It remains an expensive luxury, largely useless as an expression of party opinion even in States where party integrity is supposed to be maintained under it. In States of laxer primary laws it hospitably permits the opponents of a political party to have a hand in and, it may be, to decide the selection of the delegates who are to nominate its candidate for President.

Everywhere it is the voice of a minority of the party. In some States it does not possess even that authority, but the will of all sorts of oppositions that invade it. In Nebraska Mr. BRYAN is permitted to continue his favorite task of promoting Democratic harmony because, outside of the large towns, it is the privilege of Republican voters to go into the Democratic primaries. In Montana, by a trick of the last moment, a list of Republican delegates whose surnames conveniently begin with the early letters of the alphabet, so as to give them first place on the ticket, includes Socialists and Farmer-Laborites. Wherever the Non-Partisan League is strong it plumps solidly into the primary of the party which it most desires to injure or control. Even the great State of Ohio has a primary system so "liberal" that anybody seems able to vote in the primaries of a party other than his own. Politicians use the primary to foster candidates to whom they are opposed, for the sake of injuring candidates to whom they are likewise opposed, but whose strength alarms them. In some States palpably absurd candidates for President and Vice President have their opportunity of notoriety. Even in Oregon, whose people have sought, perhaps, more constantly and seriously than those of any other State to improve political machinery, there is absolutely no way to express the prevailing opinion of a party on great public questions, on the League of Nations, for instance. You can vote for a candidate, but not for a principle.

There is something exasperatingly unreal, as there is something potentially dangerous, in this farce of Presidential primaries. What sufficiently condemns it, however, is that it decides nothing. After all the time and money and effort expended, after the creation of animosities and irritations, it is clear that the primaries, this year, amount to very little and settle nothing. The National Conventions will have to do, on their own hook, the work of selecting their candidates. It may be said that this is what they ought to do; but what has been the use of the primaries? In each convention there will be delegates who never could have been elected if the principle of party integrity had been maintained. It is a reproach to the American political intelligence that so much of comedy, of trickery and of illusion should attach to what is supposed to be a consultation and indication of "the people's will." It has failed stupendously. It ought to be abolished.

POLAND IN THE UKRAINE.

The Polish Army is sweeping forward into the Ukraine "to free the soil from foreign invaders" and announces that it will remain only until an authoritative Ukrainian Government can take control. This is perhaps the strangest of many strange events in recent international politics, but there is method in it. The proclamation issued by President PILSUDSKI says that "together with the Poles "there are returning to the Ukraine "its heroic sons under SIMON PETLURA, who have found refuge in "Poland and help in the darkest days "for the Ukrainians."

SIMON PETLURA'S army has been the most important force in the Ukraine since the beginning of last year and has fought the Bolsheviki, DENIKIN and the Poles in turn. But the Bolsheviki, after the defeat of DENIKIN, held most of the Ukraine, while Eastern Galicia, dear to the Ukrainian nationalist, was strongly occupied by the Poles. PETLURA had to make a choice that most other leaders of newly established nationalities had to make a year or so ago—to take what he could get and hold on to it, or to keep on in a hopeless struggle for his maximum program.

PETLURA chose the more conservative course. The treaty which he lately signed with the Polish Government has not yet been published, but its substance seems to be that PETLURA, who for practical purposes is the Ukrainian Government at present, gives up his claim on Eastern Galicia, and in return the Poles promise to conquer Podolia, Volhynia and Kiev for him. If the Polish troops not only drive the Bolsheviki out but keep them out, this will make a very respectable Ukrainian State and PETLURA may be expected to be grateful. On the other hand, the Poles will not only be freed from some worries as to Eastern Galicia, but will have a buffer State which will protect their southeastern frontier against Bolshevist Russia, and which in its own interest will have to be on good terms with Poland. The new Ukraine will be one of the most important parts of the Polish cordon sanitaire which is to keep Bolshevist Russia at a distance.

The Poles can probably take Kiev, but if the Bolsheviki want it badly they will have a hard fight on their hands to hold it. If they do hold it, however, the new arrangement must be regarded as a brilliant diplomatic stroke. How well it will work depends largely on the willingness of the Ukrainians in Galicia to resign themselves to Polish rule, and equally upon the tact and wisdom of the Polish administration in that province.

MR. HOOVER'S VIEWS.

Without a single exception Mr. HOOVER'S attempts to define his position on public questions read like introductions to something he is about to say. Yet there is around all of them an atmosphere of saying something definitely. He is not a man to be suspected of evading any question, and therefore the only possible conclusion is that when he says nothing he really, sincerely believes that he has said something; that he is simply unable to be definite, positive, concrete, in discussing public questions, though he certainly thinks he is as definite as anybody.

This certain sincerity, together with the utter vagueness of the things he thinks he is saying, though it appears in every one of his public utterances, appears nowhere more strikingly than in his latest vain attempt to define himself in yesterday's Tribune. The only positive impression one can get from reading that statement is that Mr. HOOVER wants to bring about better conditions, that he does not believe in either radicalism or reaction, and that he thinks party platforms should be constructive, though in what way he does not say. He does, indeed, more strongly than ever repudiate Democratic support by speaking of "our party," meaning the Republican, and insisting on the necessity of "party government." But when that is said, all is said.

He is for the League of Nations "with proper reservations." General WOOD, Governor LOWDEN and other candidates have announced, so that no one can misunderstand them, that they are for the Lodge reservations; but what does the phrase "proper reservations" mean? Senator HITCHCOCK might be justified in asserting that it meant his. Mr. HOOVER assumes that profiteering will be denounced by all the conventions, but says that the steps to check it should be stated in the Republican platform. What steps? He does not say, nor even hint. He says that all the party platforms, even the Socialist, will agree in general terms on the main issues, such as economy, readjustment, reduction of the cost of living, &c., but the platform of "our party" must be explicit. Explicit, yes, but how? He is for "equality of opportunity." Is there any candidate who will say that he is against it? But how is it to be secured if we have it not, or maintained if we have it?

For the rest, Mr. HOOVER, striving with all his might and main to utter himself distinctly, fails to do so. There is "a necessity to command "faith of right solution of the problems that may confront us tomorrow." Certainly. "The whole mass "can progress in its moral, intellectual and physical standards only "through the progress of each individual." Even the Socialists, who are the very opposite of individualists, could say that without a tremor. There must be equal opportunity for "physical development and education "of the children of the poor and "better-to-do alike." Some of the other candidates have defined clearly what they mean by "physical development," but Mr. HOOVER may mean anything from compulsory military training to the present system in most of the public schools. The people "want programs, but "they want action to flow from "them"; they want "constructive common sense," they want "the development of the common will." What do these phrases mean?

THE CONFLICTING TRUST DECISIONS.

The Reading and the Steel Trust cases—both improperly so called, since both are holding corporations—are as nearly alike as litigated cases can be expected to be. The differences are immaterial in practical effect. On this single issue the Supreme Court has given conflicting decisions, 4 to 3, the majority being in both cases a minority of the court. Also, in both cases there were enough Justices not voting to have altered the decision if they had been of the same mind with the minority. Also, the two cases are alike in the fact that the court below in both cases was unanimous against the minority of the highest court. This is important for two reasons. The lower courts loyally follow the higher, taking the law from their superiors. Thus there are two unanimous courts against the divided Supreme Court, whose law was interpreted by the inferior Judges.

Decisions which do not decide confuse other courts, also lawyers, business men and every sort of business, and are not beneficial to the public welfare. At a time of labor unrest the unrest of capital is particularly unwelcome. Capital cannot possibly be at rest while the law specifically charges the Attorney General with functions resembling a Grand Jury's. For many years now the Attorney General has been attacking capitalist combinations with innuendoes that they are restrainers of trade, although there must be few who think that trade has been restrained in these days of maximum business, wages and profits. The experience of the Department of Justice has been that indictments have been easier to get than convictions. That is the reason why criminal prosecutions under this criminal statute are abandoned in favor of civil prosecutions, as is optional. There is no grievance in this, but the result is that prosecutions are converted from trials on the facts and merits of particular cases into trials of opinions as to the construction of the statute. That is to say, in civil cases under the Sherman law the trusts are tried first according to the opinions of the Attorney General as to the quality of the acts done in respect to conformity with the statute, and next according to the decisions of the courts. Whatever the finding, all such decisions apply to all cases arising under the statute, and not specifically to the immediate case. Every existing "trust" and all trusts which may hereafter be formed—reports say that another steel trust is now forming—are involved in the decisions affecting these two trusts. It is not too much to say that the economic and industrial future of the country is at stake.

MUCH TO CHOOSE FROM.

With the national conventions a few weeks away and the election of a President and members of Congress to follow after a strenuous campaign, the politicians in Washington cannot do enough for the veterans of the war, a term that includes soldiers who, through no fault of their own, did not see active service. What the politicians apparently fear is that their proposals in behalf of the beneficiaries may be inadequate and ungenerous, and that more will have to be offered to please the voters who must be conciliated.

To a cash bonus of $1.25 a day for each day of service, money advances to buy a farm or a home, vocational training and a plan of paid-up insurance have been added, the ex-service man to have his choice. Under the insurance plan the beneficiary who served 400 days would receive at the end of twenty years a policy of $1,857, payable in cash to him or his heirs. After three years he would be able to borrow $551 upon it. This might be called the maximum policy. There would be others for a less sum, according to length of service, all of them with a loan value after three years. An attractive offer, say the bonus drafters, to be preferred to the lump cash payment at the rate of $1.25 a day—in fact, the most attractive offer. There may be two opinions about that. Most of the soldiers and sailors will not care to wait three years to solicit a loan upon an insurance policy; they will elect to accept cash down and spend it to suit themselves.

It is plain to be seen that the insurance scheme was devised to placate those who failed to continue their premiums upon the original war insurance policies and allowed them to lapse. That plan was a liberal provision for the army and navy in lieu of post-war compensation and cumulative pensions. How vain the hope that there could be any avoidance of recurrent demands upon the Treasury! Of course, the expectation of the framers of the new policy is that the Government will not be called upon to distribute a large sum at once for cash bonuses, because so many beneficiaries will apply for the slower but in the end more remunerative paid-up policy with the privilege of obtaining a loan upon it. This is not a shrewd calculation, since the original insurance provision was never in great favor. What most of the ex-service men want is a lump sum of money as soon as they can draw it. Vocational training stands apart as a necessity and an honorable obligation, but it may be doubted if the prize of a farm or a city home glitters very much in the veteran's view, although included in the American Legion's bill of particulars.

It is easy enough to give the ex-service men a choice of five benefits, but members of the House are at their wits' ends to know how to raise the money to meet all claims and at the same time escape the righteous indignation of taxpayers and ultimate consumers.

WONDERS OF WIRELESS.

We have had some little experience of the amplified telephone during the Victory Loan campaign, when the voice of speakers was delivered through a system of overhead megaphones half a block and more from the rostrum. The experiment which is to be made in Times Square tomorrow morning is of far greater magnitude and significance.

As the Atlantic Fleet steams up the harbor, Secretary DANIELS, who is on the flagship Pennsylvania, will deliver an address to the people of New York, which will be transmitted by wireless to the Times Building. There in the second story facing north, a "magnavox" and receiving horn are being installed by wireless experts from the navy. It is hoped that this apparatus will make Mr. DANIELS'S address audible for at least a block, in spite of the noise of traffic. If the experiment is successful, the apparatus will be used on the following days to transmit the band concerts which are to be given on Admiral WILSON'S flagship as long as the fleet remains in the North River. The music on shipboard will be transmitted through the air and so amplified in the Times Building as to be audible throughout the major part of the square.

To gain these results an installment is necessary of unusual sensitiveness and power. In the two months during which the new Times radio station has been in operation, telephone conversations have been picked up from a distance of several hundred miles. The radius of the wireless telegraph is, of course, vastly greater. THE TIMES correspondent in Berlin has filed messages at Nauen which have been received by the Times Square Station many hours earlier than if sent over the usual routes of wireless and cable. In the case of other Continental and British centres, the advantage is, of course, as great. Even from Soviet Russia an occasional message is picked up, as also from Honolulu, which is more than five thousand miles in the opposite direction. And this is the world in which our lawmakers are clinging desperately to a supposed political and economic isolation!

A HOME FOR INDUSTRIAL ART.

A Co-operative Art Building, which for some time past has been discussed, is now assured. The site has been selected, the plans for reconstructing existing buildings have been made, the necessary money is coming in, and the "Art Centre, Incorporated," is an accomplished fact. The idea is to provide a headquarters for the various art societies professionally related to the industries, to give these societies a central place in which to exhibit their work, salesrooms to facilitate its sale, staff and organization rooms, and all the other arrangements of space that add to the convenience and economy of carrying on co-ordinated effort in any specific field of activity.

Such a building has been needed before, but never so urgently as now. For the first time in the history of America, art is widely recognised as an industrial asset, to be encouraged, to be sought, and to be bought, not only by connoisseurs and people of highly cultivated taste, but by manufacturers who must compete with others not merely in the quantity and soundness of their output, but in its attractiveness.

The importance of art to a city in certain salient ways often has been pointed out to the public with liberality of reference to the Pyramids and the Parthenon, St. Sophia and St. Mark's, and so on. It has been proclaimed that conspicuous monuments of art attract tourists and the trading that follows in the wake of tourists, and now we all know that when New York has become an effete city Europeans may be expected to throng to gaze upon the Woolworth Building.

The particular problem of America is the healthy growth of cities and the promotion of a pleasant and profitable intercourse between the buying and selling publics of this country and other countries. Art has much to do with this desirable condition of pleasantness and profit in the industries. There are very few things made by hand or by machine that are not the better and certainly the more salable for a bit of art in their form or color or decoration. Hence the great need to put art in a position to function effectively, and the construction of a clearing house and meeting place for the societies of artists engaged in designing our luxuries and in adding the luxury of beauty to our necessities is a necessary first step.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Disquieting Labor Conditions.

In other days it was the proud boast of American workmen in all the mechanic trades that they did more in a given time than their brothers in other lands and that they did it better. The first of these claims, however it may be as to the other, was true. Neither of them, apparently, would be true today, though nobody is making the contrary assertion that the American artisan works more slowly and not as well as his foreign competitor. On the contrary, it is the lament everywhere that, with all wages increased and some of them doubled, there has been an equal, or nearly equal, decrease in both the quantity and quality of production per man.

WESS WALDRON, writing in the May Century, reviews at length and in detail present labor conditions in Detroit, a city which, while hardly typical of all American towns, differs from them chiefly in that there the general tendencies of the day are illustrated to a greater extent than elsewhere.

At all of the great automobile plants visited by Mr. WALDRON he heard from the managers the same story—that they had no "labor troubles" in the ordinary sense of that phrase, but that they had many troubles with labor—troubles that were not cured or even alleviated by giving the men practically anything they demanded in the way of wages. Many of the men can, and do, come daily to work in their own automobiles, and that is only one of numerous evidences of their ability to spend, but the managers were unanimous in complaining that the workers are slow and careless, that they drift constantly from shop to shop, remaining nowhere long, and that "discipline" is now impossible because he who knows that he can get a new job for the asking at a dozen shops is not afraid of losing the job he has.

Contentment Is Not Achieved.

Whether or not the state of affairs described by Mr. WALDRON is as terrible and dangerous as he evidently thinks is a question to which different answers will be made, and there are, of course, two sides to the story—as he admits. In spite of their high wages and their automobiles, the men in the Detroit factories are not content, and the conclusion from what they say is that, if they work ill and half-heartedly, it is because the new conditions of production and the minute division of labor make the work uninteresting and even repulsive. The man whose work consists in the repetition of one small operation all day long gets the change he needs to save him from going mad by taking employment in another shop. Such migrations cut down efficiency, but the inclination to make them is at least comprehensible.

And in all the country around Detroit the farmers are unable to get labor for anything near what they can afford, or what they think they can afford, and Mr. WALDRON quotes them as saying that this year they will attempt to do only what they can do without the aid of hired hands. That means a cutting down of food supplies and higher prices, for reports of like intentions are coming from many parts of the country—from all parts where the manufacturing industries offer easier and better paid work than the farms do.

That, certainly, is a disquieting phenomenon, and—well, it justifies a renewal of the advice that those who can plant "war gardens" again would be well advised to get at it betimes. If they delay more than a few weeks the planting season will be past.

Imitation but Not Flattery.

That there is a great difference between being the first and being the second to do a given thing is a fact really known to everybody, but it is not always admitted—never, perhaps, by those whose habit it is to base their judgment on abstractions. The pacifists, for instance, when they see two nations, or two men, at war, condemn both for stupidity and brutality, and admit no difference between returning a blow and giving one—between beginning the use of poison gas in battle and resort to that abominable weapon in self-defense or reprisal.

Fortunately, most people are not pacifists, but can see that fighting is wrong only when it is for the attainment of a wrong or inadequate end.

Because of the general realization among us that the quality of an act depends on "when" about as much as on "what," nobody over here is going to be filled with rage because in the British Parliament this week a member suggested with a semblance of gravity that the House should pass a resolution expressing sympathy with the aspirations of the Filipinos for independence and the hope that our Government grant the demand for it which a commission from the Islands has made.

The fact that our Senate recently passed a like resolution in regard to Ireland changes the very nature of the Briton's proposal—turns it from what, standing alone, would be intolerable impertinence into something between a well-deserved reproof and a fairly good joke.

Speaking for the British Government, ANDREW BONAR LAW said he knew nothing about the Filipino Commissioners, and that the matter was one in which Great Britain was not concerned. Both statements were accepted with significant unanimity by his hearers, and the subject was dropped.

It Counts with the Others.

According to President CARTER of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the effect on living costs of granting the higher wages demanded by the railway men would be "imperceptible," and therefore the "vicious circle" argument against granting the demands is a failure.

Mr. CARTER reaches his "imperceptible," probably, by dividing the amount wanted by the railway men into the total number of the country's inhabitants and getting a small quotient.

The same plan would make "imperceptible" any other increase of prices by any other advance in production cost, but it does not have that effect as regards them all. Therefore, the "vicious circle" argument really does apply to them all.

Of course, it doesn't prove that railway wages already are high enough. That is another question.

Firemen's Pay.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The families of the locomotive firemen, as represented by Mr. Shea of the brotherhood, are poverty-stricken. There are, in the aggregate, many firemen of middle age with families dependent upon them, but the great majority of these workers are young men from 21 to 27, apprentices of their craft, on the way to well-paid jobs. Their wages, to quote the Sunday TIMES of April 25, begin at a minimum of $4.25 a day and may run as high as $253 a month. The average earnings of passenger firemen are stated as $188 a month.

I have known dozens of firemen, good boys, not averse to patent leather shoes and Keily pool. At $5,280 a year the apprentice in the railroad business can as well afford the little pleasures of life as can clerks and office workers, especially as he is certain of a well-paid job later on if he has good health and attends to business.

PITTSBURGH, April 29. — American painters ranked high in the International Art Exhibition, which was opened formally in the galleries of the Carnegie Institute here today, the first since the outbreak of the World War. Announcement of honors was made at the Founder's Day exercises as follows:

First—Abbott H. Thayer, Monadnock, N. H., "Young Woman in Olive Plush." Gold medal and $1,500.

Second—Algernon Talmadge, London, England, "By the Cornish Sea." Silver medal and $1,000.

Third—Walter Ufer, Chicago, Ill., "Suzanna and Her Sisters." Bronze medal and $500.

Honorable Mention—Robert Spencer, New Hope, Pa., "The White Mill"; Frederick Bosley, Boston, Mass., "Looking at Prints"; George J. Coates, London, England; "The Spanish Dancer."

The exhibition contains 378 paintings. Of this number America contributed 196, while England sent 83 and France 63. The remainder came from the studios of Sweden, Denmark, Italy, Spain, Norway, Russia, Belgium, Switzerland and a few from Canada.

Founder's Day exercises of the Institute were largely attended by artists and scientists. The principal address was delivered by Maurice Francis Egan, former Minister to Denmark, who spoke on "America in the Diplomatic World." At the close of the exercises the audience was admitted to the museum where two additions to the permanent exhibit were shown for the first time—groups of African rhinoceroses, shot by the late Theodore Roosevelt and Childs Frick.

JEWISH ARBITERS MEET.

First Conference of Promoters of Permanent Court is Held.

The first conference of the Jewish Court of Arbitration, a Jewish organization recently formed for the purpose of establishing a permanent Jewish Court in this city, was held yesterday at the Hotel McAlpin.

The object of the Jewish Court of Arbitration is to decide upon cases which cannot be settled in a civil court, and to arrive at some definite solution of difficulties between two parties to the satisfaction of both parties concerned, which otherwise could not be decided in a peaceful manner in a civil court.

The Court of Arbitration is composed of rabbis, justices, lawyers and business men, and at each case that comes before the court one member of each group composing the court is present.

Bryan's Counsel.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your editorial article on "Nebraska" you say, "Hitchcock's fight was to prevent Bryan from being elected at all." That being so, is Bryan to be charged with being quarrelsome and disposed to make trouble in the convention because he makes a fight to go as delegate at large?

Is Mr. Bryan quarrelsome and a trouble maker because he has publicly favored a compromise on the treaty and League of Nations question? Who has a better right to express himself as a Democrat on these questions than Mr. Bryan? And whose judgment, for that matter, as to what policy will carry with the people when submitted to them at the coming national election is more likely to be justified than Mr. Bryan's? He may be wrong in the outcome, but the question is, Who has any better right to express his opinion on this matter, and to try to shape his party's action, than Mr. Bryan has?

And as to prohibition and woman suffrage, who has better earned his right to utter his convictions in the party councils and to try to shape party action in the public interest than has Mr. Bryan?

Moving Pictures for Mars.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My idea for communicating with the other planets would be by "moving pictures." The ray of light from an arc, or series of arcs, the principle being to get the most powerful light concentrated through lenses that would rival a telescope, and by calculation and consultation with the astronomers, direct the beam so as to strike the planet in the night, using the clouds of the planet or the denser atmosphere as a curtain, has, as will be readily seen, many possibilities.

The ray of light piercing our heavy atmosphere would be very thin and extremely powerful. This would help greatly, for the expansion in the rarer air would not sap its energy. Should a Martian discover this light by rearranging his lenses, studying what it was, he would in a few days discover that they were pictures, moving, and discover a means to enlarge them and exhibit them to fellow astronomers. By this I do not mean by photographs, but the same way we witness a moving picture. His pictures would probably be shown on ground glass or a similar substance, or even by means we are not familiar with.

Conditions in Italy.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I feel sure that today's Paris dispatch gives a misleading impression of conditions in Italy. My wife is traveling in Italy this Spring, and her letters confirm my own observations of last December. She writes of strikes, but they are apparently no more serious or annoying than our strikes here. The American tourist in Italy, judging by her enthusiastic letters, is hardly more inconvenienced than an Italian tourist would be here. As Mr. Davison said recently, one must express unbounded admiration of the unflinching way in which Italy and the Italians are meeting their financial and economic difficulties.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The task of writing my father's biography has been undertaken by J. L. Garvin. May I ask you to call the attention of your readers to this fact, and to say that I shall be greatly obliged if any one with original material will place it at Mr. Garvin's disposition?

All letters and papers will be carefully treated, copied and returned. It is expected that the biography will be completed within two years, and any one with material should kindly communicate with Mr. Garvin as soon as possible at 9 Grenville Place, N. W. 8.

LEST WE FORGET.

In farm homes throughout the wide valley
Embraced by the Father of Waters,
In palaces off the broad highways,
In laboring men's humble cottages,
And ever on the home's most sacred panel,
I would hang an ineffaceable picture.
Not a picture of Foch, renowned soldier,
Nor of Wilson, the idealist and statesman,
Nor other world-recognized leader;
Nor a picture of our lusty boys
Passing under the famed Arc de Triomphe,
Or parading in bright nervous vigor
Past the glittering shops of Fifth Avenue.
No: a picture of more humble lineage,
Far removed from the music and color,
Is the passion of my contribution:
A long file of white wooden crosses,
And for background a glorious sunset;
And beneath, clearly carved, the inscription,
In letters of gold, "Lest We Forget."

TO MEDIATE COAL DISPUTE.

Secretary of Labor Calls Anthracite Conferees to Washington.

The sub-committee representing the miners and the operators in the anthracite fields came to a deadlock yesterday after having spent nearly two months unsuccessfully trying to negotiate a new wage agreement. The only thing that prevented a breaking off of the negotiations was an invitation from Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson for the contending factions to meet in conference with him in Washington tomorrow morning. The invitation was accepted, and the deliberations of the sub-committee at the Union League Club came to an end late in the afternoon, when formal announcement was made that the representatives of the miners and operators would go to Washington.

The subcommittee will meet with Secretary Wilson at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The General Scale Committee unanimously indorsed the action of their representatives in accepting the invitation of the Secretary of Labor, and it also adjourned to meet either in Washington or New York at the call of the subcommittee. At a meeting of the Scale Committee Thomas Kennedy, President of District No. 7, asserted that the miners' representatives had taken what they considered to be the wisest course in accepting the invitation, inasmuch as nothing further was to be accomplished by a prolongation of the conference here of the sub-committee. He said it was expected that both sides of the controversy would be heard by Secretary Wilson, who then would submit a basic proposal for the settlement.

Some of the men from District No. 9, with headquarters at Shamokin, Pa., appeared dissatisfied with the turn of affairs. They were not satisfied to have the negotiations transferred to Washington because they thought the miners already had shown too much patience.

SEEK 2,500,000 IN LEGION.

Drive for New Members to be Nation Wide.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 29.—Nine thousand posts of the American Legion in every State and territorial possession of the United States will unite in a drive for new members, to be held May 17-22, it is announced at national headquarters of the Legion.

Latest returns from posts show that 1,500,000 ex-service men and women now belong to the Legion. National officials believe the membership campaign will bring in at least 1,000,000 new members, bringing the total to 2,500,000, or more than a majority of all who served.

Many Governors of States have signified their intention of proclaiming the period of the drive as American Legion Week. Though the Legion is less than fifteen months old, it has been estimated that more than 2,000 persons have joined every day since its inception.

COPELAND TO STUDY PLAGUE

Health Commissioner Sails on May 8 for Two Months' European Tour.

DR. R. S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, announced yesterday that he would sail on the Lapland on May 8 to represent this city at the Congress of the Royal Institute of Public Health, which opens in Brussels on May 19. In response to an invitation from the institute, he will deliver an address on the prevention of epidemics.

The Board of Health yesterday adopted a resolution designating Commissioner Copeland to make a tour of European ports, to study public health conditions, for the purpose of protecting New York against epidemics. Dr. Copeland expects to be abroad about two months, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Copeland and Royal S. Copeland, Jr., their five-year-old son.

"Europe, especially in the Near East, is suffering epidemics of cholera, typhus fever and the plague, also called the black death," Commissioner Copeland said. "While the chances of these diseases developing to any extent here is remote due to the vigilance of our Boards of Health, it is a good thing to get first hand knowledge of these scourges so that we will know how to handle any emergency that might arise."

The Congress will be in session for a week and many of the leading public health authorities of the world will speak. It is under the patronage of King Albert.

RENEW TUBE NIGHT SERVICE.

Hudson Tunnels Operate Until Midnight—Trains to Newark Resumed.

The operation of the Hudson tube trains to Newark was resumed yesterday after having been suspended for three weeks by the strike of 450 employes of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company, who joined the outlaw railroad strikers. At the same time the Hudson tubes resumed night service until midnight.

The service was continued during half the night for the first time last night when the last trains for Hoboken, Jersey City and Newark left the Cortlandt Street Station at 12:01 o'clock.

Exchange for Women Closes.

The West End Exchange and Industrial Union closed its doors at 169 West Seventy-fourth Street yesterday after twenty-three years' service in aiding women to become self-supporting, because present economic conditions with plenty of employment at high wages have made its work unnecessary. Its corporate existence will be continued in the event that its activities again come into demand. Mrs. Henry C. Quinby is its President.

DIVIDE UP BLAME FOR LACK OF PAPER

MANUFACTURERS DEFENDED

Plants Failed to Prepare for Increased Demand, It is Asserted—Curtailed Consumption Urged.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Blame for the high price of print paper was placed primarily upon small manufacturers, brokers and jobbers, although publishers themselves were held partly to blame, by witnesses today before a Senate investigating committee. Curtailed consumption in order to break the spot market pending increased production was generally advocated as a remedy.

Seven witnesses were heard by the committee, all of whom virtually agreed that reduced production of paper due to lack of understanding between the publishers and manufacturers, together with the rapid increase in advertising since the war, had resulted in a situation of which the brokers and jobbers had taken advantage. Because of the prevailing high prices, the witnesses said, manufacturers of paper specialties had been enticed into the manufacture of print paper, which had served to aggravate the situation. The regular paper manufacturers were defended and declared to have been reasonable in making new contracts.

The witnesses, however, urged that newspapers should confine consumption of paper to the amount provided in their contracts and remain out of the open market.

M. F. Hanson, General Manager of The Philadelphia Record, appearing for all the Philadelphia newspapers, testified that publishers had been victims of "unconscionable profiteering," while W. E. Carpenter, publisher of The Lincoln (Ill.) Courier-Herald, said unless relief was provided without delay many smaller daily publications would be compelled to suspend.

He declared there was plenty of print paper in storage, but it was controlled by about sixty publishing firms and small publishers were unable to reach it.

Mr. Carpenter said he had communicated with the Department of Justice regarding an alleged corner in paper, but got a reply that was of a "discouraging character."

Opposition to a suggestion by Senator Reed that the Government be given authority to take over the print paper supply and allocate it to the newspapers was unanimous. Such a plan, according to Fleming Newbold, of The Washington Star, would be disastrous to production.

Warren F. Bailey, publisher of The Johnstown (Pa.) Democrat, alleged that a combination existed among the paper manufacturers. Until recently, he said, manufacturers sought contracts from him, but now conditions were reversed and he was forced to sign contracts at their terms.

Paul Patterson, one of the publishers of The Baltimore Sun, said that, while there would be no increased production this year, production in 1921 would be 300,000 tons more than that for 1919.

The present shortage, the witness told the committee, resulted from increased consumption beyond the capacity of the paper mills. Saying that increased prices for paper were necessary about three years ago to meet them, he asserted that the producers failed to take the publishers into their confidence at that time, with the result that an agitation was started against increased prices and for public control of the paper industry. Also the manufacturers, he said, failed to expand their plants due to the lack of understanding between them and the publishers.

"Then you think the position taken by the newspaper publishers was a mistake?" Chairman Reed of the sub-committee asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "It was a lack of understanding between them, and also a lack of proper publicity."

As a result of this situation, Mr. Patterson said, when the publishers came to renew their paper contracts this year insufficient paper to meet demands was discovered, so that they entered 1920 with a "shortage of paper on every hand."

Mr. Patterson expressed the belief that the "universal practice of curtailment in the use of paper," which he said was being observed by the newspapers, would result in "a marked effect on the market by Fall."

Newspapers, he said, are practicing various methods to meet the paper situation, including the limiting of the size of the papers.

"But nothing effective can be accomplished unless there is a definite curtailment in the amount of advertisements," he said, "and the only way that can be done is to increase advertising rates not for the purpose of increasing revenues but to hold down the amount of advertising."

CORRECTS ERROR IN REPORT

Mr. McAneny States Facts as to Times Paper Supply.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The testimony given yesterday by George McAneny, Executive Manager of THE NEW YORK TIMES, before the Senate subcommittee which is investigating the print paper question, was misunderstood in one important particular and he has requested a correction. He was quoted as saying that the supply of THE NEW YORK TIMES was derived in part from contracts with "some Canadian mills" and that "contracts with the Canad

BRIDAL GIFTS OF $1,000,000

Young Pair Greeted in Home of Martin W. Littleton—Their Wedding Cake Five Feet High.

A brilliant assembly witnessed the wedding of Miss Rachel Littleton and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., which was celebrated yesterday afternoon in St. Thomas's Church. In point of attendance it broke all records, the guests numbering more than 3,000. The church has a capacity not more than 2,200. The result was a crush, which started the moment the doors were thrown open at 3 o'clock, until the bridal party swept up the main aisle at 4 o'clock to the chancel, transformed into a garden of spring flowers.

As the time approached for the ceremony the overflow filled the huge vestibule of the church and late comers, including some prominent society women, were unable to view the ceremony. In fact, there was such a mass of people congregated here that some of the police reserves had to be summoned from the outside, where an immense throng had gathered, to make room for the formation of the bridal party. But everybody took the situation with smiles, for it was an hour of festivity and felicitations for the bridal pair, on whom the April sun shone brightly, always a good omen. Several hours before the ceremony some people managed to get into the gallery of the church, but as they had no cards of admission, they were not allowed to remain.

Fourteen ushers looked after the seating of the guests as they arrived, handing each a folder printed in silver, containing the musical program. A group of six organ solos preceded the service. At the singing of the processional hymn by the full vested choir the Stars and Stripes were carried. Soldiery and many men who had been in service attended the wedding, all friends of Mr. Vanderbilt, made when he was in the army.

Bride Walks with Her Brother.

"Faithful and True" was sung for the bridal procession. The bride, who walked with her brother, Martin W. Littleton, wore a gown of simple design, a short-skirted creation of soft white satin with a draped skirt falling in straight lines. The corsage and apron drapery were of silver and crystal embroidered lace.

The bulle veil fell in voluminous folds to the end of the satin train from a close-fitting cape over the dark coiffure circled with tiny white rosebuds. She carried clusters of white orchids, and her only ornament was a diamond brooch, the gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids were gowned alike, except that the maid, the bride's sister, Miss Minnie Littleton, wore a dull bluish taffeta bodice. The bridesmaids were the Misses Grace Vanderbilt, the sister of the bridegroom; Mherine Smith, daughter of Clarence H. Mackay; Marion Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradish J. Carroll; Helen M. Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moran; A. Routh Ogden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Routh Ogden, and Katharine Keogh, daughter of Justice and Mrs. Martin J. Keogh.

Frocks Suggest Dresden China.

They wore frocks suggestive of a Dresden china piece, dainty and charming. The short skirts had three tiers of silver embroidered lace flounces, with wide paniers. The bodice, of dull pink taffeta, extended a little below the waistline. The top of the corsage was edged with silver galoon, and the short sleeves were of silver lace. Their Watteau hats were tilted fascinatingly in front, and rolled up high in the back, showing the highly dressed coiffures. The hats were banded across the front with rosebuds, with streamers of dull blue velvet falling on the side and tied in loops over one ear. They each carried baskets filled with pink rosebuds, with loops of pink gauze ribbon trimming the handles.

During the betrothal "O Perfect Love" was sung. Rev. Ernest M. Stires performed the ceremony, acting as best man for Mrs. Vanderbilt was Gerard H. Coster. The ushers were Martin W. Littleton, Jr., Harold S. Vanderbilt, Godfrey S. Rockefeller, Jasper Morgan, William Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., Ernest V. R. Stires, John W. Brodix, W. Trumbull Thomas, Monroe Mayhoff, R. Thornton Wilson, Thomas Howard, James H. Van Alen, Lorillard S. Taller and Robert Fiedler.

The floral decorations of the church were confined to the chancel, which blossomed in a riot of color, the yellow of the forsythia, the pink and mauve of the hydrangea and the white and yellow of the daisy mingling with the red and pink of roses and the vivid white of ascension lilies. There was a profusion of lilies in vases on the altar directly under the superb new reredos.

Reception in Littleton Home.

At the reception following the church ceremony, held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Martin W. Littleton, 113 East Fifty-seventh Street, Mr. Vanderbilt and his bride received the felicitations of their relatives and friends in the drawing-room, before a high trellis massed with Dorothy Perkins roses. There were about seven hundred attending the reception.

A crowd of several thousand people collected in front of the Littleton home during the reception, but the police reserve kept them in check. Several hundred were lined up on the street, and all the windows, balconies and stoops in the near vicinity were massed with people.

Mr. and Mrs. Littleton stood at the head of the receiving line. Mrs. Littleton, who is in mourning, was in black crepe meteor with black lace sleeves, with a few lines of jet, topped with a high hat of diadem shape, with the sides of jet, and a high flaring plaited ruche of black silk net.

Near by were Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, parents of the bridegroom. Mrs. Vanderbilt wore a gown of chiffon cloth of peacock blue broken with stripes of peacock green, a small high hat covered with green ostrich feathers, and a chain of diamonds and diamond plaque.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, the grandmother of the bridegroom, was in black velvet, with embroidered pale gray chiffon showing at the corsage, and a small black toque with black ostrich feathers.

When the bride left the reception room she turned on the staircase leading to the upper floor and threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Routh Ogden, amid much merriment.

Wedding Cake Five Feet High.

After extending felicitations the guests passed into the dining room at the rear, where, in a bower of green smilax, towered a huge wedding cake. This cake was said to be the largest ever made in America, and towered five feet high, weighing in the neighborhood of 200 pounds. It was copied after the old English style, and was baked in tiers, rising in pyramid form, and filled with delicious fruits. There was enough in the twenty-five layers for each wedding anniversary for a quarter of a century, should it last that long, which is hardly likely. The serving of about 700 guests made only a slight indentation in the cake, it was so huge, and to reach the top layer, as it stood on a round table, being about three feet in diameter at the bottom, it would be necessary to use a stepladder. But this contingency did not arise. Fruit punch was served with the cake.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, Jr., left on their honeymoon trip, which will be an extended one, as they plan to tour through the West and in Canada, dropping in on the two conventions where the Presidential nominations will be made known, and spending the late Summer and Autumn, up to the first of November, in California.

$300,000 Diamond Bandeau for Bride.

The bridal gifts were displayed on the third floor at the Littleton home, and excited much admiration. The jewels were inclosed in a glass case. No estimate was made of the value of the gifts; it may run close up to a million dollars, but they were so numerous that only a certain amount could be shown. Mr. Vanderbilt presented his bride with a platinum pin of laurel leaf design, having four diamonds around a diamond of large size. This design harmonizes with the magnificent gift which his parents presented to his bride.

This was a bandeau of laurel leaf design wrought in diamonds. The ornament contains 400 small stones, eighteen large square diamonds and one magnificent centre diamond, one of the very large diamonds in this country. This was said to be valued at about $300,000.

Many of the gifts received by Mr. Vanderbilt and his bride had some sentimental significance attached to them. Mr. Vanderbilt's nurse, who attended him for the first six months of his existence, presented a silver sugar spoon. A coachman who has been in service for twenty-four years in the Vanderbilt family gave him a leather pocketbook with gold-tipped corners. The family fondness for twelve years for Mr. Vanderbilt and his sister, Miss Grace Vanderbilt, gave an ornamented waste paper basket. His French tutor presented him with an original copy of "The Palace of Versailles."

Then there was a lace scarf from Captain Joseph A. Bonk of the New York Fire Department, and Mrs. Bonk. Their son, Walter J. Bonk, who was cited for gallantry, was a dispatch rider in the Medical Corps of Division Headquarters, and was killed on Sept. 29, 1918, at the Belgian front, only a short distance from Mr. Vanderbilt, who later brought the body of young Bonk back home.

During the great strike in Seattle Mr. Vanderbilt was army chauffeur for Hugh C. Wallace, now Ambassador to France. The gift from Ambassador and Mrs. Wallace was a bedspread of exquisite Belgian lace.

Letter from Lafayette to John Jay.

The gift from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Iselin was a letter from General Lafayette to John Jay. Mrs. Iselin is a direct descendant of John Jay, who took a conspicuous part in the American Revolution.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bull presented an original copy of the first edition of "Around the World in the Yacht North Star," the yacht owned by Cornelius Vanderbilt, the great-grandfather of the bridegroom.

Charles Hanson Towne, the poet, composed and dedicated a poem to Mr. Vanderbilt and his bride, suitably framed. It closed with:

"O happy lad, O happy lass,
With youth, and Spring and Love for you . . .
Youth goes; Spring dies. . . But Love endures."

Other gifts included:

Mrs. Vanderbilt, the bridegroom's grandmother—Diamond necklace with pear shaped diamond pendant.

The Guests.

The pews on both sides of the middle aisle, for about three-quarters of the way down to the front, were reserved for relatives and close friends. Each usher held a long list of guests and the numbers of the pews set aside for them.

Many guests living in the vicinity walked to the church to avoid the traffic delay, and then to the reception. Among the early arrivals were Mrs. Charles B. Alexander and Mrs. F. Burrall Hoffman.

During the service the rear of the side aisles were banked with guests unable to find seats. Many in the rear of the church and at the far sides were unable to witness the ceremony, and stood up on the pews.

Bishop Charles S. Burch and Mrs. Burch were seated near the chancel among the relatives. Among the relatives of the bride's family were Mrs. Jesse Littleton, Miss Jessica Littleton, Miss Esther Littleton and Robert Littleton, from Chattanooga, Tenn., and out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Champ Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Polk and Senator and Mrs. Truman H. Newberry.

Mr. Vanderbilt's Army Career.

Mr. Vanderbilt retired from the United States Army after serving twenty-one months with the honorary commission of Second Lieutenant. He spent four months in Flanders and France and was badly gassed. He enlisted on June 27, 1917, in the 102d Ammunition Train, and after three months was transferred to Headquarters Troop, 27th Division. He began there as a private, was advanced to dispatch rider and then to chief dispatch rider. He spent nine months at Spartanburg with the 27th and four months on the west front where he was chauffeur for General O'Ryan, and was in several important engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt met first a year ago today, on his twenty-first birthday, at a dance his mother gave for him at 640 Fifth Avenue, and they had wished to be married on his twenty-second birthday, which is today, but as it fell on Friday they decided that yesterday should be their wedding day.

4,000 WOMEN STORM POLICE AT WEDDING

Spring Hats Broken and Gowns Ruined in Crush to Get Near Bride—Her Veil Torn.

Four thousand well-dressed women, massed on the sidewalk and steps of St. Thomas's Church yesterday afternoon to view the Vanderbilt-Littleton nuptial party, got beyond the control of the police on the arrival of the bride in her automobile at 4 o'clock, and before Captain John W. O'Connor and Lieutenant Patrick McCarthy, in command of the fifty policemen present, could regain control of the situation the frantically curious women fought with one another in their efforts to get close to the bride.

So great was the crush about the sides of the canopy, which stretched from the curb to the south entrance to the edifice, and through which the bride and her brother, Martin W. Littleton, entered, that the bride's veil became tangled in a group of women who had managed in the excitement to force their way under the canopy, and before her maid could gather its folds it was slightly torn. Fashionable Spring hats were crushed and gowns ruined in the confusion which followed the rush of the women. No less than two dozen women slipped under the sides of the canopy during the time the policemen were endeavoring to force back the throng of women and flanked the bride on both sides as she hastily made her way across the carpeted sidewalk and up the stone steps to the vestibule of the church.

To add to the troubles of the policemen, about 500 women, who had taken up positions on the sidewalk on the east side of Fifth Avenue opposite the church, broke through the thin police cordon formed there, and, despite the heavy vehicular traffic up and down the thoroughfare, grouped about the bride's automobile, many of them fighting for vantage points on the running board and and on the mudguards.

Hold Firmly to Automobile.

Even when four mounted policemen shoved the noses of their horses among the women in an effort to force them away from the Littleton automobile, the women held firmly to their ground. It was not until Mr. Littleton led the bride through the crowded canopy that the mounted men managed to drive the women back to the sidewalk on the east side of Fifth Avenue.

Try as they did, the policemen never succeeded thereafter in forcing the throng of women outside the church back more than two feet from the entrance to the canopy, but after Mr. Vanderbilt and his bride left the church, scores of women grouped their way about the crowded sidewalk endeavoring to recover articles of jewelry, raiment and handbags which they had lost during the rush to get a "close-up" of the bride.

Before the arrival of the bridesmaids and pewholders at the wedding the crowd of women had increased to such numbers that a call was sent to the headquarters of the Traffic Squad in West Thirtieth Street for more men, and soon after thirty of the most stalwart bluecoats of the Traffic Division appeared on the scene, and endeavored to aid their comrades in driving the women back at least five feet from each side of the canopies. Several times the policemen managed to push the women about three feet from the canopies, but the only followed herculean efforts on the part of the policemen, and they smilingly decided to leave that the line of demarcation.

"Here Comes the Bride!"

The first warning that the waiting throng of women received that the bride was coming was when a woman in a window of the office building on the corner opposite the church shouted, "Here comes the bride!" Just then the Littleton automobile, with Policeman Sidney E. Hutchins of the Traffic Squad seated beside the chauffeur hove in sight. Half a dozen members of the Traffic Squad met the automobile half way up the block between Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Streets, evidently with the intention of escorting it to the entrance of the church, but the vehicle was going so fast they were left behind, and it was because of that fact that the women standing on the opposite side of the street got the opportunity to mass themselves about the automobile a few seconds later.

The bride remained in the automobile for a few minutes after it halted in front of the south canopy leading to the church, while Mr. Littleton and the maid attempted to force aside the women in the front ranks of the curious, who by that time were crowded about the open door of the vehicle. Miss Littleton evidenced much amusement at the confusion on the outside, and when she finally stepped onto the sidewalk, she laughingly turned to the cheering women banked up on the steps of the church.

The departure of the wedding party was without incident, for Captain O'Connor and Lieutenant McCarthy had by that time obtained the upper hand over the assembled women, and the passageway under the canopy had been cleared.

An amusing incident in connection with the wedding was that more than two hundred women who desired to witness the Vanderbilt-Littleton nuptial, minus invitations, gathered in the 125th Avenue Presbyterian Church, at Fifty-sixth Street, where another wedding took place. Many of them succeeded in obtaining seats in the rear of the church, but it was not until the ceremony was about to begin that they learned the Vanderbilt-Littleton nuptials were to take place in St. Thomas's Church, three blocks south, and then they hurriedly left.

The Board of Directors of the Fidelity Trust Company desires to place on its record its sincere appreciation of the life and services of Charles F. Droste, a fellow director, who passed away on April 19, 1920.

Charles F. Droste was identified actively with the commercial life of the West side and took the greatest interest in its development. He became at an early age associated with one of the then prominent business houses handling dry goods at wholesale. His industry, intelligence and fidelity to his duties soon attracted attention and made him one of the leaders in his line. His advice was sought and followed by the trade and an unusual degree of confidence was reposed in him because of his high character, great ability and full integrity of purpose. His wise counsel and personal personality will be greatly missed by this board and by a large circle of friends.

To his widow and family we extend the assurance of our most profound sympathy with them in their bereavement and direct that an engrossed copy of this minute be forwarded to them to remind them, whenever they shall read it, how deep was the affection that bound Mr. Droste to his business associates and friends on this board.

ROBINS PUT GIANTS TO THOROUGH ROUT

WIND PLAYS VILLAIN'S ROLE

Keeps Crowd Small and Makes Fielding Difficult — Mitchell a Thorn in New Yorkers' Flesh.

The Dodgers gave the Giants a nice bath in the whitewash vat at Ebbets Field yesterday. It was a clean victory for Brooklyn, the score being 3 to 0. The New York players made little protest against the dip in the tank, batting feebly against the pitching of Clarence Mitchell. Clarence is a southpaw, and more than that he is the only left-hander known to science who uses the spit ball. The mixture of the two forces was deadly.

The Giants were not only bothered by Mitchell but also by a strong wind which whiffed across the field. Brooklyn was bothered by the wind, but very little by the Giants. When the ball was hit up in the air, the wind took possession of it and made fly catching a difficult problem. The Giants might have taken advantage of the wind by hitting the ball up in the air and taking a chance of it going safe, but Mitchell decided not to let them try this scheme, and had them hitting the ball to the infield lawn right at the feet of the players.

Manager McGraw's best parcel of pitching good, Fred Toney, did the tossing for the Giants, but a wild first inning attack sent Toney reeling and the Robins pushed over three runs before the Giants caught their breath. The ingredients of the batting cocktail which the Brooklyns served to the Giants in this inning included hits and errors, shaken up with strong puffs of wind, which put quite a kick in the first course of the baseball banquet.

Fans Revel in Giant's Woe.

All of which was not very appetizing for the New York fans who invaded Flatbush, but it was all well suited to Brooklyn tastes. The cold raw wind kept the crowd down but with the Dodgers walking all over the Giants, there was enough noise to make householders in the vicinity think that the park was jammed. The natives took unusual delight in booing Fletcher when his fielding was loose and they chortled gleefully at all of New York's misfortunes.

When the Robins came to bat in the first inning, they gushed like a geyser. Olson went out, Fletcher to Kelly, and Bunny Nels spanked a single to center. He was asleep on a delayed steal and was exterminated at second. Jimmy Johnston got a pass and Zach Wheat peppered a fly to left field. It was just back of short and Fletcher went after the ball. The wind played tricks with the sphere and had Fletcher whirling like a merry-go-round. He missed the ball and Wheat got a two bagger Johnston going to third.

Myers sent a grounder straight at Fletcher's feet. The Giant's short fielder's pedals got badly intermingled with the ball and it hopped away from him, Johnston scoring and Wheat traveling to third. The fans turned all their enthusiasm loose and the Giants didn't seem to have a friend in the world. Umpire Hart suspected Toney of doctoring the ball and he held up the game while he looked for beeswax or something and gave Toney an ear full about the new pitching rules.

Wheat and Myers started a double steal. Snyder made a short throw to second. Doyle ran in and just strangled the throw with one hand. First he thought he would throw to third to get Wheat, but then changed his mind and tried to make a throw to second to get Myers. He was out of position and just chucked the ball into center field while Wheat romped home and Myers went to third. The Brooklyn fans were so tickled that their sides ached with laughter. By this time the Giants were more friendless than if they had been 3,000 miles from home.

Konetchy's Rap Scores Myers.

Konetchy banged a single to left and sent Myers home. Chuck Ward, who was playing third base, forced Koney at second and the inning was over. As the game went on these three runs grew larger and larger and the Brooklyn fans yelled louder and louder.

The strongest bid the Giants made for a run was in the second inning. Doyle walked and went down when Olson tossed Statz out at first. Sicking whacked a hit down through Mitchell and Larry went to third. Larry is popularly known as Laughing Larry, but he had nothing to laugh at yesterday. Kelly had a good chance to help the cause of the downtrodden, but he smashed a grounder at Johnston and Doyle was thrown out at the plate. Larry was so sure that he was out he didn't even take the trouble to slide into the pan. Snyder forced Sicking and the Giants' hopes faded.

The wind gave Sicking a double at the start of the seventh but Kelly and Snyder were easy outs. McGraw called on Lew McCarty to bat for Toney. Lew lifted a high foul fly back of first and Konetchy went after it. The wind got hold of the ball and Koney just barely reached it. He struck the ball with his glove and it bounded up and he nabbed it.

Fletcher tried to atone for his past foibles when with two gone in the eighth he walloped a three-bagger between centre and right. Doyle was the next batsman, but he left Fletcher at third, a despondent looking citizen. When Larry was thrown out at first for the final out of the inning. George Kelly thumped a double off the right field wall in the ninth after two were out and the opportunity of saving the club from a whitewash was up to Frank Snyder, but he could do nothing with Mitchell, except hit to the infield and was thrown out at first.

Curves and Bingles

The only thing the Giants are hitting these days are the smooth spots on the tobogan.

McGraw's players haven't won a series yet this season, and the Brooklyns haven't lost one.

It has been suspected that Brooklyn's early season rush was a flash in the pan. It's a whole box of fireworks.

The buildings surrounding Ebbets Field are still decorated with deadheads. The old excuse that they were afraid to pay to see Brooklyn loss doesn't hold any longer.

Olson hit an easy liner at Fletcher in the third and Fletcher muffed the ball. He recovered it quickly and shot it over to Kelly in time to get the runner. If Kelly hadn't been made of India rubber he never could have reached the ball with one hand.

Most of the Brooklyn fans can already see the pennant again flying from the centre field flag pole.

Uncle Robbie's pitching staff continues to look like the best in the league.

The fighting spirit which the Giants used to display when they broke up ball games is still sleeping. Maybe it's dead.

Krueger hit a fly to right field in the sixth, which had Young dizzy. He finally beat the wind to the ball, but went down in a heap and rolled over before he made the catch.

YANKS' LATE RALLY PROVES A BLOOMER

Come Within One Run of Tying Senators in Ninth, but Babe Ruth Fails in Pinch.

It was a day of indecision yesterday at the Polo Grounds. The weather man didn't know whether to give sunshine or showers, and, after wobbling around, compromised and permitted a game to be played. Miller Huggins didn't know what to do in the matter of outfielders, but finally decided to bench Meusel and use Ping Bodie, causing a shift in the batting order. The Yankees didn't know whether to win the game with Washington, and, after deciding in the first inning that they didn't care for the honor, deliberately changed their minds in the ninth. It was too late, however, to carry such a momentous decision into effect, and, after pushing one run over the plate, the Yanks let it go at that, taking a beating by 2 to 1.

Five thousand fans carried umbrellas up to Harlem to view the festivities, for they were impatient because the Senators had been here in New York sightseeing since Monday, and rain had limited the series to only one game. They certainly got their money's worth. For the price of one admission they saw Babe Ruth rejoin his Yankee playmates and twice strike out, after getting a single the first time up. They saw Walter Johnson, pitcher extraordinary, maltreat the Hugmen, holding them to three hits during the first eight innings, allowing two more in the last, and fanning eight batters, and when the situation wasn't too tense they chuckled over the capers of old Nick Altrock, who held forth in the first base coaching box when Washington came up to bat.

Quinn Is Liberally Peppered.

Jack Quinn, the same New York gentleman who was pummeled from the box a week ago by Connie Mack's Athletics, was able yesterday to stick around for the full distance, but at times New York rooters would have preferred an understudy. Jack failed to measure anywhere near the stature of the great Johnson. Every Washingtonian except Ellerbee, who played short in place of O'Neill, whaled out a hit of one kind or another, four being for extra bases, and Picinich got two. He drove one into the left-field stands to start the seventh for a circuit dash, which was the winning run, and Johnson paused long enough in his pitching to slap a triple out into the same garden in the fifth. Quinn gave two passes and struck out five, but his own appearances at the plate were brief. He whiffed at Johnson's shoots the first two times and flied to Bobby Roth the third.

Washington set about at the start of the pastime to deliver the knockout punch. Joe Judge, topping the order, doubled over first base, proceeded on to third on Babe Ruth's miserable throw-in, and scored as soon as the law allowed when Milan hoisted up a Texas leaguer. Sam Rice forced Milan at second, and himself went out trying to steal Del Pratt's home station. Roth then cracked down a high bounder toward short. Ward ran in and fielded it perfectly, but Roth got first safely. Shannon, following suit in the batfest, sent a single back of short, and gained second on Peck's bad toss to Pratt. Roth then tried what few men can do—steal home—but Quinn threw him out to Muddy Ruel.

Satisfied with One More.

The Senators got their other run on Picinich's homer in the seventh, but might have had a third if Johnson had tried hard enough. Walter's triple started the fifth session, but he waited there when Judge hited one to centre field, instead of trying to score on the fly, and a moment later he was caught between home and third on Milan's infield grounder, Peck throwing to Ruel and Muddy tossing to Ward, who chased the pitcher down.

In the first, third, fourth, sixth, seventh and eighth stanzas only the regulation three batters faced Johnson. Some Yankee damage was threatened in the second, but it died down. Babe Ruth, to the accompaniment of 5,000 cheering throats, singled back of second, but had to hold his base while Duffy Lewis and Pratt were going out by flies to the outfield, the latter a downright robbery of a hit when Milan tore nearly to the centre field wall to pull down Pratt's fly. Ping knocked up one back of second, and was safe while Rice, Roth, Ellerbee and Harris gossiped over the hit and couldn't agree on who should catch it. Bodie stretched it into a double when no one covered the bag, although Rice tossed it wildly to vacant space around second base. This put Ruth on third, but Ruel went out on a grounder to Shannon.

Bodie's wallop in the fifth came within an ace of sending Walter Johnson to the hospital. In fielding Ping's grounder Shannon heaved it with an underhand motion toward first, but the ball hit Johnson in the back of the head as he stooped to dodge it, and he went down for the count. Teammates rubbed the pitcher's head tenderly for a few minutes, and he was able to continue.

Peck and Pipp Do Their Best.

The nearest approach to victory for the Yankees was in the ninth. Ward fouled out, but Peckinpaugh followed with a single, just out of Ellerbee's reach. Pipp followed with a two-base smash to right, and he, too, nearly went out of the park in an ambulance. Wallie overslid second, and in scrambling back to the sack he dashed his head into the dirt, and had to be massaged briskly into consciousness before he could resume playing.

Then came an occasion when Babe Ruth could have improved upon anything the unabridged version of "Casey at the Bat" might have presented. With one out and men on second and third Babe took his place. True it was that the crowd was not overhopeful, for in his last previous time at bat Ruth had drawn three straight balls from Johnson, then had a called strike, and then had fanned out on the next two. But this was different in the ninth. Gatemen closed the doors again, for the homebound crowd stopped to see the mighty hitter. Babe smelled at a couple, looked better every minute as Johnson mentioned for the Washington fielders to move back, and the crowd waited. Their disappointment, however, cannot be measured. Ruth's best effort was a grounder to Harris, who tossed him out to Judge. Peck was able to score with the Yankees' only run of the game, but Lewis dispelled all thoughts of a tie score or victory when he filed out to Milan.

Washington left for home last night, and the Red Sox will be at the Polo Grounds today.

Cincinnati Bunches Hits and Captures Game by Score of 8 to 2.

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Cincinnati, appearing here today for the first time this season, defeated Pittsburgh by a score of 8 to 2. Ring kept the hits of the home team well scattered, while the visitors hit Carlson and Hamilton freely. After Carlson had filled the bases in the third inning, with two out, he was displaced by Hamilton, who walked the next batter, forcing in one run. He was hit hard in every inning thereafter until relieved by Ponder.

Williams held Cleveland to two hits, one of which was a scratch, and did not allow a runner to reach second after the first inning. EPEE CHAMPION IS OUT OF TITLE TILT

Russell Eliminated from Struggle for National Primacy with Dueling Sword.

Breckinridge, Nunes, Dutcher and Breed Survive for Deciding Bouts —Dutcher Leaps to Fore.

Afternoon and evening sessions overflowing with sensational swordsmanship and startling upsets marked the semi-final stages of the national fencing championships of the New York Athletic Club yesterday. At the end of the afternoon the semi-finals of the épée competition had been completed and a start made on the preliminary round of the sabre contests, in which twelve crack fencers had entered. After battling on the narrow strips during the evening hours the contestants finished the preliminary round-robin sabre matches and paved the way for the finals this evening.

The épée contest provided enough thrills for even the most exacting enthusiast. Before the wielders of the heavy dueling sword had called it a day, the spectators had been treated to a thrilling struggle for premier honors, several unexpected reverses for some of the contestants, and a triple tie between three of the competitors. The latter situation was solved by a fence-off by the deadlocked trio.

Those who advanced into the finals in the épée competition were: Henry Breckinridge, of the Army Officers' Fencing Club, Washington, D. C.; Leo Nunes and Ray W. Dutcher, of the New York A. C., and George H. Breed, of the Fencers' Club of New York. These four survivors will clash in the concluding matches at the Hotel Astor this evening, when the finals in the foils and sabre will also be held.

Lyon Put Out of Running.

In the evening sabre matches, which dragged out into the early hours of the morning, Arthur S. Lyon, the present national sabre champion, virtually lost his title by suffering defeat at the hands of two rivals. The outstanding figure, when the smoke had blown over, was Leo Nunes, who captured ten of his eleven bouts, losing only to F. B. Parker of the Fencers' Club of Philadelphia.

Sherman Hall also won ten matches, with only one downfall, but Nunes's advantage lies in the fact that he will meet a comparatively weak opponent, L. M. Fleisher, also of the Philadelphia club, in Forty-six Hotel Astor tonight. Hall will have as his opponent Parker, who trailed Lyon in fourth place with eight victories and three defeats. Hall, Nunes and Lyon will be the trio that will strive for the title, although the other ten contestants will also finish out their cards. Lyon may gain a tie for the championship if both Hall and Nunes lose their final matches.

The title holder's downfall was assured when he dropped his last and most critical bout to Hall, who forced the issue and scored five touches to his opponent's nine. Hall's defeat came in his bout with Nunes, who was in excellent form throughout and won his victories by wide margins.

Russell Makes Poor Finish.

Not the least startling of the pranks played by Fate was the downfall of William H. Russell of the Boston A. A., the present national épée champion. The champion entered the afternoon list with six victories to his credit and only two defeats, and he was generally credited to win, being the most formidable contestant. The afternoon's results, however, were truly a disaster for the title-holder. He not only lost five of his eight bouts, but he was eliminated from the play. With the elimination went the championship, although he may yet qualify for the American Olympic team by reason of his ability with the foils, in which he is one of the finalists.

Another contestant to feel the heavy hand of adversity was Colonel George Patton of the Army Officers' Fencing Club of Washington. Patton's reverse was nothing less than astounding. He began the afternoon with a clean slate, seven victories in that number of bouts, but he emerged at the end of the list, dropping six of his seven semi-final matches, his only victory was at the expense of the champion, Russell, the two victims of misfortune meeting in a sort of consolation match.

Breckinridge, Nunes and Dutcher were the most successful of the field of eight that fought it out for the distinction of entering the finals at the Astor this evening. Each of this trio carried off the verdict in five bouts out of eight. The fourth man was selected only after a spirited struggle throughout the afternoon among Breed, who captained the American team at Stockholm in 1912; E. R. Gay of the Boston A. A., and Arthur S. Lyon of the Fencers' Club of New York.

Some Thrilling Matches.

The fence-off among the three was productive of some thrilling fencing, probably the hardest-fought of the entire tournament. Breed displayed his usual speed and craftiness, and he adopted careful tactics against his two rivals. In the first of the supplementary matches he defeated Lyon with a touch on the sleeve. The latter then definitely eliminated himself by losing another decision to Breed, which left the issue between Breed and the Boston fencer. The summaries:

Whitney Pair Likely to be Choices in Kentucky Derby

The announcement by Trainer James Rowe that he intends to ship both John P. Grier and Upset to Louisville to prepare for the Kentucky Derby, to be run on May 8, coming closely upon the victories scored by these colts, has had the effect of changing sentiment among horsemen regarding the probable outcome of the Derby. Up to the present G. W. Loft's On Watch and Donnacona have been regarded as most likely to fight it out for victory, and Donnacona has ruled favorite in the future books. The certainty now that John P. Grier will start and the speed he showed in his initial effort are expected to install the Whitney colts as favorites for the race.

GENERAL HAIG WINS LEXINGTON FEATURE

Stoner's Good Campaigner Has All the Speed of Field in the Ben Ali Handicap.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 29.—The Ben Ali Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth, with $3,000 added, which was the feature of the racing here today, was won by W. O. W. Parrish's Midway gave a dull performance and was always outrun.

Holds Lead to Wire in Priscilla Handicap at Havre de Grace Under a Hard Drive.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 29.—A. K. Macomber's Fruit Cake, which has shown flashes of her best speed at times this Spring, ran a good race here this afternoon and captured the Priscilla Handicap, a test at one mile for fillies and mares, which was the feature of the day's card. With only four starters it was not as good a contest as had been expected, but the winner was forced to do her best to gain the verdict from Rubidium by less than a length, Wood Violet finishing third, in front of Diversion.

The Macomber racer went to the front at the first turn and had gained a lead of two lengths entering the back stretch. Kelsay had her under slight restraint all the way to the turn into the stretch, and in the meantime Rubidium moved up and became a strong factor. When the stretch was reached Kelsay found he had to shake up his mount, for Rubidium made a strong challenge, and Wood Violet also came through with a rush and threatened to overtake both of the front runners. Fruit Cake had to stand a driving finish to hold the lead to the wire.

W. C. Clancy's Pickwick, with the top weight of 127 pounds up, accounted for the Ascot Highweight Handicap at six furlongs, but stood a hard drive to beat Midnight Sun a head.

MRS. GARVAN'S PONY FORCED INTO DEFEAT

Upset Figures in Horse Show When Irvington Nipper Captures the Blue.

There was a surprise in store for another large crowd which attended the New York Spring Horse Show at Durland's Riding Academy last night when Mrs. Francis P. Garvan met with a defeat with one of her famous ponies. Mrs. Garvan has so long dominated the pony classes in various shows that even in the absence of the real stars of her fine collection she is expected to win in almost any class in which she makes an entry.

Her disappointment last night came when Tissington Belle took third in the class for single harness ponies, first prize going to the Halcyon Farm's Irvington Nipper, a chestnut stallion, which had scored earlier in the week. Jean Sala Regan's Willisbrook Fire Lad was second in the opinion of the judges. Tissington Belle is not regarded as one of the best of the many fine ponies owned by Mrs. Garvan, who, perhaps, has the finest collection of these horses in the country, and with which she has time and again won the lion's share of blue ribbons at the important exhibitions. The contest was very keen, and it took the judges some time to make the award.

An excellent program was offered last night, and included three classes for polo ponies besides classes in which women and children showed their own horses. Although no polo match was played, the classes for polo ponies and the awarding of the Durland Cup made it a polo pony night.

It Best of Polo Ponies.

There was much interest in the classes for polo ponies, which always give a spectacular exhibition. The first of these was for the prize presented by George C. Sherman for heavyweight polo mounts, ridden by the players who have been taking part in the matches, these were judged largely on performance and were sent up and down the ring to make quick stops and again get under high speed. It was a large class, and first prize was finally awarded to It, a bay gelding owned by the Comsewogue Farms. Belle V. Baruch's Hunter took second, while third went to Charles E. Butler's Tell Me and fourth to Maxim Karminski's Tony.

Cyclone, owned by George C. Sherman, scored in the class for the lightweight polo ponies, having given a fine exhibition, but had to wage a keen contest with Colonel Howard S. Borden's Tommy Atkins.

Harvey S. Ladew's Gaylight scored in the first class of the evening by winning the blue for green or qualified hunters. Colonel Borden's Lucky Barney and Charles D. Lanier's Bolling, which has won ribbons this season. Mrs. J. N. Hess's Top Notch was awarded fourth prize in this class.

Miss Peck Wins on Allah.

Miss Clara S. Peck won the prize presented by the New York Equestrian Association, riding her Allah, which made an excellent impression on the judges and scored over Mrs. A. Rutledge Smith's Polychrome. Miss Peck has won at both the Brooklyn and New York shows this season. However, Allah was forced to bow to Miss Janice Liggett's Croydor Rose in the class for saddle horses for the medal presented by the Association of American Horse Shows. Frederick D. Mackay's Checkmate, which was held in reserve in the Brooklyn show, was third in this contest, fourth going to the White Oak Stock Farm's Water Boy.

The summaries:

Class 33—For qualified or green jumpers, heavyweight and middleweight, to be judged on manner, conformation and performance—Harvey S. Ladew's Gaylight, first; Colonel Howard S. Borden's Blarney, second; Charles D. Lanier's Bolling, third; J. Hess's Top Notch, fourth.

Stecher Wins Bout on Mat.

It took Joe Stecher just thirty-six minutes to win his wrestling bout with Ole Jacobsen at Prospect Hall, Brooklyn, last night. The champion scored a fall with a body scissors and double wrist lock. Stecher was the aggressor from the start and, while Jacobsen strove valiantly to hold Stecher in check, it was in vain and the champion won quite easily.

First Local Three-Day Golf Tourney Goes to Garden City

The first invitation golf tournament on the local calendar was yesterday awarded to the Garden City Golf Club by A. H. Pogson, Secretary of the Metropolitan Golf Association. The dates are May 20-22, Thursday to Saturday, inclusive. Although minor events are listed at individual country clubs before that time, the Garden City event will be the first three-day tourney in the local district. This action by the M. G. A. indicates a later start than usual in the schedule for three-day tournaments, although many New York linksmen probably will tee up in the Atlantic City fixture, May 13-15.

FIFTY HARVARD MEN OUT FOR FOOTBALL

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 29.—More than fifty football players, candidates for next Fall's university eleven at Harvard, reported to Head Coach Bob Fisher at the Locker Building on soldiers' field this afternoon for the start of a three-weeks' session of Spring practice. This is the biggest squad any Harvard coach has had in the off season, and its size is believed to be one of the good effects of the Crimson's New Year's Day victory.

The work today was very light, but Fisher intends to try out some new formations and also some wrinkles, which he and his assistants picked up on the Coast. Derrick Parmenter, Jimmy Knox and Paul Withington will assist in the coaching this Spring. Today Parmenter took the linemen, and Knox and ex-Captain Billy Murray took the backfield.

Knox has invented a double tackling dummy which will be experimented with, and, if a success, adopted in the Fall. Among the old 'varsity men in the squad today were Hubbard and Faxon in the line, Johnson, quarter, and Captain Horween, who will wait until Fall before deciding whether to play centre or at fullback, in which he alternated last year.

GERBER WINS WITH CUE.

Defeats Ahearn in Brooklyn Pocket Billiard Tourney.

STANDING IN BROOKLYN POCKET TOURNEY.

Player.	W.	L.	P.C.
F. W. Gerber	2	0	1000
S. B. Burdette	1	1	.500
J. Renauld	1	1	.500
R. Cresti	1	1	.500
J. Mills	1	1	.500
J. J. Ahearn	0	2	.000

F. W. Gerber won his second game in succession last night and took the lead in the first annual pocket billiard tournament being held at the national Recreational Academy, in Brooklyn. He defeated J. J. Ahearn by a score of 100 to 96. Incidentally, it was the second consecutive defeat for Ahearn.

While it was a long game, it was well played, and was featured by good shooting by both. Ahearn led at the end of the seventh frame. The score was 58 to 39. It was then that Gerber made his high run of 25 and took the lead. This run is the best that has been made in the tourney thus far and it was made by strong execution and excellent position play.

When Ahearn needed only four balls after his fourteenth turn at the table and Gerber needed six the latter made one of the prettiest shots that has been made in an amateur pocket billiard game this season. It was a three-ball kiss shot. It broke the bunch and enabled Gerber to pocket the five additional balls he needed to win.

The score by frames:

F. W. Gerber—7 0-7 12 10 2 1 12 14 1 3 13 6 6 6 Total—100. High run, 25; scratches, 4.

J. J. Ahearn—7 13 7 2 4 12 13 1 0 13 9 1 7 7. Total—96. High run, 12; scratches, 2.

Hylan Refuses to Approve Craig Measure to Abolish Office.

Clash with Controller Follows News of His Action on the Bill.

Mayor Hylan returned yesterday without his approval the bill passed by the Legislature which would have removed from office the City Chamberlain and placed the work of his department with the Finance Department. The Mayor made no statement as to his reasons for vetoing the measure, but it is known that he thought there should be an outside check on accounts in the Controller's office and that he believed that personal feeling between Chamberlain Philip Berolsheimer and Controller Charles L. Craig was the principal reason for the Controller having the bill introduced.

When the Controller was informed of the Mayor's action he said:

"The Mayor's veto only postpones a necessary reform until the Legislature meets again in January, when this matter will be taken up effectively without loss of time."

Chamberlain Berolsheimer said he was pleased at the Mayor's action, not so much for himself, but because of the principle involved. He said he believed with the Mayor that there should be a check on the Finance Department, and that the Controller should not be his own auditor. The Mayor's action has intensified the bitterness between himself and the Controller which has existed for some time. It came out at a meeting of the Sinking Fund Commission a short time after the Mayor's action on the bill became known.

President Maurice E. Connolly of Queens, who has sided with the Mayor in his controversies with the Controller, was present at the meeting with a delegation of Queens citizens to hear the report of the Controller's engineers on the matter of the city's operation of the Astoria Ferry, which the Controller promised to have ready at this week's meeting. The Controller said he had received the report only the day before and had had no time to read it. President Connolly wanted to know if the report could be obtained so that the Queens residents could read it.

"Anything in the Controller's office can be seen by any taxpayer, providing he presents his card and his receipted bill," said Mr. Craig.

"If he can get in the office," broke in the Mayor.

"One thing is sure," added Chamberlain Berolsheimer, "if you want a report from the Controller you will wait forever."

"Well," retorted the Controller, "the Chamberlain won't have to wait after next January."

President Connolly wanted the real estate owned by the Astoria Ferry Company condemned under the authority of the Department of Docks because it would not go under the pay-as-you-go policy but would be a dock improvement. Craig replied that Connolly himself had advocated the pay-as-you-go plan during the Mitchel Administration, which Connolly denied.

PASTOR FOR HIGHER FARES.

Tells Brooklyn Meeting Officials Could Not Foresee Present Prices.

"I say that to compel the Rapid Transit Companies to carry you for a 5-cent fare is wicked, regardless of the contract," the Rev. Dr. John L. Belford, pastor of the Church of the Nativity, Brooklyn, told residents of the Ridgewood and Bushwick sections in a mass meeting at Schwaben Hall. He expressed the opinion that present circumstances warrant an increase, as officials couldn't foresee that they would be paying $10 and $12 a ton for coal, nor did they imagine that they would be paying exorbitant prices for labor, steel, oil and other necessities.

"We have got to adjust things and we have got to do it promptly," he said. "If we are unfair and unreasonable with one another, we will cause unlimited trouble for the whole community. It is time the people came down to the principles of justice and charity. If you are a laboring man, do not make unfair demands on your employer, because if you do your employer will make equally extortionate demands on the consumer."

BIG GIFT TO INTERCHURCH.

Baptists Get $4,000,000 from Laura Spellman Rockefeller Fund.

Among the contributions yesterday to the drive of the Northern Baptist Convention for $100,000,000, which is a part of the $336,777,572 sought by the Interchurch World Movement this week, was a qualified gift of $4,000,000 from the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Memorial Fund. Mrs. Laura Spellman Rockefeller was the wife of John D. Rockefeller.

The new Rockefeller gift increased the total of the Baptist fund to $50,066,066. The total of the Interchurch campaign, including the Baptist, up to last evening was $86,940,450. The fund grew between Wednesday evening and last night by $12,704,036.

The new Rockefeller gift of yesterday brings the total gifts from the Rockefeller family to the Baptist movement up to $6,000,000.

The new $4,000,000 Rockefeller contribution is half an outright gift and half a conditional one. Of the $2,000,000 conditional, the first million will be handed over when the fund reaches $62,000,000 and the second million when it reaches $87,500,000.

PRAISED FOR PAY RISE FIGHT

Workers Thanked at Teachers' Interests Meeting.

The Teachers' Interest Organization held a special meeting yesterday in Public School 27 in Forty-second Street east of Third Avenue. Miss Agnes L. Craig and Miss Maude Whitney, the association's representative at Albany in the fight for salary increases, told of their experiences there. Miss Harriet Porritt, a member of the Retirement Board, recommended Miss Craig to succeed her on the board.

Several members denied that Mrs. Edna M. Bryant, President of the Elementary Teachers' Association, made remarks attributed to her about a "slush fund" among the teachers. A committee will be appointed to watch the investigation by Supt. Ettinger of the charges, asked by the teachers' counsel.

John Rosenbach of the Civic Association of Brooklyn said it was at the urging of Governor Smith that the minimum salary of the teachers in the lower grades was fixed at $1,500 a year.

Dartmouth Closes List for Fall.

HANOVER, N. H., April 29.—Announcement was made by the President's office of Dartmouth College tonight that the lists for admission to the college next Fall were closed today. Because of lack of dormitory space less than 900 men have been accepted for the next Freshman class out of more than 1,000 applications.

Just where and how is the money to be spent?

A businesslike Answer to a businesslike Question

1
FOR THE CHURCH'S WORK AT HOME. A score of items come under this head. Consider only one. Five and a half million people in the United States cannot even read and write the English language. Who is to carry forward this vast work of Americanization if the Church does not?

2
FOR HOSPITALS AND HOMES. Every year thousands of men and women seriously ill are turned away from Church hospitals because of lack of room. The children's homes are compelled to turn away more children than they can receive.

3
FOR RELIGIOUS TRAINING. At least 12,000,000 children and young people under 25 years of age are entering American life without any religious training at all. Remembering the faith of Washington and Lincoln, do you think that America will continue to produce Washingtons and Lincolns if Faith dies out of the hearts of its youth?

4
FOR HIGHER EDUCATION. Of the 450,000 American students in institutions of higher grade, one-half are in institutions founded and supported by the Churches. Many of these institutions have had no great endowment campaigns, but their needs are just as pressing as the needs of larger schools; and you have only to read their list of alumni and alumnae to measure the value of their contribution to America.

FOR THE CHURCH'S WORK ABROAD. Influenza came first from the Orient thirty years ago; nearly all plagues are Oriental plagues. So long as China has only one physician to every 400,000 people the Orient will continue to be a menace. So long as one-third of the babies of India die before their second year our own babies are not safe. A Christian doctor or teacher sent abroad is working for America as truly as though he worked at home.

PREACHERS' SALARIES. The preacher is called the "Forgotten Man," and well he may be. Eight out of ten preachers are paid less than $30 a week!

THIRTY denominations cooperating in the Interchurch World Movement have budgeted their needs. No business could have done it more scientifically.

They have united to prevent the possibility of duplication or waste. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

Each denomination has arranged its needs under six main heads as shown at the left.

Each denomination has its own detailed budget, and will administer its own funds. Your pastor has copies of the budget: examine them for yourself. In the week of April 25th-May 2nd you will be given your opportunity to help. You can do it with the full satisfaction of knowing that every dollar of your gift has its post of service assigned to it in advance.

Every dollar for a better America and a better world. When your church calls on you, give—and give from your heart as well as from your pocket-book.

CARRANZA TROOPS MEET SONORANS

Advanced Detachments of Rival Armies Clash in Chihuahua-Sonora Mountains.

RETAKE CHIHUAHUA CITY

INTERIM PRESIDENT LIKELY

If Elections Are Deferred Congress Will Name a Temporary Successor to Carranza.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, April 29.—Carranza troops and revolutionists had their first clash in the mountains dividing the States of Chihuahua and Sonora today.

It was announced at military headquarters here tonight that advanced detachments of the two forces clashed near Pulpito Pass.

The Sonora troops captured eleven Carranza soldiers, it was said. One man on each side was reported killed.

Pulpito Pass is the opening through the mountains which it was expected Carranza troops concentrating on the Chihuahua side would use in their efforts to enter and subdue Sonora. The pass is about 110 miles southeast of Agua Prieta.

No reports have been received here officially concerning the military situation at Chihuahua City, since it was announced that Federal troops there had revolted, it was announced today by General P. Elias Calles, commander of the rebel forces in the northwest.

General Calles reiterated his statement that approximately 4,000 troops at Chihuahua City, Parral and Jimines had joined the revolution.

Denial was made of the report from the Mexican Consulate at El Paso that troops under General Miguel Samaniego had defeated the rebels in a fight at Nacori.

The Sonora troops, said to number 400, were led by General J. M. Pina in the attack reported tonight. The Carrancistas were of the 85th Infantry Regiment, which had been stationed at Casas Grandes, Chihuahua. General Pina reported that the prisoners offered to enlist in the Sonora Army and told of many desertions occurring daily from the Carranza ranks.

The fight was said to have occurred at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Besides the prisoners a small amount of ammunition and supplies were captured by the Sonorans. They said they also captured thirty-six horses and mules.

Calles has announced his intention of leaving here soon for Sinaloa to take personal command of troops which he said were being prepared for a further march southward, with the ultimate object of joining revolutionists in Guerrero for an attack on Mexico City.

From the heart of Mexico, in States near Mexico City, the revolution continues to grow, General Calles said, and rebels there have created a situation that forbids Carranza sending many troops south.

Drive Rebels from Chihuahua.

EL PASO, Texas, April 29.—General Pablo Quiroga, at the head of 3,000 Carranza troops from Michoacan, is within three miles of Chihuahua City, according to official telegrams received here tonight.

Rebel troops were rapidly withdrawing from the outskirts of the city on the north, the message added.

A report from Chihuahua received late last night said that revolutionary troops in that city had been overcome by Federal forces gathered together by Señor de la O, a civilian.

At the outbreak of the revolt, it was said, rebel forces entered the home of Governor Emilio Salinas and made him a prisoner.

Following the first few skirmishes between rebel and Carranza forces, the loyal troops were brought together by de la O.

Then followed a battle for the possession of the city, during which the rebels were driven to the smelter, a mile beyond the city limits.

Another wired Carranza officials that he had sufficient control of the situation to hold the city until the arrival of reinforcements, now on the way from the south.

Villa Seeks Revenge.

JUAREZ, April 29.—Francisco Villa, rebel chieftain, in the vicinity of Chihuahua City, was reported yesterday to have opened negotiations with the revolting troops.

Whether these efforts were successful was not confirmed.

Villa was reported as having demanded that he be permitted to execute all Federal commanders, whom he wished to die in revenge for the execution of General Felipe Angeles.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Capture of the City of Chihuahua by rebel forces, formerly officers and men of the Federal garrison in that city, was reported today to the State Department.

Additional accessions to the revolutionary movement throughout Mexico were also reported in advices reaching Washington.

Agents of the Sonora revolutionists here said they had been advised that General Carlos Green, Governor of Tobasco, a State on the Gulf of Mexico coast, had decided definitely to join forces with the Sonoran revolutionists.

Commanders of the United States cruisers Salem and Sacramento reported the arrival of their vessels at Masatlan and Tampico, respectively, where they were ordered, to protect American life and property, but made no report on conditions in the two ports.

Official despatches from Mexico today said that 800 Federal troops reached Vera Cruz on Tuesday and were sent to Alvarado, a few miles south of Vera Cruz, where the Federal garrison had revolted and looted the town.

Hostility is reported near Guadalajara, where the Mexican Government yesterday reported General Diegues had 8,000 Federal troops mobilized. The bandits seized the power plant outside the city on Monday night and shut off the light, power and water from the city.

Report Riots in Mexico City.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 29.—La Prensa, a Mexican newspaper published here, has received a despatch from Mexico City saying that a number of shots have been fired in the capital, and describing the condition there as serious. No other details are given.

The despatch bears evidence of having been censored.

MEXICO CITY, April 29.—Public execution was ordered today as a result of the publication of reports that Tenancio Bonillas, former Mexican Ambassador to the United States, and Pablo Gonsales had decided to issue joint or personal manifestos announcing their withdrawal as Presidential candidates.

Following closely upon these reports were unofficial statements that Congress would be called upon to name an interim President to receive the office from President Carranza upon the expiration of his term, on Dec. 1, and conduct the administration until the country becomes pacified enough to hold elections.

The present Congress terms expire August 31, which would make it imperative for the Deputies to make the reported selections of an interim President before September.

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—The steamer Star Senator, bringing eighty-six refugees from Mazatlan, Mexico, docked at San Pedro today, sixty-one of the passengers coming ashore.

About half of the passengers were Americans. They said there had been no fighting at Mazatlan at the time they left, but Sonora soldiers were reported within thirty miles of the city. The Carranza garrison, they said, was preparing to resist an attack.

TELLS HOW PRESIDENT GAVE AID TO CARRANZA

Latter Has Not Justified This Confidence, Says His Former Counsel, Who Favors Obregon.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The Carranza Government has been a "ghastly failure," said S. G. Hopkins, Washington attorney and formerly counsel for Carranza, in testifying today before a Senate committee investigating Mexican affairs. Mr. Hopkins said the Mexican leader had "failed to keep all his promises and had neither pacified the country nor inaugurated any of the reforms which he advocated before taking power."

Praising General Obregon, one of the leaders in the new revolution in Mexico, the witness predicted success for him. The revolution, he said, was due to "the state of unrest developed in Mexico by the failure of the Carranza Government to function in any way."

Carranza was furnished with arms and munitions by the United States in 1914 with the direct cognizance of the American Government, Mr. Hopkins said, and in such quantity as to assure him success in his fight to displace Victoriano Huerta.

"I was informed that the United States Government would close its eyes to a procedure by which the munitions would be taken out of Texas ports on bills of lading indicating the destination to be Cuba," Mr. Hopkins said.

"After getting out to sea the schooners would change their routing and land the cargoes at ports available to Carranza forces. Under the arrangement the vessels were to be fined nominally for violation of neutrality laws. As it worked out, the vessels were fined, but the Secretary of the Treasury remitted the fines."

Francis J. Kearful, counsel for the committee, introduced a letter which Mr. Hopkins identified as having been sent by him to Carranza. It said in part:

"President Wilson has discreetly permitted it to be known that you should allow mediation, since it is the opinion of the American Government that the only way to pacify Mexico would be through the complete triumph of your revolution."

Gamblers Lose Jobs in Sonora.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, April 29.—American gamblers here who went on strike for higher pay have lost their jobs, as have the Chinese "strikebreakers" who took their places as dealers at the gambling tables. All gambling will be stopped after today under orders of Governor de la Huerta, Supreme Commander of the "Liberating Constitutionalist" army, it was announced by General P. Elias Calles, military commander of revolutionary troops in Northwest Mexico. The American gamblers were paid $10 a day and demanded an additional $5. Their efforts to organize a "sympathetic strike" among the players were partly successful, it was said.

AMERICANS IN AINTAB APPEAL FOR RESCUE

Dispatch Sent on April 10 Said They Had Food for Only Fifteen Days.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 28 (Associated Press).—The American Commission for Relief in the Near East has received the following dispatch from John H. Boyd, one of the American relief workers, dated Aintab, Asiatic Turkey, April 1:

"Have been besieged since April 1. The Turks are trying to take our buildings to use against the French. Have asked the Turks to respect our neutrality, and have complied with Bristol's instructions, but without avail. Have food to last fifteen days, but must have help at once. Several have been killed in the orphanage, but the Americans are safe."

The American relief workers at Adana report conditions satisfactory, as the Vali guarantees the safety of Americans.

DAILY DISTURBANCES UPSET AUSTRIAN LIFE

While Workers Strike, Merchants Demonstrate Against Taxes and Army Against Police.

VIENNA, April 29 (Associated Press).—The university students announced today that they would, on account of the precarious condition of the country, make no further anti-Semitic demonstrations, unless provoked.

Numerous strikes are progressing and more are threatened. Political manifestations are a daily occurrence. Waiters in all categories after a three-hour walkout yesterday threatened a general strike on May 1 unless their demands were granted.

Merchants and restaurant and café proprietors closed their shops today and held a demonstration in protest against increased taxation. Large bodies of the Volkswehr, which is being converted into a new national army, demonstrated against the Vienna police. There has been a strong protest against the exclusion of workingmen from the meeting of the business and professional men on Tuesday night.

House Committee Rejects Licensing of Meat Packers

RICHMOND STRIKE HEARING IS HEATED

Witness Declares Staten Islanders Are Willing to Pay Seven Cent Fare.

The hearing held before Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon yesterday morning with the view of settling the strike of the employes of the Richmond Light & Railroad Company developed into an acrimonious debate between the commission and representatives of the city, but no progress was made toward composing the difficulty between the company and the men. After a number of witnesses had testified Assistant Corporation Counsel James A. Donnelly asked for an adjournment until today.

Meanwhile Captain John J. Kuhn, receiver of the Richmond company, was delving into the company's affairs in an attempt to decide whether operation of the trolley system might be resumed. Upon his return from Staten Island last night Captain Kuhn declared he did not believe service could be restored unless an increased fare was charged, but that he could not make any definite statement at this time. Despite the complete shutdown of the Richmond system, the crowds were being handled with little delay with the aid of eighty-five municipal buses.

One of the witnesses called by Mr. Nixon was Louis B. Tribus, President of the Chamber of Commerce of Staten Island, who was a member of a committee of Staten Islanders that recently asked the Board of Estimate to permit the company to increase the rate of fare. He said that the people were willing to pay a 7-cent fare but that the Board of Estimate failed to take any action. Mr. Donnelly objected on the ground that the hearing was developing into a rate hearing and that this was foreign to its purpose.

Terence Farley, counsel to the commission, stated that the hearing related only to conditions on Staten Island and that the city was in no sense a party to it. He said that the city had an opportunity to act in the interests of the people and had failed. Mr. Nixon said that the city's bus service was inadequate and that he was willing to have that statement appear as coming from him.

"The people of Staten Island," he continued, "are suffering from inadequate service and it is an outrage. The city could, if it would, stop this strike in twenty-four hours by co-operating with me, but it is doing nothing."

Charles J. Pommerer, a Supervising Inspector of the commission, testified that there were fifty-six buses operating on the island, and that they were only capable of carrying from one-third to one-half of the number carried by the suspended car lines. Michael Flanagan, the leader of the strike and a motorman, testified that the men wanted their wages increased so as to conform with those paid elsewhere in the city. C. W. Huntington, President of the company, admitted that the men were entitled to more money, but the company could not afford the increase.

R. L. Rand, Vice President of the company, stated that the company had lost $24,311 between July 1 and Nov. 1.

Nixon Declares for Men.

After the testimony was in Mr. Nixon said that he was getting all the information he needed concerning the situation and that he would try to effect an adjustment of the trouble. He said:

"I find that the men are entitled to more money and that the company and the citizens accept this fact. It is a habit of the city to seek some sort of court action. I have a strong feeling of distrust. I regret to say it, but it is true. On your promise to take no court action, I will let the matter go over until tomorrow morning."

When the gist of the controversy was related to Mayor Hylan he said:

"Since the day Commissioner Nixon took office he has been advocating an increased fare for the Staten Island roads, as has no few other lines throughout the city. The people of the city have no confidence in Commissioner Nixon; neither has the city administration. We would be now well on our way to a complete bus system if it had not been for the fact that Nixon's friends, the traction interests, delayed our progress by court proceedings."

While the municipal buses and the Staten Island Rapid Transit System steam trains were carrying all of the crowds, there were complaints from several parts of the island last night of inconveniences caused by the strike.

BUFFALO SWITCHMEN TIE UP YARDS AGAIN

Dissatisfaction with Settlement Terms Given as Reason for Second Walkout.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 29.—Railroad yards in Buffalo were tied up tonight by a resumption of the strike of switchmen and yard conductors.

Dissatisfaction with the settlement terms under which the men returned to work on April 17 was given as the reason for the second walkout.

FEARS SOCIALIZED INDUSTRY

Railroad President Says Government Ownership Is Step to That End

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29.—Government ownership of railroads is a step toward socialized government, according to Charles H. Markham, President of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, principal speaker at a meeting of the Transportation Club of Louisville last night.

"If it is true that private ownership of railroads is being given its final test, it is also true that all American institutions are on trial," Mr. Markham continued, and added:

"As a result of two years of Government operation, leaders of organized labor not only opposed return of roads to owners, but made demands for their retention under conditions that would make the employes virtual managers and beneficiaries. It is traveling a long way in two years. At that increased speed, if such movements are successful, how long would it take to nationalize the coal mines, milling interests, distribution of food and, finally, the resumption of title to the land itself?"

PRESS CHINA ON SHANTUNG.

Japan Again Seeks to Negotiate for Direct Return of Province.

TOKIO, April 24 (Associated Press).—The Japanese Foreign Office recently instructed Minister Obata at Peking again to open negotiations with the Chinese Government for the return of Shantung province direct to China by Japan, it was semi-officially stated today.

Foreign Minister Uchida, according to the semi-official account, made this statement to the Cabinet yesterday. The instructions were sent, the Minister said, as a period of three months since the signing of the peace treaty with Germany had elapsed on April 9, and Germany's rights in Shantung, according to the Shantung clause of the treaty, then vested in Japan.

Grey Says League Can Gain Our Aid By Proving True to Its Great Ideal

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 29.—Viscount Grey of Fallodon, in the course of another appeal for the proposed fund of £1,000,000 for the League of Nations, makes special reference to the position of America toward the League. After pointing out that the League of Nations depends upon public opinion and that Governments are powerless because beset and distracted by public demands, political crises and pressure of all kinds, Lord Grey says:

"No opportunity must be lost of using the League for its proper objects. If two nations drift into a dispute which diplomacy is failing to compose the League of Nations must be used to settle it. This can only be insured by the powerful insistence by public opinion inside and outside these two nations that settlement by the League is better than settlement by war."

After showing the need of funds to create that enlightened public opinion, Viscount Grey says:

"It is natural for those who care most for the ideal of the League of Nations to regret that it has to start without the co-operation of the United States, but it would be very wrong that we should on that account falter or hesitate.

"It is true that without the United States the League can never realise our best hopes, but the situation in the United States is a deadlock and not a decision that never and under no conditions will the United States join the League.

"We must wait for their definite decision, which may be favorable, and in the interval it is most important not only that the League should be kept alive but that it should prove itself true to the ideal on which it was founded. The time of waiting for the decision of the United States must be used to prove that the League is worthy of sympathy and help.

"If the League has to start without this help, all the greater should be the incentive to make such a start as will attract that help in future.

"The war would never have been won if the Allies had given way to pessimism because the United States did not come into it in the first two years. Those who are determined to prevent future war and believe that through the League of Nations this can be done must not give way to pessimism now. The best way to insure the help of the American people is to show that there is a practical ideal to be helped."

FOUR REPRIEVED WITH DEATH NEAR

NEW TRIAL WAS DENIED

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, April 29.—The four gunmen who were to have been put to death in Sing Sing Prison tonight for the Bronx subway murder got a reprieve from Governor Alfred E. Smith just four hours before the first of them was due to enter the electric chair. The respite, which is for two weeks, and maybe longer, was conveyed to Warden Lawes by telephone by the Governor himself, at 7 o'clock. The Governor, who earlier in the day had expressed himself as determined not to interfere unless some new evidence were adduced at the last moment, acted at the request of Supreme Court Justice Richard H. Mitchell, who presided at the trial. A confession earlier in the day by Joseph Milano, exonerating Joseph Usefof influenced Justice Mitchell to act at the last moment, that the condemned men might have opportunity to present this confession in an application for a new trial.

The murderers, Milano, Usefof, Charles McLaughlin and James ("Bull") Cassidy, had said their last farewells, had eaten their last meal of their own chosen menu and were dressed in the black execution clothes with one trouser leg slit for the reception of an electrode and a spot shaved on their heads for the other, when Warden Lawes, accompanied by Deputy Senior Keeper Superintendent James Long, entered the death house.

Three of them were overjoyed at the news he brought, and when the Warden emerged later he was nursing the hand squeezed by Cassidy, an ex-prize fighter. The fourth, McLaughlin, who is said to be half-witted, laughed and chuckled, as he had all day. Twenty-seven others awaiting their turns in the death house heard the Warden's announcement and cheered it with the quick sympathy the prison inmates always manifest toward such of their fellows as are more fortunate than themselves.

The day had been one of final and fevered efforts on the part of the men to save themselves, aided by members of their families, who kept up their pleas to the Governor. Milano, when the time for his execution drew near, confessed to Warden Lawes that he fired the shot which killed Otto Fialo, agent of the Interborough subway, at 149th Street, in the Bronx in November, 1918, when Fialo resisted being robbed. Milano insisted further that Usefof, who had been requested to wait at the foot of the station stairs, did not know the purpose for which the men were there, and did not share in their profits.

Cassidy followed this by sending a telegram to the Governor which read:

"On the threshold of eternity and before the ever living God before whose presence I am soon to be summoned, I swear I had no opportunity to accept a plea of second degree murder and supposed when I made my confession to the District Attorney that I would escape the death penalty."

Vincent L. Leibell, attorney for Usefof, appeared before Supreme Court Justice Giegerich yesterday morning with an application for a new trial, on the ground of newly discovered evidence. Justice Giegerich referred him to Justice Mitchell, who heard the application this afternoon. Leibell argued that Usefof was a companion of the taxicab driver who conveyed the men to the subway station, and that he was an accidental witness of the crime, not an accomplice.

District Attorney Francis Martin opposed the application, contending that the taxi driver, who turned State's evidence, would not have selected an innocent man to accompany him on the drive and thus to become a witness against the criminals.

Justice Mitchell denied the application for a new trial and a moment later denied an application for a stay pending appeal to the Court of Appeals. Mr. Leibell filed a notice of appeal and announced his intention of asking the Governor for a reprieve.

After the Justice had returned to his chambers he learned of Milano's confession. Feeling that the men, or any one of them, should not be denied opportunity to make an effort to benefit in court by what Milano said, he telephoned to Governor Smith, explaining that he had refused a new trial and a stay before he knew of the confession, and asking the Governor to grant a reprieve. Mr. Smith acceded at once.

APPOINTS F.A. WALLIS IMMIGRATION CHIEF

President Names Fourth Deputy Police Commissioner to Succeed Frederic C. Howe.

HE PLEDGES EFFICIENCY

Writes Secretary Wilson Immigration and Deportation Have Become Tremendous Post-War Problem.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Frederick A. Wallis, Fourth Deputy Police Commissioner of New York, was nominated today by President Wilson to be Commissioner of Immigration at Ellis Island in place of Frederic C. Howe, who resigned in September to aid the Plumb plan for nationalizing the railroads.

Before he tendered his resignation, Commissioner Howe had been the target for much criticism directed at his treatment of alleged radicals whom the Government was endeavoring to deport. The work at the Island, since his resignation has been carried on by Acting Commissioner Byron H. Uhl.

Mr. Wallis's nomination was sent to the Senate today in order that he might enter upon his new duties at once.

Commissioner General Caminetti of the Bureau of Immigration of the Department of Labor said tonight that he felt that Mr. Wallis would be able to take charge of the Ellis Island situation with a firm hand and give the Government a successful administration of that post.

"My understanding," said Mr. Caminetti, "is that as Deputy Police Commissioner and in other posts of importance in New York, Mr. Wallis displayed fine qualities of executive ability, and that he is an administrator who possesses ability and force. I look forward to a capable and successful administration by him at Ellis Island."

Wallis Tells His Plans.

Deputy Commissioner Wallis said yesterday that, while he did not wish to discuss his policy in detail in advance of confirmation by the Senate, he felt that a weak spot in the Administration had been the handling of immigration and deportation problems and that he hoped to be able to deal successfully with these. As indicative of his attitude toward the appointment, he gave out this letter which he sent to Secretary Wilson after the post was offered to him a few days ago:

"I accept the important office tendered me with a profound sense of the tremendous responsibility imposed, as well as the wide opportunity for public service. I pledge my utmost to bring this department up to the highest state of efficiency and effectiveness.

"I do not believe any one appreciates more than I the tremendous importance of this office at the present time. I doubt if the nation, following the war, has a greater problem than that of immigration as well as deportation. The call for men seems to be more imperative than ever before and, at the same time, the finer moral sense of the nation is vigorously against the importation of undesirable aliens.

"However, I have the confident assurance that with the wise counsel of the Department of Labor under your personal supervision we will be able to effectively meet these problems as they arise."

Mr. Wallis was appointed Deputy Commissioner in January, 1918, and has been in charge of the administrative side of police work. He is Treasurer of the Committee of the Presbytery of New York for the Care and Betterment of Immigrant Population and is an elder in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. He was a member of the insurance firm of Wallis & Co. until he entered the department. He is married and lives at 200 West Fifty-eighth Street.

Among his other connections, he is a member of the Committee of Federated Churches of America, a director of the Kentucky Society, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, to which originally he was appointed by Mayor Mitchel. He also is a member of the National Democratic Club and the Bankers' Club.

On May 7, 1917, a warrant was issued for Mr. Wallis's arrest in the course of the investigation of the looting of the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Company. Mr. Wallis said he knew nothing about the company except that he had been asked to become its President and had refused, and that he believed the warrant had been issued for the purpose of forcing him to appear and testify. The warrant was not served, Mr. Wallis was not indicted, and District Attorney Swann, who investigated the local affairs of the company, found nothing against Mr. Wallis and remained on intimate terms with him.

BLAMES CONGRESS ON CUBAN SUGAR

Palmer Declares Wilson Would Have Bought Crop Had Not His Request Been Ignored.

CHARGES 'PASSING THE BUCK'

Attorney General Announces That Refiners Have Agreed to Check Speculation.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Defending his own action in accepting 17 and 18 cents as fair prices for Louisiana sugar, Attorney General Palmer testified today before a House investigating committee that President Wilson would have bought the entire Cuban crop last year at a low figure if Congress had not ignored his request for necessary legislation.

Asserting that it was not proper for Congress to attempt to place responsibility on the President, and denying that he was attempting to shield him from attack by political opponents, Mr. Palmer said that "passing the buck" was a familiar pastime in Washington and one not often misunderstood by the public.

Mr. Palmer said that in approving the Louisiana price he "exercised lawful discretion" and had "no regret and no apology," contending that millions were saved to the American public. The exercise of such lawful discretion was vested in the department by Congress in amending the Lever food control law to punish profiteering, Mr. Palmer asserted. He added that before Congress acted he had informed it of his plan for announcing fair prices of all necessaries, which, if charged, would not result in prosecutions for profiteering.

Several weeks before Congress enacted this legislation, the Attorney General declared, the President had asked for the extension of the Lever act for a definite period so as not to make its life hinge on the proclamation of peace. Though not specifically mentioning the Cuban crop purchase as contingent on this legislation, Mr. Palmer said that it was among the things the President had in mind. The legislation, he added, was needed so that the Government might control the distribution of sugar.

"If I am guilty in Louisiana, then I am guilty elsewhere in respect to all necessaries," said Mr. Palmer, "and there is plenty of room to find me guilty from the records of the department."

Offers Regardless of Price.

Before the Department acted, the Attorney General said, Louisiana growers had offers for their sugar "without regard to price," and some contracts had been made on a basis of 21 and 22 cents a pound. Although accepting responsibility for the prices for Louisiana sugar, Mr. Palmer said that he did not personally inspect the cost sheets submitted by growers. This was done, he said, by District Attorney Mooney of Louisiana, who will appear before the committee later.

"If Congress had not ignored the request of the President, the Cuban crop could and would have been bought," he asserted.

Mr. Palmer declared that the acceptance of the "fair" prices was "not fixing a price, but the exercising of the lawful discretion in announcing what the Government would regard as a violation of the law."

"For any one to say that such action was a violation of the law," said the Attorney General, "shows lamentable ignorance of the law."

The Attorney General said that prosecution had been brought against "hundreds and hundreds of profiteers" by the Department since last Fall and that there was on the theory that the price charged for a commodity beyond a certain figure was unfair. "Fair" prices, he continued, were determined by the "fair price committees" organized last fall throughout the country. These committees, he described as "the weapons of the public" for fighting rising living costs.

Congress in amending the Lever food control act so as to punish profiteering was aware of the department's plan of announcing fair prices through local committees, the Attorney General said. To determine fair prices by "test cases" in court, as suggested by Representative Tinkham, Republican, of Massachusetts, who introduced the resolution leading to the investigation, would have been "absurd and ridiculous," he declared, adding that while "test cases" were pending in court profiteers could charge whatever prices they pleased, and "the people would have suffered untold millions of expense added to their living costs."

"I would have hated myself if I had determined that such a fair price and had kept it locked in my breast," exclaimed Mr. Palmer in another reference to Louisiana sugar.

Agree to Check Sugar Speculation.

Sugar refiners have entered into an agreement with the Department of Justice to co-operate with the Government in preventing the resale of sugar to the trade, and to that extent to decrease speculation, it was announced tonight by Attorney General Palmer. The agreement, Mr. Palmer said, was one result of a conference between department officials and refiners' representatives held here early this week.

While this move was not expected to cure all of the evils of the shortage and high prices, Mr. Palmer believed it would aid in obtaining better distribution of sugar stocks. The refiners, he said, agreed to refuse to resell to any firm except where the commodity would take a direct course to the consumer. Objection was raised by the refiners, however, to the elimination of the "legitimate sugar broker," who, they said, served a useful purpose in the distributing system.

The refiners had reappointed the committee, which functioned during the war, with a view to the determination of "reasonable margins of profits." Officials were assured that they would have the support of this committee in running down cases of profiteering, hoarding or market speculation, Mr. Palmer said. Department officials have under consideration a renewal of the licensing system which was in effect during the war. Representatives of the refiners said they would arrange a clearing house to obtain accurate information on the distribution of all sugar stocks, in order that excessive purchases by favored buyers might be checked.

The department does not expect the present sugar shortage to be eased materially before July, when the 1920 beet crop will come on the market.

KANSAS CITY, April 29.—An investigation of sugar prices in Kansas City was announced today by Francis M. Wilson, United States District Attorney. He was starting the inquiry, he said, under telegraphic orders from Attorney General Palmer. Sugar is retailing at 22 cents, an increase of 11 cents in ten days.

OMAHA, Neb., April 29.—Federal officials today seized 150,000 pounds of sugar held by grocers in storage houses here. The seizure was made on a writ of attachment issued by Federal Judge Woodrough.

Sugar 32 Cents in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Sugar reached the highest price on record in Chicago today, according to commission men, when a 1,000-pound lot sold for 32 cents a pound wholesale. Buyers attempted to obtain more by offering 32 cents, but there was none for sale.

Quorum in Azerbaidjan; Rebels Ask Soviet's Help

LONDON, April 29.—A revolution has occurred in the Republic of Azerbaidjan, and the old Mussavat Party Government has been overthrown, says a wireless dispatch received from Moscow.

The dispatch adds that power is now in the hands of the Azerbaidjan Provisional Military Revolutionary Committee and that Baku appears to be in its hands.

The dispatch says the committee has appealed to Moscow for assistance against the Allies.

Azerbaidjan, lying in the Eastern Caucasus region and including parts of Armenia and Persia, has an area of about 40,000 square miles.

HELD AS PROFITEER IN ARMY RATIONS

J. A. Kirsch and Firm Indicted in Connection with Sales of Peaches and Tomatoes.

MEAT PRICE CUT PREDICTED

Wholesalers, Not Housewives, to Blame for Sugar Scarcity, Says "Flying Squadron" Chief.

Charged with profiteering in foodstuffs purchased from the United States Army, Jacob A. Kirsch, president of Jacob A. Kirsch & Co., commission merchants, of 105 Hudson Street, was arrested yesterday on a Federal indictment containing thirteen counts. The indictment, filed Wednesday by the Grand Jury, named the company also.

Kirsch was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock and released on $1,500 bail for further examination. Twelve counts charged the defendants with selling dried peaches at an unreasonable profit, while the remaining count alleges profiteering in canned tomatoes.

According to United States Assistant District Attorney Harry Kelly, Army officials complained to the Department of Justice last December that Kirsch, to whom they had sold surplus foodstuffs, was profiting unduly in disposing of his purchases. The indictment says that early in November J. A. Kirsch & Co. purchased from the Army 883,550 pounds of evaporated peaches and 24,000 one-gallon cans of tomatoes. The total price was $116,541.50. In the contract of sale it was stipulated that the profits of the purchaser were not to exceed twenty per cent., the Government maintains.

$33,422 Profit Alleged.

It is alleged Kirsch sold the peaches for $142,043.50, realising a gross profit of $33,422. This represented an average profit of 18 cents, the indictment states. The tomatoes, for which Kirsch paid 33 cents a gallon can, or a total of $7,020, were sold to Austin, Nicolls & Co. and to various brokers at 44 cents a can, according to the indictment. It is alleged that Austin, Nicolls & Co. purchased 1,037½ dozen cans at $5.35 a dozen.

Assistant District Attorney Kelly said that Kirsch had practically no overhead charges in his deal, as army trucks were used in bringing the foodstuffs to his place of business.

Mr. Riley, head of the "Flying Squadron," said yesterday that the National Coffee Roasters' Association was circularizing its members to notify the Department of Justice of instances where "combination sales" in connection with the sale of sugar were being practiced. Felix Coste, manager of the association, which has headquarters at 74 Wall Street, conferred recently with Mr. Riley on ways and means of stopping this sort of business.

"The association is going to conduct a nation-wide campaign to stop this," Mr. Riley said, "and it is gratifying to have such voluntary co-operation. Mr. Coste told me he had had complaints that some coffee dealers were using combination sales to dispose of poorer grades of coffee and to gain the trade of competitors."

Riley Blames Wholesalers.

Mr. Riley said it was the wholesalers and not housewives who were responsible for the sugar scarcity. He said the wholesalers were panicky over the possibilities of a shortage in the future and were buying up in large quantities to protect themselves. He doubted there was danger of the country being without sugar during the year.

Dr. Eugene H. Porter, State Commissioner of Foods and Markets, said that by the end of the week the public in New York should be able to purchase lamb and veal at least one-third cheaper than a fortnight ago.

"When live lambs were selling at 35 cents recently, the New Yorker paid 60 cents for lamb chops," Commissioner Porter said. "Live lambs today bring 16 and 17 cents. By Saturday or Monday all the decrease in the wholesale market should be passed along to the consumer. Not only the kosher shops and others handling city dressed meat, but all meat stores should give the consumer the benefit of lower prices, for the same condition prevails in the Buffalo and Chicago live stock markets as here."

Butter was said to have dropped 9 cents per pound since last week, due to heavier receipts.

SUE FOR FOOD SALES PAY.

Workers in Schools Bring Action Against Mayor and Others.

Suit was brought in the Supreme Court yesterday against Mayor Hylan, City Chamberlain Berolsheimer, Market Commissioner O'Malley and Deputy Commissioner Smith in behalf of 250 men and women who sold food supplies in public schools for about two months each under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Markets. They say that since the profits from the sale was $967,751 and Commissioner O'Malley and his deputy have charged $311,371 for expenses, including wages to laborers, they should be paid at the rate of 44 a day.

The claimants ask an injunction restraining the paying out of the balance on deposit until the suit in their behalf has been tried.

PRINCESS, NURSE, WEDS.

Nadeja Troubetskoy, "Famous Beauty," Marries Capt. Schutz.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Princess Nadeja Vassilievna Troubetskoy, who has been called "the most beautiful Red Cross nurse in the world," was quietly married here today in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church to Captain Wallace Strait Schutz of Milwaukee, who served in France with the 120th Field Artillery. The bride, who served throughout the war with the Red Cross on the Russian front, has been a nurse in the Naval Hospital for the last three weeks, and doctors and nurses from the hospital were among the few guests at the ceremony today.

Miss Sara H. Cox, head nurse at the hospital, was the maid of honor and the best man was Paul N. Muder of Milwaukee, a business associate of Captain Schutz. The Princess was married in the uniform of the Russian Red Cross. The couple left for a honeymoon in Canada prior to taking up their residence in Milwaukee.

PRICE RISES SHOWN THROUGHOUT APRIL

Upward Tendency Was Marked, but May Not Continue, Says Federal Reserve Report.

FARM OUTLOOK DISQUIETING

Question of Obtaining Adequate Labor Is Said to Require the "Deepest Study."

WILL AFFECT PRODUCTION

New England's Output Likely to be Seriously Curtailed, Another Report Asserts.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Reports from Federal Reserve agents throughout the country showed a marked tendency of prices to resume their upward movement, the Federal Reserve Board reported tonight in its summary of business conditions for April.

But the board noted the hopeful sign, from the consumers' viewpoint, of "anxiety concerning the overstrained situation resulting from excessively high prices and wages," which it believed forecasts a slowing down in the skyrocketing of prices.

While the agricultural outlook is distinctly less satisfactory than it was a month ago," the summary said, "and while the month of April has been a period of serious labor disturbances, especially in the transportation field, the activity of business has continued high, demand for products strong and with prices tending upward rather than downward. Industries are not, as a whole, booked far ahead, relatively speaking, as in the past, although in some lines the volume of unfilled orders is very large.

"The export trade holds up in an unexpected degree, and bank credit, although not materially larger in volume than at the opening of April, has had to follow more or less the course of demand, so that expansion at various points has taken the place of reductions effected at others."

The board "viewed with some alarm" the question of obtaining adequate labor for the farms. This question was considered the most difficult element of the whole labor situation, and was declared to demand the deepest study in order to obvite serious results both to the producer and the consumer. Farmers have been unable to obtain more than half of the labor they need, southern districts reported.

The board dismissed discussion of the railway strike with the statement that it collapsed "on account of general lack of public sympathy."

With the withdrawal of Government regulations on bituminous coal, the summary said, a general revival of pre-war mining operations was shown. In general, the reserve agents observed demands for coal to be far ahead of the supply, with nop rospects to "month-to-month" requirements being exceeded by production before Fall.

All lines of manufacturing have shown unprecedented activity, with textile makers leading in capacity operation. In the shoe and leather field, however, a "mixed situation" exists, which in some cases has resulted in a semi-stagnation, according to the report.

While buying power has been somewhat limited by credit contraction in every section of the country, the Board said that the ordinary surplus of goods produced—the surplus which might operate to reduce prices—had been absorbed through heavy exports. Raw materials which have been going overseas in vast quantities, however, have begun to return as finished products to a limited extent, and commerce and industry is watching developments closely, the reserve agents reported.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 29.—The Federal Land Bank of Springfield today issued a statement predicting a serious decrease in food production in New England and other Northern States.

The statement says that there is an acute shortage of farm labor, coupled with transportation difficulties, delayed supplies of seeds, fertilizers and equipment necessary for the Spring planting. This shortage is having the effect of decreasing production in crops and live-stock, and lowering the morale of the agricultural class.

SMITH-HIRSHFIELD VICE CHARGES HEARD

March Grand Jury and Extraordinary Body Takes Up Accusations.

FINDS NEW HENRY ACCOUNT

Assistant District Attorney Gets Data from Brokers—Detectives Deny Graft.

The March Grand Jury began yesterday to receive evidence submitted by Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith against Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield, while the Extraordinary Grand Jury, which was meeting in another part of the building, had before it charges which Hirshfield had made against Smith.

The witness against the Commissioner of Accounts was Derzo Klein, who ran a coffee house at 1,525 Second Avenue, which was raided in March, 1919, after Klein had written to Mayor Hylan, complaining that the police were annoying him and injuring his business without cause.

Klein went to the District Attorney's office recently and said that an effort had been made to get him to give false testimony, incriminating a former police inspector who was in the bad graces of the Hylan administration. Klein asserted that it was suggested to him that it would be to his advantage if he would come out with charges that the police inspector had tried to blackmail him. Klein said that he refused to perjure himself, in spite of the fact that veiled promises and threats were made repeatedly.

May Subpoena Stenographer.

Assistant District Attorney Smith obtained yesterday a copy of the examination of Klein several months ago by Hirshfield, a document which bore no evidence of threats or leading questions. This record did not reflect in any way on the Commissioner of Accounts. The District Attorney's office probably will subpoena today the stenographer who took the testimony in order to obtain the original notes. The charge made by Hirshfield against Smith, which is still under investigation by the Extraordinary Grand Jury, is that Smith was interested years ago in a gambling house disguised as a political club. District Attorney Swann spent an hour and a quarter before the Extraordinary Grand Jury. Mr. Swann refused to tell the nature of his testimony before the body with which he had carried on a bitter controversy for several months, but said that his relations had been very pleasant.

One of the subjects inquired into by the March Grand Jury was the reason for the order issued last Spring that any member of the Police Department who had been summoned to the District Attorney's office for any reason whatsoever, or had been summoned before the Grand Jury, should make a full report of all that had happened to his immediate superior. This order was issued shortly after the reduction by Commissioner Enright of Inspector Dan Costigan, which came soon after Costigan made a sensational raid over the head of Inspector Dominick Henry on the Reynolds gambling house. Police Captain Alfred G. Thor, who is stationed at Police Headquarters, was examined on this subject. Other police witnesses examined by the March Grand Jury were Acting Inspector Samuel Helton and Police Captains Lyons, Davis, McAuley and Boyle.

Gets New Henry Stock Account.

Assistant District Attorney Smith obtained another set of Stock Exchange accounts of Inspector Henry, whose trial on a charge of neglect of duty is set for May 10. These were furnished by the brokerage firm of Black, Maloney & Co. Smith said they had not been analyzed and that he did not know what they showed. Other witnesses were clerks from the Harriman National Bank and the Corn Exchange Bank, who were called upon for information as to the size of Inspector Henry's bank accounts. Detectives Thomas Smith and William G. Haake, who were named by Samuel Liebowitz as graft takers in his testimony in Jefferson Market Court, took the stand and denied the charge. Liebowitz, who had testified in behalf of his son Herman, arrested in a raid on the Hotel Hemlock, asserted that he had been informed, when he took the management of the hotel, that $50 a week graft had been paid previously to the detectives. Magistrate Douras adjourned the case until May 7 to permit both sides to submit briefs. Assistant District Attorney Smith said yesterday that he would investigate this case after the hearing in Jefferson Market Court was disposed of.

DR. EGAN SAYS AMERICA IS IN DIPLOMATIC WORLD

Former Minister to Denmark Asserts We Must Play Our Part Whether We Like It or Not.

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, former Minister to Denmark, was the principal speaker at the Founder's Day celebration at Carnegie Institute here today. He spoke on "America in the Diplomatic World" and declared that "probably no country was ever less prepared by education and tradition for the epoch which it has entered of late, than ours."

"America is, fortunately or unfortunately, in the world of diplomacy," he said. "Whether we like it or not, there we are, and it will require all the force of our inherited traditions, all our brain power, and all our normal training to take our part in this new universe which the terrific misfortune of the war has created."

Methods of diplomacy must have their "silent reserves," continued the doctor, adding. "It is childish to assume that the affairs of a Government can ever be conducted without a reasonable degree of secrecy. * * * We have entered the world of diplomacy, and we cannot disregard the legitimate methods of diplomacy. While we are bound to oppose with all our power those secret policies which made unoffending peoples to be mere gladiators used in bloody fights at the will of those who controlled them, we must learn that diplomacy is a science and an art; that we have only begun to acquire the rudiments of it; that we cannot apply those remedies, so valuable and curative in our own political atmosphere, to conditions in Europe which bear no comparison with ours. If some of our allies in the war appear to be ungrateful, if they misunderstand us, we ought humbly to remember that we have misunderstood and do misunderstand them."

BILL PRESENTED TO HELP REVIVE FARM LOANS

Authorizes Treasury to Purchase $100,000,000 in Bonds in 1920-21.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Commissioner Lobdell of the Farm Loan Board today called the Presidents of all farm loan banks to Washington for a conference Monday to discuss the situation growing out of the action of the Supreme Court in ordering a rehearing of the suit to test the constitutionality of the Farm Loan act. Present indications are that a decision will not be forthcoming before Fall. The board suspended making loans two months ago and now, as a result of the postponement by the court, faces an entire Summer of inactivity.

Mr. Lobdell said that applications aggregating $50,000,000 were on file with the twelve banks, representing applications from more than 20,000 farmers.

During the war, the Treasury was empowered by Congress to absorb bonds of the Farm Loan board and supply the necessary funds to meet loan applications. While the board has not decided to ask Congress to revive that legislation, it was indicated that such a step was under consideration as a means of resuming loans.

Representative Ferris, Democrat, of Oklahoma, today introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase during 1920 and 1921 farm loan bonds amounting to $100,000,000.

WILL ISSUE BEER LICENSES.

2.75 Per Cent. Permits to be Granted if Bill is Signed.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 29.—Favorable action by Governor Smith on the Walker 2.75 per cent. beer bill before the United States Supreme Court renders its decision on the constitutionality of the Volstead act, will result in the State Excise Department issuing licenses for the sale of the beer.

This was made plain today by State Excise Commissioner Herbert S. Sisson, who declared that the State would have no other course in the event of the Governor signing the bill before the court decision is handed down.

Yale Will Hold a Mock Convention.

NEW HAVEN, April 29.—A mock Republican National Convention will be held by Yale undergraduates in Woolsey Hall on the evening of May 12 to familiarize the student body with the political organization and mechanism of such gatherings. A Republican national committee has been named to arrange details and supervise the convention when held. The caucuses for delegates will be held right away, each department and dormitory to have voting power in choice of delegates in proportion to its population.

Good clothes—shabby luggage—why?

LOOK over any crowd waiting for a train—and you will see many well-dressed people carrying luggage entirely out of keeping with the rest of their appointments.

True, there will always be a certain element of the American public with a perverse pride in flouting style. Just as certain types of people refuse to understand the true economy of fine quality.

But what looks like indifference to fine luggage is at bottom ignorance of the things that constitute good luggage.

No public so critical about the style and material of its clothes, hats, shoes, will be denied either style or quality in its luggage—when it knows the facts.

And the facts are simply these—that there are so many varying standards in luggage, so many cheapening processes that never show until a bag is used—that reliance should be placed upon a name like Belber. This guarantees metropolitan style, picked materials, and quality through and through.

Any one of the Belber merchants will tell you that Belber is his leading line with the accomplished traveler—and that it is bringing him more and more of those customers whose trade is worth having.

Gray Goods Were Very Quiet.

It is quite a long time since trading in the local market for gray goods was as quiet as it was yesterday. Snap to speak was entirely lacking, although there a sale slipped through which somebody was taken off guard. Spot and May business was done on 39-inch 64-72s and on 38½-inch 64-60s at 26 and 25½ cents, respectively, and in odd sheetings a few 5.50s were sold for June at 14½ cents. Specialties were very quiet, as were fine-yarn cloths. Some demand for the latter may set in, however, if the threatened strike of the New Bedford mill workers comes to pass.

Hard to Figure Demand.

Present conditions, in the opinion of a local manufacturer, should create an active market for accessory garments by all the rules of the merchandise game, but for some reason such lines are passing through an unusually dull period. He explained that the high cost of suits has come direct to retail to the benefit of the manufacturers making articles women buy to add a fresh touch to their wardrobes. Thus, a woman who does not wish to pay a whole lot for a suit might feel expected to buy a waist. He stated that, either the economy movement has become stronger than the manufacturers suspect, or else there is a good deal more home dressmaking going on than is imagined.

Expensive Buying Trips.

In commenting on the absence of many retail clothiers who formerly made a practice of visiting this market at the opening of the season, a clothing representative stated yesterday that there are important reasons why fewer buyers are making trips here this season. Results accrued from such trips the last two or three seasons, he said, have not justified the expense. Deliveries were poor, and coming to the market did not help the buyers to get their merchandise any faster. Expenses connected with such trips, he also mentioned, have not come down to a very important consideration when formerly they did not cut so big a figure. Prohibition, he added, has also caused some retailers to change their minds about visiting this market.

Textile Color Card.

The Fall and Winter 1920 color card issued by the Textile Color Card Association of the United States consists of sixty-six silk and twelve woolen shades, the largest number so far presented. Since and leather colors are separately grouped, the ten shades having been selected by the Allied Council of Shoe and Leather Industries, in conjunction with the association. Flame colors of the 1920 Spring card are carried over among the evening shades, which also feature light green. Browns are prominent, and a wide range of blues is presented. In the shoe colors brown is featured, and a light and a dark gray are introduced. Types of brown, green and blue are shown in the woolen range.

Dress Demand Is Improving.

The business situation in New York State is showing signs of improvement, so far as dresses are concerned, according to a statement issued yesterday by the Associated Dress Industries of America. The outstanding features of the present situation are the unusual values that are being offered, both by jobbers and wholesale trade, due to a desire on the part of all interests to cooperate with the Government in its efforts to reduce the cost of living. The statement also said that the association is planning to have its out-of-town Vice Presidents supply regular reports on business in their sections of the country. This information, together with local conditions and the situation prevailing in the materials markets, will be incorporated in a monthly bulletin that is to be sent to members of the organization.

Raw Silk Prices Unsettled.

Prices in the Yokohama raw silk market registered another decline of 200 yen since last week, according to information received here by H. L. Gwalter & Co., bringing double extra filatures down to 2,800 yen. At this figure moderate business was done. Sinshiu No. 1 dropped at times to 2,500 yen per picul, although later rumors had it that a still sharper break had brought that grade down to 1,960 yen. Stocks are estimated at 22,000 bales. The Canton market is dull, and holders are offering slight concessions on new crop silk for July-August shipment. Shanghai is quiet, with steam filatures for late deliveries offered at somewhat reduced prices. The Milan market is reported fairly steady on a moderate demand from French consumers. Locally there is little business being done, and prices are depressed and irregular.

Clothing Opened Too Early?

Some factors in the clothing trade have ventured the opinion that the industry would have been fitted from a later opening than the one made. The chief reason given is that the situation would have been somewhat improved if the retail trade had been given an opportunity to do more Spring business before being asked to put down orders for next Fall. On the other hand, however, the argument is heard that all conditions except the weather are not expected to improve much, and that consequently the clothing openings were just as well timed as possible under the circumstances. It is pointed out, furthermore, that more road sales will have to be made than has been the case in the last two or three years, and with the early opening more time will be allowed to do such work.

Worsteds Mainly Sought.

Despite the prices asked, fine worsteds continue to be sought just as actively in the woolen market as if there was no such thing as "cheaper clothes" agitation. Some buyers, who visit the selling offices, act a good deal in the manner of a small child before a toy window. They are anxious to buy the best, but the price stops them. When fabrics are shown them within the price limits they fix, they are not at all satisfied and attempt to do some bargaining. So far, the mills have shown no disposition to accept lower bids on the better grades of goods, although concessions are not infrequently made on the cheaper materials. One mill agent remarked on the difficulty the buyer, who has become accustomed to purchasing the best, has in getting back to the price limits approximating those he formerly paid. "If the consumer finds it just as hard," he said, "it is pretty certain that we will be a long time getting back to using the normal grades."

***

"Free Spending" Not Over.

That "free spending" on the part of the so-called working classes is not yet over, despite the various indications that it is on the wane, was the contention advanced yesterday by an executive of a big retail store. "A day or two ago," he said, "a young man and woman, dressed rather ordinarily, came here with their baby and were directed to the section of the store in which baby carriages and go-carts are sold. From their appearance you would have thought that $20 or $35 was their limit, yet they took the most expensive 'trick' carriage in the place and paid $110 cash for it. I call it a 'trick' carriage because it was made in the shape of an automobile, with headlights, glass windshield, storm curtains and all the other trimmings. Personally, I would have thought twice before I paid such a price for a baby cart of any kind, yet they paid it without the least hesitation."

Says Top Is Not Reached.

One of the most conservative manufacturing furriers in the local trade is authority for the statement that "top" has not yet been reached in the prices to be quoted on fur coats and sets. He bases his argument on several things, one of which is the fact that the prices at which goods were sold in the recent auction here did not establish new and lower market values. In other words, the big dealers, who really set the market, are showing no desire whatever to sell goods away and are holding very firmly. In addition, stocks of raw furs in the hands of the manufacturers are small, which means that they will have to buy soon and thereby sustain the market. Higher costs for labor and a heavy consumer demand, he said, must also be taken into consideration as bullish factors. As proof of the big consumer demand he displayed evidence showing that the business booked by his concern to date, compared with a similar period in 1919, was 350 per cent. larger. While this concern was in dollars and cents, he further asserted that there was also a big increase in the number of pieces sold.

WESTGATE'S CREW RESCUED

British Ship Was Damaged in Storm When Masts Were Cut Down.

BOSTON, April 29.—The story of the loss of the British ship Westgate, previously reported abandoned at sea, and a menace to navigation was told by members of the crew of twenty-two men on their arrival from Yarmouth, N. S., today.

The Westgate, which left Perth Amboy on April 15 for Halifax with a cargo of coal, ran into a heavy storm on April 18 and her cargo shifted. To prevent the vessel from capsizing the masts were cut away and when the main mast fell it smashed the lifeboats and damaged the ship. Three days later the fishing schooner W. G. Robertson came alongside and put out dories. The crew of the Westgate jumped into the dories and were transfered to the schooner, which landed them at Shelburne, N. S.

The Westgate was built at Liverpool, England, in 1885, and registered 1,921 tons gross.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Industrial Stocks Continue to Decline—Rail Strikes Still Affect Credit.

The stock market yesterday continued the characteristics of Wednesday's dealings, with, perhaps, a greater quantity of real liquidation accompanying the heavy output of short sales. Industrial shares were under steady pressure until the last hour, when the situation was altered merely by accelerated selling which left quotations near their lowest levels of the session. Reading fell sharply and there was a weakness elsewhere among the rails, but this department as a whole maintained a fairly steady front. In the industrial group declines ran from 2 to more than 3 points, distributed throughout a broad trading list. Call money lent again at 8 and 10 per cent., the former rate prevailing for most of the day's loans and renewals.

The market appeared to be reflecting more than before the generally tight credit situation, which in the Middle West is being emphasized by complaints of merchants and other large borrowers over the disinclination of Federal Reserve Banks and member institutions to increase loans. It is becoming more evident as time passes that the railroad strikes have had a decidedly adverse effect upon business credit. While the railway workers are reported to be rapidly getting back to their jobs, the inevitable product of ten day's restriction of the traffic flow is found in dammed-up goods at factories and in the continuation of embargoes at various points. The steel trade by no means stands alone with an immense amount of capital frozen in finished products which cannot yet be delivered. Reports from producing centres show that at the same time that working funds in many lines of industry are congealed in materials slow of liquidation the banks are not in position to relieve the situation even temporarily through an expansion of credit lines. Doubtless the security markets, including the market for Liberty bonds, have disclosed in the last week the efforts of corporations to raise cash by selling investments. It would seem as if selling impelled by business needs would slacken as soon as manufacturers and merchants are able to move their goods.

It hardly need be said that Wall Street has become rather blue over the credit outlook, assisted by apprehension of a consequent slackening of general business. The stock market has reflected this feeling amply since Monday of last week, and prophets of adverse developments are not lacking. In quarters where cool counsel prevails, however, the suggestion that a readjustment to clearer credit for use in business does not essentially forecast depression is strongly put. With improvement of railroad transportation, it is believed, there will be a betterment of credit, and as far as trade is concerned it is held that nothing thus far has disclosed a pronounced contraction in the demand for most forms of goods.

Foreign exchange bankers reported speculation as the leading factor in yesterday's sharp fluctuations of sterling. From 3.85¾ the check rate swung down to 3.82¼ and recovered to 3.84¾, off 1¼ cents for the day. The market's action indicated a stirring of speculative endeavor by rumors of further gold imports, which bears on rates have been inclined to doubt. The Bank of England statement as of Wednesday showed an increase of about $9,500,000 in note circulation, which may or may not have denoted an accumulation of gold from the joint stock banks for export. The bank's gold holdings increased during the week by less than $500,000.

HARVESTER INCOME DECLINES IN 1919

WAR LOSSES WRITTEN OFF

Liberty Bond Holdings of $9,626,710 Disposed Of During Year—Re-establishing European Business.

The report of the International Harvester Company for last year indicates that all of the company's holding of Liberty bonds were disposed of during 1919. In the 1918 report Liberty bond holdings amounted to $9,626,710. The income account of the company shows a surplus, after charges, taxes and war losses, of $12,608,726, equivalent after the deduction of preferred dividends to $10.51 a share on the common stock. In the preceding year the surplus for dividends was $16,985,325, equivalent to $11.73 a share on the common after providing for the preferred stock distributions.

The operating income after taxes was $25,786,197, a decline of $5,862,659 from the preceding year. After all normal charges there was a balance of $20,011,760, a decline of $5,451,565 from the 1918 figures. From this amount $7,403,034 was deducted to cover war losses. The report of a year ago charged off $10,475,000 for this item. The report explains that the losses in Russia, Germany, Austria, Hungary and the Balkan States have been written off, the only investment in those countries being the Russian and German factories valued as plant properties and inventories of the $6,850,000.

The balance sheet shows a reduction in inventories of approximately $18,000,000 and an increase in cash on hand of $11,000,000. One item among assets entitled "funds in Europe" and amounting to $24,834,072, which appeared in 1918, is absent entirely from the present report.

Harold F. McCormick, President of the company, in his remarks to stockholders, says, in part:

"Upon the signing of the armistice, steps were at once taken to re-establish the company's European business, an undertaking which still presents many difficulties and discouragements.

"The company's first efforts were directed to the restoration of its French factory, which with extreme difficulty and at excessive cost has been completely re-equipped and is now prepared to resume the manufacture of mowers, rakes, harrows, tedders and twine.

"The factory near Neuss, Germany, is in the occupied zone. The general manager of the company, arriving there even before the Allied Army of Occupation, found that it had been operated during the war under German governmental control. The legal status of the plant and the company's right to repossess it were then undetermined. However, with the full knowledge of the Allied Council and the United States Government, representatives of the company reassumed management and the plant is now under the superintendency of a United States citizen.

"The factory at Norrkoping Sweden, continues running at capacity to meet the heavy demands of Scandinavia and neighboring countries.

"With the close of the 1919 season the company readjusted its method of selling in the United States to comply with the Government decree limiting its dealer representation.

"The company felt justified in making a substantial reduction in the prices of farm implements and twine manufactured during the last half of the year for sale in 1920 season; and it was hoped that this action might have some influence in helping to reduce commodity prices and the cost of living in general."

Mr. McCormick then states that, in view of advancing costs of raw materials and labor, it will probably be necessary to advance prices for delivery late in 1920 and 1921.

SAYS AMERICA LEADS IN OIL.

Not Outstripped in Foreign Fields, Says Investigator.

The United States is not missing opportunities to develop oil properties in Africa, Asia, South America and other fields throughout the world in addition to the work done in this country, according to H. D. Fruesuff, of Henry L. Doherty & Company, who has returned from England, France, Belgium and other parts of Europe. He said yesterday that Europe recognized America's leadership in the oil business.

"The outstanding fact is that the only limit on European demand for oil is fixed by an available transportation facilities," said Mr. Fruesuff. "Petroleum stocks in Europe, particularly of gasoline, fuel oil and lubricating oils, have not yet begun to get back to normal. Competition from continental sources is cut off and is likely to remain negligible for some time, because of the breakdown of the transportation system for serving Russian and Roumanian fields.

"So far as competition is concerned, it is true that they are talking in England about the development of the oil resources of the British possessions, but it must be borne in mind that American concerns are not asleep and are at work wherever oil is found, in Asia, Africa, South America, as well as in our own country. It is well recognized in England that they must turn to America for leadership in the oil business. When England wants experts, geologists, technical men of all sorts, she comes to us. It is noticeable, too, that in the British flotations of oil properties, there is apt to be an American interest, a refinery, or something of that sort connected with the proposition.

"With regard to price, the European buyer is becoming educated to the necessities of the situation. Before the war Europe was more or less a dumping ground for the excess of American production and low prices on American products were accepted for this reason. Europe now, with an adverse exchange situation and difficulties of production to meet, is finding that as a buyer she must meet competition and prices must adjust themselves accordingly."

Tight Credits.

There is nothing very pleasing in the present credit situation. Reports from mercantile centres say that money for commercial purposes is extremely hard to get; it is not a question of high rates so much as an actual paucity of funds, and, with goods accumulating in warehouses, the merchants are being rather hard put to make both ends meet. A somewhat greater than usual appeal to the bill market is reported, and under the circumstances it is, perhaps, natural that considerable uneasiness should develop whenever any one begins to talk about deflation. The call money market, not much of an index of general money conditions of late, has developed a tendency to slide up to around 10 per cent. the last few days, and this, too, adds to the uneasiness.

Belgium's Bank Rate.

The Bank of Belgium, at Brussels, yesterday announced an advance in its official rate of discount from 4½ per cent. to 5½ per cent. Until within a few weeks ago the rate at Brussels stood at 4 per cent., but then it was advanced one-half of 1 per cent. Yesterday's further rise, which was announced in private advices received here by bankers, was explained as a more or less sympathetic move, in keeping with what other State institutions in Europe have been doing of late.

***

More Gold Going Out.

Word received from the Pacific Coast yesterday said that between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 gold would leave San Francisco within a day or two, and that its destination would be China, with the possibility of a portion of the consignment finding its way into India. This movement, which was most pronounced early in the year, had been interrupted for some little time, and the resumption of it, coming just now, when it was thought that South America had about ceased to draw on our gold, tends to spoil the hopes of those who had expected that American gold supplies would be allowed to accumulate again. Incidentally, it was announced yesterday that $1,490,000 gold had been engaged here for shipment to Ceylon.

Recent Export Developments.

The classified statement of March's export trade show something of a return to pre-war conditions, and, what is more, a trend in what many regard the right direction for the rest of the world. For instance, crude materials for use in manufacturing increased in March 241 per cent. over what they were in March, 1918, while manufactures for further use in manufacturing increased only 16 per cent. and manufactures ready for consumption increased 72 per cent. Foodstuffs in crude condition and those wholly or partly manufactured decreased 3 per cent. in March this year as compared with March two years ago. The much greater relative increase in the outside world's takings of our raw materials, it is thought, indicates a determination on the part of the rest of the world, but particularly on that of Europe, to get back to its pre-war producing basis. The figures, however, will have much greater significance when the fuller details of destination, &c., of the goods shipped and the raw materials exported are available.

Steel Common Heavy.

United States Steel common shares continued under pressure, the decline carrying them close to the low for the year. There is no question but that the asset position of Steel is stronger than with many industrials, but this is not having much weight at the present time. Failure to increase the dividend rate by declaring an extra is the chief argument used by the bears. Unquestionably much of the steel stock that is being offered is put out by short sellers who consider industrial conditions as unfavorable. This selling, however, may bring out further long stock. Some excellent buying in Steel was reported yesterday. It is patent that the decline in Steel cannot go much further before the stock will be offering a dividend yield such as would make the shares a fine investment as compared with the new issues that are being put out.

A Bull Market.

As is always the case when prices decline steadily for several days at a time, there was a decided atmosphere of depression in the financial district. Most of the unfavorable factors were emphasized and the omens of favorable portent were quite ignored. As one man put it things were just about blue enough to indicate that a change was in order. Those who were inclined to see a ray of hope here and there for security prices expressed the opinion that the rails afforded the foundation for the next speculative move. The phrase "a rail market" was heard with greater frequence than in some time. Several months ago the same opinion was expressed by certain raiders, and the rails did have a slight move, but the flurry was short-lived. Naturally, if predictions are allowed to go on repeating themselves long enough, some time or other they must fall true. However, the fact remains that some of the rail stocks are in a position which provides the basis for an advance.

Mexican Output of Oil.

The figures as to the export of crude petroleum from Mexico during March indicate that rapid progress is being made toward alleviating the oil shortage. It was owing to the lack of Mexican crude that several of the large refineries early in the year had to curtail operations, even to the point of laying off workers. The March exportation of Mexican petroleum amounted to 10,218,000 barrels, a gain of about 2,600,000 barrels over February.

The Excess Earnings Clause.

Special attention has been paid to the reference made by Judge Robert S. Lovett in the Union Pacific report to the recapture clause in the Transportation act and its relation to the rate now being paid by the railroad companies for new funds. In several offices his point that the law prohibits more than a 5½ or 6 per cent. return on equipment, funds for which some companies have paid as high as 7½ per cent., has been received as illustrative of the unfairness of the situation. In some quarters the opinion has been expressed that the Interstate Commerce Commission may be more broad in its application of the law than is generally expected, and that this obvious unfairness may be surmounted. All experts it is known that the validity of the law will be tested as soon as it can be, and there are many railroad operators and lawyers who believe it unconstitutional.

Gains in a Declining Market.

Three different stocks, Brown Shoe, Barnsdall Corporation, and Burns Brothers, showed substantial net gains at the close of yesterday's declining market. But the gains were made on small turnovers. In Brown Shoe 500 shares changed hands, 400 shares of Burns Brothers were turned over, and 600 shares of Barnsdall were sold. With the exception of a few other gains, most of them fractional, the plus signs before those three issues looked lonesome in the list.

Reading Decision Still Reflected.

Baltimore & Ohio 6s and New York Central debenture 6s continued to indicate that the Reading decision was being interpreted as favorable to both bonds. The first sold to a new high on this movement, getting up to 86¾, as compared with the close last week at 83. From the high price there was a natural reaction on profit-taking to the close at 85¾, a net loss for the day of half a point. The New York Central debenture 6s closed unchanged. There has been some good buying of both issues since the Reading decision was handed down, and it was expected that speculators would take profits soon.

BARES TUBE SALARY RISE IN FARE FIGHT

HITS INTERSTATE BOARD

Alternative Recommendation for 6 and 10 Cent Rate Denounced as Unauthorized.

The action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in suggesting that the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company should charge 6-cent fares between downtown and uptown Manhattan and 10 cents to and from points in New Jersey, after that body had denied a petition of the company seeking a straight 8-cent fare, was described as "unauthorized, unwarranted and presumptuous," by John J. Fallon, City Attorney of Hoboken, when he appeared before Interstate Commerce Examiner Royal T. McKenna, at a hearing on the tube fare increases yesterday at 16 East Thirty-ninth Street. It also was brought out that President Oren Root's salary was raised from $10,000 to $30,000 March 1, 1919.

Jersey City, which gave notice of its intention to fight the fare increases at the same time that Hoboken took action, was represented by Corporation Counsel Charles M. Egan and Corporation Attorney John Bentley. James W. Carmalt, counsel for the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company, and Charles R. Howland, counsel for the adjustment mortgage bondholders, represented the company, whose President, Oren Root, and Executive Secretary, C. J. Anthony, were also present at the hearing.

When F. H. Silleck, controller for the company, was put on the stand, Mr. Fallon undertook to show that the corporation had failed to give the public sufficient notice of the proposed fare increases. It was at this stage of the proceedings that he characterized the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission as unauthorized.

Mr. Silleck said that 60 per cent. of the salaries of the tube employes on the lines west of Summit Avenue were paid by the Pennsylvania, and the remaining 40 per cent. by the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company. The tubes carried 21,915,900 passengers for the steam railroad companies in 1910 under agreements it had with the latter, Silleck said. Fallon then pointed out that Silleck had testified before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington that the number of passengers carried for the steam roads was 378,000 below the figures given yesterday.

Robert Carey, counsel for the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce, said the Directors of that organization had adopted a resolution expressing the belief that the company was entitled to relief. De Witt Van Buskirk, President of the Bayonne Chamber of Commerce, said that his organization entertained similar views.

When Charles M. Egan, Corporation Counsel of Jersey City, cross-examined the witness it was disclosed that the action of the Jersey City Chamber had not been taken at a meeting of the members of that body, but that the Directors, under the constitution of the organization, were legally authorized to express the views of the members.

Salary increases given to the officials of the company were attacked by Fallon later in the afternoon when Silleck again was put on the stand. It then was brought out that the salary of Root had been increased threefold on March 1 last year. It was the contention of Mr. Fallon that the company should have reduced salaries before increasing fares.

When Mr. Fallon asked for the company's records, so that he could have them investigated by an accountant, his request was denied by Examiner McKenna, who said that he should have brought an accountant with him to the hearing. Officials of the road expressed willingness to permit the examination of their books by expert accountants to be selected by the city officials of Hoboken and Jersey City, but Corporation Counsel Fallon suggested that this would involve excessive time and expense, and he thought the company should be able to furnish the figures desired.

Along with figures showing revenue and expenses, the company submitted an exhibit to show that the increase in fares had not met with the public opposition which the Jersey City officials had anticipated. It was declared that only twenty-five persons had attended a protest meeting.

Hocking Valley Buys Locomotives.

It was learned yesterday that the Hocking Valley Railroad has purchased ten Santa Fé type locomotives from the Lehigh Valley Railroad. The purchase price was not divulged.

COTTON LAGS DULLY IN NARROW LIMITS

Market Closes with Little More Than Nominal Changes for Day.

MAY DAY FEARS ARE CITED

Labor Trouble Reports Given as a Reason for Quiet—Exports Increase.

The cotton market yesterday, especially in the afternoon, was extremely dull and prices moved within narrow ranges. October, the most active option on the list, was the only one to fluctuate as much as half a cent, or 50 points, while the others kept within limits of 35 to 40 points. At one time in the afternoon the market was stationary, with neither buyers nor sellers in evidence. It was the dullest day seen in some time.

Some Southern selling and rumors of labor troubles at New Bedford and elsewhere caused an early break of 20 to 30 points. This was in the first hour, but shortly after that there was a rally which brought the whole list back to about where it had closed on Wednesday. In the early afternoon, reports of good weather, clear but somewhat cold, and the renewed weakness of the stock market, sent prices down again to about where they were on the morning dip. But they came back fairly well in the late trading and finished the day at changes which were little more than nominal.

Some traders thought the dullness was in keeping with the reports of possible labor disturbances over May 1, with a consequent unwillingness on the part of the trade to continue buying. However, this report was probably exaggerated and what was much more likely was that the market simply was resting after its strenuous gyrations of the past week or so. Such periods of dullness usually follow violent fluctuations.

Exports for the day picked up, with a total of 27,318 bales, of which 18,993 went to Continental countries other than France, and 8,325 bales went to the Orient. This amount brought the total for the week up to 96,868 bales, so that unless today is a particularly poor one the exports for the week should be close to 125,000 bales.

EGGS—The receipts yesterday were 17,584 cases. The market maintained a firm tone on the highest qualities of fresh gathered under a continued disposition to store stock unless full prices can be obtained. Interior marks were reported generally firm. There is still rather a slow market for the average and lower grades. Full range of values was without material change. Nearby white eggs were about steady in the finest qualities, but a large part of the supply has no value above a range of 45@52c. Californias were steady. FRENCH DEBATE OIL CONTROL

Legislation Proposed to Have Prices Fixed by the Government.

PARIS, April 29.—Importations of oil will be subjected to Government control and oil will be sold in France at prices fixed by the Cabinet in case of the adoption of a section of the Tax bill being considered in the Chamber of Deputies. This provides that the limited monopoly in oil now held by the Government shall be extended until the first of next year.

Discussion of the proposal in the Chamber this week has brought out the fact that France was in grave danger during the war of facing a shortage of fuel and lubricating oils, and that Premier Clemenceau had to appeal directly to President Wilson on two occasions.

Profits on oil imported during the war were very large, it was charged, and there was sharp criticism of the Standard Oil Company and the British Shell Corporation in this connection. It developed, however, that there were confidential phases of the oil situation which could not be discussed in the open Chamber, and the matter was referred to the Tax Committee for further consideration.

It has been proposed in the Chamber that 10,000,000 francs be appropriated for the purpose of developing French oil production.

NEW MEASURES END BRONX SPECULATION

SALES STEADILY DECLINE

Manhattan Apartment Houses, However, Are Continuing to Attract New Investment Capital.

The effects of the recently-enacted legislation in behalf of tenants have become apparent in the Borough of the Bronx, where speculative purchases have almost ceased within recent weeks. It is in the residential communities of the Bronx that the so-called "leasters" plied their trade to such an extent that the borough became the centre of the bitterest landlord and tenant controversies in the entire city.

The Bronx real estate buying movement, which gained its impetus largely from speculators who sought to capitalise the housing shortage, has subsided to such a degree as to interest itself almost exclusively with private houses.

There were only two deals closed in the borough yesterday, involving small properties taken for occupancy.

J. L. Van Sant resold through B. Califano the three-story dwelling at 466 East 185th Street, lot 18 by 100, and through Louis N. Steyn the adjoining and similar house at 466. The buyers will occupy.

The Manhattan Market.

In Manhattan, however, there were several good sized investment deals closed, involving apartment houses.

The nine-story elevator apartment on plot 82.3 by 100.8, at 160 West Eighty-seventh Street, near Amsterdam Avenue, has been sold by I. Randolph and Everett Jacobs to the newly formed 160 West Eighty-seventh Street Corporation, representing one of the tenants. Milton Dammann, Nathan S. Meyer and John Detjen are the directors of the new company. The building, which was erected a few years ago by the Princefon Construction Company, Isaac Plostein, President, was valued at $450,000. The Wood-Dolson Company, Inc., negotiated the transaction.

The Davenport, a five-story apartment house, on plot 57 by 95, at the northeast corner of Audubon Avenue and 169th Street, was sold by the Fichter Realty Company to Bessie Kanter. The property rents for $18,000, and was held at $115,000. J. Jelot and William Baker negotiated the transaction.

Irving Bachrach bought from the Jones estate, 450 Lenox Avenue, a five-story tenement with stores, 25 by 100.

Leon S. Altmayer and Chr. Voigt & Son sold for F. Hahkin the three five-story apartment houses with stores at 1,696, 1,698 and 1,700 Third Avenue, on plot 78 by 61 feet. The same brokers recently negotiated the sale of 182 East Ninety-fifth Street, immediately to the rear.

Dwight, Archibald & Perry, in connection with A. Levin, resold for J. L. Miller the five-story tenement, 154 West Twentieth Street, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues. The purchaser contemplates extensive alterations.

$246,800 FOR KAHN ESTATE.

Tenement Properties Purchased by Operators and Tenants.

Tenement properties on the lower east side found ready buyers and brought good prices in the Vesey Street salesroom yesterday, when Joseph P. Day sold twelve parcels, comprising the realty holding of the Joseph Kahn estate, for a total of $246,800.

The sale was well attended, the majority of the properties being purchased by operators and small investers.

Among the tenement buyers was Dominick Graff, who paid $7,550 for 67 Pike Slip, where he has lived for thirty-four years. Abram Zerenwitz also bought the tenement in which he lives—a five-story structure at 151 Madison Street, for which he paid $18,000.

TENANTS BUY ON FRANKLIN STREET

St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal Church Disposes of Downtown Leasehold Property.

A SIXTH AVENUE DEAL

Bank Sells $160,000 Tenth Street Corner to the Haig Realty Company.

Roethlisberger & Co., dealers in cheese, who have been occupying the property at 178 to 180 Franklin Street for a number of years as owners of the leasehold building, purchased the land yesterday from St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal Church. The reputed price was $31,000.

The building is six stories in height and covers a plot 33.3 by 87.10 between Hudson and Greenwich Streets. It is valued at about $80,000, so that the investment of the purchasers in the realty will represent about $110,000.

St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal Church, which owns considerable real estate in the same neighborhood, is contemplating more sales, it being known that negotiations are pending for further purchases by tenants in leasehold properties in Franklin and North Moore Streets.

A Sixth Avenue Sale.

Thomas J. O'Reilly sold for the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank to the Haig Realty Company the six-story store and loft building at 126 to 130 Sixth Avenue, southeast corner of Tenth Street. It stands on a plot 65 by 78, was held at $160,000 and has a rent roll of approximately $25,000.

Charles R. Faruolo sold for the Broad-Division Realties Company to Isidore Kessler the seven-story loft building at 225 Division Street.

The Markham Realty Corporation, Clarence W. Eckhardt President, purchased through Harold L. Lewis a 50 by 60 foot plot at 105 and 107 Washington Street, between Rector and Carlisle Streets. The seller is Mrs. Schroen of Reno, Nev., and the property has been in her family for over fifty years. The plot is directly opposite the building to be erected by the Barrett Company.

Stafford Brothers, Inc., sold for George McKesson Brown the three-story garage, on a plot 25 by 100 at 147 West Fifty-fourth Street, to Mildred Avidan, the present lessee.

Own Your Own Home Dinner Postponed.

The second annual "Own Your Home" banquet, which was to be held this evening at the Hotel Commodore, has been postponed to Thursday, May 6. The change was made at the request of exhibitors in the Own Your Home Exposition, who felt that it would be better to hold the banquet during the week of the show, when all of the details of their exhibits were completed, leaving them free to attend the dinner.

BROOKLYN REALTY DEALS.

Supreme Court Authorizes Sale of Two Properties.

Justice Manning in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday granted permission to the Church of St. Brennan to sell property, 100 by 47 feet, on the west side of East Thirteenth Street, at Avenue O, to Martin J. Nolan for $6,500. The building on the property was formerly used as a convent. The money will be used to reduce the $50,000 mortgage on the church.

Permission to sell a piece of property, 90 by 90 feet, at Dumont and Howard Avenues, for $9,000, was also granted by Justice Manning in the Brooklyn Supreme Court to the Maternity Hospital Society of Brownsville.

The plot will be bought by the Wyon Bay Holding Company. The purchase price will be used to buy a building at 1,395 Eastern Parkway and to remodel it for hospital purposes. It was originally intended to erect a hospital on the Dumont Avenue corner, but this plan has been abandoned.

Realty Trust sold for the Alco Building Company the one-family semi-detached dwelling, 2,159 Sixty-sixth Street, Mapleton Park, to David Winet for occupancy.

The Bulkley & Horton Company sold 240 De Kalk Avenue, a three-story house, on a lot 20 by 100 irregular, to A. Tapoosian for investment.

On Staten Island.

The Clinton Trading Corporation sold to Salvatrice Cannarella the large frame dwelling at 132 Richmond Road, Richmond. Paul Trimminelli was the broker. Moffatt & Schwab sold for Charles Theodore Hahn the two-family dwelling at 27 Brewster Street, Tompkinsville, to Annie Fitzgerald.

SIX ROB BUS OFFICE, ESCAPE WITH $2,000

BUSY DAY FOR CRIMINALS

Second Avenue Man Held Up—Silk Truck Driver Blackjacked—Jewelry Store Robbed.

After holding up three cashiers and several conductors, six armed men robbed the office of the Fifth Avenue Bus Company, at Broadway and 122d Street, of $2,000 and escaped early yesterday morning. Shots were fired, secret police alarms were sounded, victims were caught trying to escape through windows and trapdoors, and a movie-like robbery came to a quiet climax when the thieves leisurely removed their masks, stepped into a large automobile and said, "Home, John!" to a uniformed chauffeur.

Three receiving clerks, George Trefts, Henry Horn and Fred Giesecke, were checking up receipts of the conductors when six masked men, each with a glistening revolver, dashed into the room. Three ran to the cashier's cage and stuck revolvers through the lattice work. The others blocked the exits.

"Throw your hands up, all of you. Any one that moves gets driller," shouted the leader of the gang.

One of the clerks ducked behind the counter, made his way to a burglar alarm and turned it on. Another reached for a revolver, but put up his hands when a bullet whizzed by his head. One of the robbers entered the cage and lined the clerks up against the wall. Another emptied the money drawers.

Mechanics Held at Bay.

When the burglar alarm sounded, fifteen mechanics in the bus company's garage left their work, armed with hammers and other tools and started to the rescue through a private entrance which connected the two buildings. The bandits had foreseen this possibility, however, and one of them, revolver in hand, confronted the workmen when they opened the door.

"This ain't an overall party," said the robber. "Keep out, but you get shot if you move."

After the robbers had collected all the money in sight they departed. The cashiers failed to get the license number of the automobile.

Hold-up men and burglars put in a rather busy day in the city. Early in the morning Frederick Holosan, 35, of 1,446 Second Avenue, was assaulted and robbed of $45 while walking in front of 327 East Seventy-fifth Street. His cries were heard by Policeman Michael Egan of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station, who arrested William Vignoli, 19, of 1,467 Second Avenue; John Bellitri, 21, of 303 East Eighty-third Street, and Joseph Maggio, 21, of 307 East Seventy-sixth Street, after a short chase. They were arraigned before Magistrate Sweetser in the Yorkville Court, where they pleaded not guilty and were held in $2,500 bail each for the action of the Grand Jury.

Silk Truck Driver Attacked.

At about 3 A. M. eight men rode in an automobile to the entrance of the B. and O. freight pier at the foot of Dover Street, on the lower east side, and blackjacked George Keimas of 9 East Twelfth Street, driver of an automobile truck which contained about $100,000 worth of silks, clothing and other goods. Four of the men threw him into their automobile and started with him for the end of the pier, evidently with the intention of throwing him overboard, but he managed to jump out of the machine. His cries attracted a policeman and the bandits fled. Klemas was taken to Volunteer Hospital, where it was found that his right ear was almost severed by the blow of one of the blackjacks.

Detectives of the West Forty-seventh Street station yesterday were seeking two men who on Wednesday night threw a brick through the window of the jewelry store conducted by Martin Fiengold at 797 Sixth Avenue and escaped with four diamonds, valued at $3,000. The robbery took place a few minutes before 9 o'clock, while the proprietor was in his office in the rear of the store. Fiengold told the detectives there was $30,000 worth of jewelry in the window when the robbery occurred.

In the Brooklyn County Court yesterday Judge Haskell held in high bail Nicholas Palacanica, 22, of 1,466 Sixty-seventh Street; Joseph Marinelli, 25, of 68 Bayard Street, Manhattan; Frank Certona, 24, of 1,441 Sixty-sixth Street, and Alfonso Buonsorto, 29, of 5,812 New Utrecht Avenue, on suspicion that they were connected with a series of burglaries in the last two months in the Bath Beach section of Brooklyn. Palancania was arrested. It is charged, while committing a burglary in the store of Benjamin Greenman at 7,618 Fifth Avenue. He is alleged to have informed the police that he and the other three prisoners shared a furnished room at Nevins and State Streets, where, the police asserted, they found $5,000 worth of clothing stolen from the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Warren at 7,416 Thirteenth Avenue.

A safe in the office of Solomon Moskowitz, furrier, on the twelfth floor of 18 Fifth Avenue, was broken open some time Wednesday night but the burglars obtained only $1 in money. They took $5,000 worth of furs.

James Kerr, 29, and Hyman Podrofsky, 21, of 252 East Houston Street, were arraigned in the Essex Market Court yesterday on a charge of being concerned in the hold-up of a dice game in East Sixth Street last Monday morning in which money and jewelry valued at $6,000 were taken from a dozen players. Kerr was held in $35,000 bail for the action of the Grand Jury, and Podrofsky, accused of being the chauffeur of the automobile in which three of the bandits escaped, in $10,000 bail.

SWANN ANSWERS LEHMAN.

Explains Delay in Prosecuting Cases Against Four Thieves.

District Attorney Swann denied yesterday the charge of Edgar Lehman, a fur dealer of 45 East Twenty-seventh Street, that there had been lack of energy in the prosecution of men who stole furs from Lehman on April 15. He said the investigation had been prolonged because of reports that a mistake of a good many thousand dollars in the value of the loot had been made in reporting the theft to the insurance companies.

Regarding the fur merchant's complaint that the case against the burglars had been repeatedly postponed in the Magistrate's Court without any apparent reason, and that members of the District Attorney's staff had refused to see him, Judge Swann said:

"I have issued a subpoena for Mr. Lehman to come down here at 11 o'clock tomorrow. The burglars have confessed and are out on bail. Their hearings have been repeatedly postponed because we are using them to investigate the insurance matter. I have personally asked for the postponement twice, and I will ask to have it postponed next time. I have had a thorough investigation made of Mr. Lehman's affairs for seventeen years, and in view of all the information I have obtained this case demands a rigid investigation."

Mr. Lehman said yesterday that he had engaged a lawyer, and would make an effort to push the case.

It was decided at yesterday's luncheon to hold ceremonies Oct. 7 in the Commodore ballroom for the employes about to become American citizens.

DEPEW SAYS NATION IS HEIR OF THE AGES

86TH BIRTHDAY GUEST

Montauk Club Honors Aged Optimist at Annual Dinner—"Year of Centennials," He Asserts.

The Montauk Club of Brooklyn gave Chauncey M. Depew an eighty-sixth birthday party at its clubhouse last night. Men and women active in the civic life of the borough attended. William H. English, President of the club, presided and the only speaker besides Mr. Depew was Senator William M. Calder.

Mr. Depew covered in his speech a range of topics almost as wide and varied as his own long career. The speaker attributed the failures of the Kaiser, Bismarck and the Austrian Prime Minister to "derangement of their mechanism" and laid the success of this country to its fortunate possession of three practical idealists, Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt. He described Roosevelt as the greatest practical idealist of our time and continued:

"He saw the possibilities of universal war in the conflict then raging between Russia and Japan. He first saw the danger to the whole world and especially to the United States in the military aggressiveness of the German Empire. Our entrance into this war, though late, nevertheless so effectually, and the victory which saved civilization and liberty, were all largely due to the foresight, the courage, the invincible energy and the practical idealism of Theodore Roosevelt."

Mr. Depew drew attention to the richness of this year in centennials, saying that we were the heir of all the ages, and centennials taught us the value of inheritance. He traced centennials of significance to this country, adding:

"One of our richest manufacturers has said that history is bunk. And yet except for what was celebrated in these centennials, this manufacturer's opportunity would never have come. Again there is a rapidly growing feeling of indifference or contempt for the past. I read addresses and articles condemning the educaton of our colleges and schools because they are not wholly devoted to methods of money making.

"I remember an instance of a brief contract between the past and the present. A college rowing crew were at Peekskill on the Hudson while they were training on the river. Passing up to their homes, they leaped on to the terrace of our home and began an active discussion of the past and present.

"One of them said: 'The past can teach us nothing. My father is over 70 years old and I am 21, but I know more than he does.' My father was sitting, according to custom, in the late afternoon, upon the piazza smoking his pipe and reading his newspaper. The young man turned around and said to him: 'Well, old gentleman, what do you think of that?' My father replied: 'I am thinking what a damn fool your father must be.'"

American Steamship Owners' Association Opposes Closed Shop.

Negotiations between the American Steamship Owners' Association and the Eastern and Gulf Association, the union representing the deck department employes, halted yesterday to allow the union representatives to confer with the men on some of the points upon which no agreement could be reached. The new annual agreement was to have become effective on May 1.

The owners cannot agree with the unions on the principle of the closed shop. Two other points at issue to be referred to the men in an effort to reach a compromise are the demand for an increase in overtime from 60 to 75 cents an hour and a readjustment of the deck department on the basis of three watches.

GETS 25 SECONDS' SENTENCE

Chicago Negro Serves It While Walking to Courtroom Door.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Twenty-five seconds, one of the shortest sentences on record in Federal courts, was imposed by Judge Landis today on Jesse Nash, a negro, charged with tampering with the mails.

As Nash walked to the courtroom door in custody of a Deputy Marshal the Judge called "Time's up," and the prisoner was released. Nash admitted obtaining possession of letters written by his wife to another man. He exhibited the letters in court, and after reading them Judge Landis fixed the penalty.
